Mutinous Indian Seamen Are Said To Be Arranging For Surrender

BRITISH TROOPS FIRE ON EGYPTIAN RIOTERS

Demonstrators Attack Christian Churches in Cairo Disorders

By MILTON KELLY

BOMBAY, Friday, Feb. 22 (AP)—Negotiations seeking the surrender of mutinous seamen of the Royal Indian Navy barricaded in the bullet-proof Castle barracks of downtown Bombay were reported in progress early today while civil rioting in support of the sailors subsided.

The Times of India, a leading Bombay daily newspaper, told of reports that the men actually were surrendering weapons at the barracks but this was not confirmed by firing in the long-range rifle and machine gun duel between the mutineers and British Tommies who surrendered the barracks had ceased.

The rioting civilians who turned a demonstration in support of the R. I. N. mutineers last night into a wave of shop looting and destructive stone throwing and bus and tram burnings finally quit roaming the streets after encountering police gunfire in the early morning hours.

In the harbor, nine sloops and frigates held by the mutineers kept the city under their four-inch guns but in the early dawn light there was no unusual activity evident aboard the vessels.

Strong police and military forces remained on duty in many sections of the city after an all-night vigil. Tommies in battle dress paced the waterfront at the "Gateway of India" all night to make sure that no mutineers came ashore.

Emissaries from army headquarters are known to have entered the Castle barracks under a white flag but they would not talk of their visit. There was no sign that the British were reducing their concentrations of troops around the barracks. parachute troops were said to be among the men sent to the Bombay harbor area.

British warships, planes and men were reported officially to be en route to restore complete order but in the hour before dawn there still was no sign of succoring vessels on the horizon.

Meanwhile a report by Reuters quoted an official communique saying that the uprising at Karachi was abating.

President Is Sure American Military Secrets Are Safe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21, (AP)—Confidence that American military secrets are safe was expressed by President Truman today while Secretary of State Byrnes renewed similar assurances.

The Senate Atomic Energy committee held a session with Byrnes behind locked doors. Afterwards Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) issued this statement:

"Secretary Byrnes repeated to the Atomic Energy committee today his previous press conference statement that the State department has no information regarding the implication of any American officials in the Canadian investigations; that the State department has suppressed no prosecutions; that, on the contrary, the Canadian authorities were advised by him three weeks ago that this government had no request to make of the Canadian government as to their investigations."

The committee earlier heard in secret session from James McInerney, chief of the espionage section of the Justice department's criminal division, and Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, director of the atomic bomb project.

The president told his news conference that United States security measures always have been adequate and he considers they still are.

Mr. Truman's comment came amid a barrage of questions prompted by disclosure that Russia had obtained data on atomic energy and radio location in Canada.

In response to a question, Mr. Truman disclosed that he first learned of the Canadian leaks from Prime Minister MacKenzie King before his November conference with Canada's premier and Prime Minister Clement Attlee, of Britain.

Bevin Discloses British Offer To Extend Treaty with Russia

British Foreign Secretary Tells Commons He Cannot "Conceive of Any Circumstances" under Which Two Nations Should Go to War

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, asserting "I cannot conceive of any circumstances under which Britain and the Soviet Union should go to war," told Commons today he had offered to extend Britain's twenty-year friendship pact with Russia to fifty years.

The cabinet minister, who at the recent session of the United Nations Security Council had cried "lie" to Soviet charges against his country, said he had made this offer to Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at the December conference of the Big Three foreign ministers in Moscow:

"We have a treaty of friendship—and I mean friendship. If you want to change it from twenty years to fifty years I will advise my government to do it."

Bevin did not disclose what the Russians thought of his offer.

In an hour-long statement highlighting the finish of a full dress Commons debate on foreign policy—the first in three months — Bevin declared Britain is "troubled about what looks like a war of nerves" between Russia and Turkey and said that "I do not want Turkey converted into a satellite state."

Favors Oil Agreement

In his review of the field of British foreign relations, Bevin reeled off these points:

1. "I would be quite willing" if the Soviet would join Britain and America in an international oil agreement which "would solve this conflict for oil as between great allies."

2. He advocated international control of Germany's industrial Ruhr and an agreement among the European nations on the use of transport facilities and industrial raw materials.

3. "I think we have removed fear" through the open—and often heated — discussions in the United Nations Security Council.

Of relations with Russia, he said: "It has been said that we are drifting to war with Russia. But I cannot conceive any circumstances under which Britain and the Soviet Union should go to war. I cannot see what we should have to fight about."

In reference to Turkey, Bevin said he would like to see "the treaty of friendship renewed between the Soviet and Turkey." The treaty expired last year.

Refers to Italian Treaty

In reaching a peace treaty with Italy, now being drafted by a council of deputy foreign ministers in London, Bevin said that Italy should not be treated "as if Mussolini was still alive."

Bevin said that when Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet vice commissar of foreign affairs and chief Russian delegate to the United Nations Assembly, was in London the Russian diplomat told him that Russia had no intention of going to war with Iran "and I believed it—why should I doubt it?"

He said he would safeguard British interests "anywhere but I do not regard Persia as a question of competition."

"From the point of view of democracy and elections we should

School Lunch Plan Receives House Approval

Provision Specifies That Negro, White Children Benefit Alike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The House voted today to make the federal aid school lunch program permanent but specied that negro and white children shall benefit alike from the $50,000,000 annual government outlay.

The anti-discrimination provision, sponsored by Rep. Powell (D-NY), a negro, cost the lunch plan some southern votes on the final 275-101 roll call.

As it goes to the Senate the measure is stripped of a proviso, which had been approved by the House Agriculture committee, to authorize the United States Office of Education to spend $15,000,000 additionally per year to supervise the lunch program and help plan children's diets.

Chairman Flannagan (D-WVa), of the Agriculture committee, told the House that without Office of Education participation the program will "be nothing more than what we've done during the past ten years."

Congress has been appropriating sums annually to help states furnish lunches for school children. But there never was any basic legislation and continuation of the pro-

Brooklyn Gals Forsake Butter Line for Nylons

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—The butter line melted away today in the face of an old sex appeal item—nylons.

Adm. Wilkinson Drowns when Auto Plunges from Ferry at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—Vice Adm. Theodore S. Wilkinson was drowned today when his automobile plunged from a ferry into the Elizabeth river, but the veteran of South Pacific amphibious warfare saved his wife's life by shoving her from the car a second before it sank.

Mrs. Catherine Wilkinson, wife of the 57-year-old officer who distinguished himself as commander of the Third amphibious force, Third fleet, said Wilkinson lost control of the car and when he realized they were going off the front end of the ferry he opened the door, yelled "jump" and shoved her out.

Mrs. Wilkinson was rescued by employes of the Norfolk-Portsmouth ferries and removed to a naval hospital for treatment of shock and exposure. Wilkinson's body was recovered about seventy-five minutes after the accident by a diver who removed it from under the steering wheel of the automobile.

The admiral was unfamiliar with the car, having borrowed it from a friend, his wife said. A court of inquiry will be appointed to investigate the accident.

House Approves Measure Curbing Petrillo's Power

"Coercive Practices" Affecting Broadcasting Would Be Banned

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The House passed 222 to 43 tonight a bill aimed at curbing powers of James Caesar Petrillo, American Federation of Musicians president.

The measure would prohibit "certain coercive practices affecting radio broadcasting." Violators would be subject to fine or imprisonment.

House approval was by a standing vote and came after numerous modifying amendments were shouted down.

The Senate has passed a much milder bill dealing with the same subject, so the legislation now will go to a Senate-House conference committee for final drafting.

Petrillo's name is not mentioned specifically in the House-passed legislation, but his name dominated the hotly-worded debate which preceded final action.

"Self-Made Dictator"

Several members labeled Petrillo "a self-made dictator." They said he is "exacting tribute from radio stations" and "barring broadcasts by children and amateur musicians."

Even the foes of the measure did not support Petrillo. They argued only that the legislation went too far. They said it would provide criminal penalties for striking or threatening to strike.

Supporters denied that the right to conduct lawful strikes would be abridged, and said the chief issue was to regulate Petrillo.

"This bill is specifically designed to put in his place and cut down to size a man named James Caesar Petrillo," Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) told his colleagues.

"He is the greatest enemy of organized labor in America.

"He lives up to his middle name of Caesar in every sense of the word and we have no place in America for Caesars."

Reps. Rabin (D-NY), Marcantonio (AL-NY) and others contended the legislation is unconstitutional.

Provisions of Bill

Specifically, the bill would declare unlawful any use of violence, force, or threat which:

1. Compelled a radio station to "pay or agree to pay tribute" for the privilege of producing or using records, transcriptions or reproductions, in broadcasts.

2. Forced a broadcaster to employ any person in excess of the

Curley Is Greeted At Boston Depot By Cheering Mob

BOSTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Mayor James M. Curley, free in bond after sentence by a Washington court of six to eighteen months on mail fraud charges, came home tonight to a brass band and a crowd that twenty-two policemen couldn't keep from tumbling against him with yells of "Boston loves you, Curley."

The city's fourth-term mayor and Massachusetts congressman stepped off the train at South station into a cheering mob that pushed carnations and yellow jonquils at his wife and daughter, Mary, and jammed him into a vise of shoulders that bounced him all the way down the track level to his car, backed to the station door.

The 71-year-old veteran Massachusetts politician, who said he was on his way to a diabetes specialist, was swirled against his wife and daughter and his sons, George and Leo, by shouting thousands, who cheered "Attaboy, Jim," and "You'll make it, Jim."

Police Sergeant Andrew Hagerty said: "There's at least 5,000 people here. I said to Mr. Curley, 'Let me bring your car to a special door.'

"He said to me—'why duck the people?'"

In his parlor car before pulling into South station the mayor sat between his mink-coated wife and daughter and told reporters:

"My lawyer feels quite certain that there'll be a vindication. But the case probably won't come up until April of next year."

Sentenced for his part in the activities of Engineers Group, Inc., which the government said failed to return fees for unobtained war contracts, the politician who has made Elizabethan English his study and platform technique, smiled in announcing:

"I feel a lot better."

Senate Loses No Time In Confirming Porter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — A Senate sometimes balky over presidential appointments quickly approved today the choice of Paul A. Porter to be OPA director.

The Banking committee took twenty minutes to recommend confirmation and the Senate took six minutes to put him in the job. In neither instance was a word said against the jovial ex-director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee.

Porter told the Banking committee that "every effort will be made to speed consideration" of complaints that OPA price ceilings are causing plant shutdowns and running businesses into the red.

Wage Demands By Mine Workers Appear Imminent

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — John L. Lewis today summoned his United Mine Workers' policy committee to a meeting March 11—a step which usually precedes new wage demands on the nation's coal operators.

The policy committee—250 union leaders from the hard and soft coal mines—was called to Washington by unanimous vote of the thirty-odd district presidents who had been meeting with Lewis for the last two days.

Announcement of the miners' session, apparently supporting President Truman's reported fears that a dispute in the coal fields might be brewing, came as the heads of two powerful railroad brotherhoods discussed with the president their threatened strike of 300,000 members.

The president had been represented by former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes as fearing a coal strike might develop after April 1. Ickes in his letter resigning from the cabinet said the president had wanted the Solid Fuels Administration continued through May, and had expressed the hope that Ickes would be around to handle any disruption in output. Ickes operated the mines for the government in 1943 and 1945.

Presidents A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Alvanley Johnston, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, talked over their strike vote with Mr. Truman, they said.

These two brotherhoods have refused to arbitrate their demand for a twenty-five cent wage boost, and insisted on immediate consideration of a host of operating rule changes after wage differences are resolved.

Whitney said as he and Johnston left the White House that "we are ready to settle if the railroads are" but they made it clear the current strike balloting was predominantly in favor of a walkout.

Wartime strikes accompanied the negotiations for the last two coal contracts in 1943 and 1945. The government seized the mines both times. Lewis withdrew his spectacu-

Pope Pius Places Red Hats on Heads Of New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 21 (AP) — In a ceremony rivaling in glitter, pomp and pageantry his brilliant coronation seven years ago, Pope Pius XII today placed the symoblic red hat on the heads of twenty-eight of the thirty-two new cardinals he created last Monday.

The ancient rite, marking the climax of the first consistories since 1940, was witnessed by a great colorful throng—approximately 20,000—which jammed the nave of St. Peter's Basilica to capacity and overflowed into St. Peter's Square.

The conferring of the red hats, second of the three major insignia of their high office to be presented to the new princes of the church, left only their rings to be presented. These will be received by the cardinals at a secret consistory tomorrow, which will bring to a close the historic week.

For the second time in two days the pope was given a tremendous ovation.

The crowd also cheered many of the new cardinals, including Francis Cardinal Spellman, of New York, the consistory's most discussed figure because of his close personal relationship with the pope.

Spellman, who was received by the pope yesterday in audience with 150 United States Army chaplains, received another significant demonstration of the pontiff's esteem this afternoon when he was sent the red hat which the latter had worn as Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli.

The New York prelate often rumored as the leading candidate for the vacant post of papal secretary of state, called the pontiff's act a "unique honor."

Among the new princes of the church receiving their red hats today, in addition to Spellman, were three others from the United States—John Cardinal Glennon, St. Louis, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Chicago, and Edward Cardinal Mooney, Detroit.

Schwellenbach Will Stay Put, Truman Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — President Truman today firmly snuffed out reports, which have flared since the big strikes started, that Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach possibly would be replaced.

Schwellenbach, and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson too, will remain where they are, Mr. Truman told his news conference—just as long as they care to stay.

The statement was made in connection with reports that Schwellenbach or Anderson, both westerners, might be shifted to the vacant post of secretary of the interior. Mr. Truman said, incidentally, that he has not yet decided on a successor to Harold L. Ickes.

GM-UAW Are Reported Nearer Agreement on Union Security

Seniority Question Is Said To Be Prime Factor Barring Settlement of Strike; Conferees Will Meet Again Today

DETROIT, Feb. 21. (AP)—The CIO-United Auto Workers reported tonight that a seven-hour negotiating session with General Motors had "brought us nearer to an understanding on union security."

At the same time, a reliable source hinted strongly that the question of union seniority (promotion preference on seniority basis) stood out as one of the prime factors barring settlement of the ninety-three-day old strike of 175,000 production workers.

In a statement an hour after the conference broke up, Vice President Walter P. Reuther, of the UAW, said "no progress was made on the questions of transfers or promotions, or on other important non-economic issues."

GM Issues No Statement

"All of these issues," the union statement went on, "have been continously before the negotiating conference. No new issues have been injected."

General Motors issued no statement on today's proceedings.

In a press conference at conclusion of the talks, Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said a "basic agreement" had been reached on the problem of maintenance of membership but that a few angles remained to be ironed out.

Dewey, who called both sides back to the conference table again tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. (EST), told newsmen three new issues, which he did not discuss, were injected today. Reuther's subsequent statement did not agree.

The mediator told newsmen that wages are still an issue and that the important dispute over union seniority was not discussed today.

At his press conference, Dewey indicated these two issues would be dealt with at tomorrow's talks.

Wilson Misses Session

Dewey went on to say that three new issues were injected today. He would not discuss them, but added "it will not take long to resolve them."

Today's meeting, completing a week of intensified negotiations, lasted approximately seven hours. President C. E. Wilson, of General Motors, was absent for the first time since negotiations were resumed a week ago. Company spokesmen said he was ill and that no significance could be attached to his absence.

Earlier in the day, union spiked bluntly reports that a settlement had been reached in the ninety-three-day old strike.

Pittsburgh Mayor Makes Appeals

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 (AP)—Faced with threat of renewal at Monday midnight of a power strike that would paralyze most activities in a two-county area, Mayor David L. Lawrence appealed to President Truman tonight for advice on federal intervention in the Duquesne Light Company wage dispute.

With negotiations before a three-man panel apparently deadlocked, Mayor Lawrence also appealed to the 1,500,000 residents of the af-

Woman Pays $1 Fine "To Ease Her Conscience"

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 21. (AP)—A comely young woman stepped up before Magistrate George P. Mellinger in traffic court today and said she had no ticket but wanted to pay a fine.

Explaining she had received a ticket for overtime parking a year ago, the woman said:

"I told you that the meter had registered twenty-five minutes when I left it and you excused me. For a year now, that lie has been on my conscience, because there was just five minutes left. I want to pay my dollar."

Magistrate Hellinger accepted it.

FBI Reveals How It Hobbled Fifth Column Activity

Huge Stocks of Weapons and Spy Material Were Uncovered

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The FBI disclosed today that the smashing of America's wartime fifth column uncovered huge stocks of weapons and explosives, thousands of short-wave radios and photographs of Panama canal defenses and other vital installations.

The Federal Bureau of investigation itself used the words "fifth column" in making available to a reporter these figures to show how dangerous aliens were hobbled:

From January 8, 1942, to the present, FBI agents have recovered from the homes and businesses of these aliens 207,506 rounds of ammunition and 4,626 firearms and related items.

In addition to supplies of buckshot, shell caps and reloading devices, the FBI seized 2,340 sticks of dynamite, over 2,800 dynamite caps, 3,787 feet of dynamite fuse and over 1,700 pieces of other explosives.

More than 3,000 contraband shortwave radio receiving sets were uncovered along with more than 4,200 cameras and all kinds of photographic equipment.

Other contraband articles nabbed from enemy aliens included code books, hydrographic, navigation and aeronautical maps of all sections of the United States coasts and Panama.

The FBI snapped the spine of the Japanese and German fifth columns on December 7 and 8, 1941. Swinging into action a few minutes after the Pearl Harbor attack, FBI agents arrested more than 1,000 Japanese—the core of Nippon's fifth column movement.

The next day—December 8—the FBI began rounding up German and Italian aliens who were dangerous to the nation's security.

Natives of Bikini, Scene of Atomic Bomb Tests, Agree To Leave Homes

By DON WHITEHEAD

KWAJALEIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—Without a single dissenting voice, the natives of Bikini atoll voted to leave the coral islands where their families have lived for centuries because they believe their sacrifice will be a contribution to world peace and the advancement of science.

On March 1, the joint army-navy task force will begin evacuating the 167 from the atoll where atomic bombs will explode this spring above and amid a "guinea pig" fleet riding at anchor in the shallow waters near the islands of Bikini and Enyu.

The gentle, intelligent Marshallese natives learned of the atomic bomb for the first time less than two weeks ago—and that the United States wanted them to give up their homes.

The task force could have gone in and ordered them off the islands without explanation and arbitrarily set them up on another island. But Com. Ben. Wyatt, Williamsburg, Ky., who commands the Kwajalein naval air base and is preparing for the atomic bomb tests, is a gentle, kindly man.

On February 10, Wyatt and his chief of staff, Comdr. Harold Grieve, Los Angeles, visited Bikini island. King Juda, bespectacled, middle-aged native leader, called his subjects together under the coconut palms near their thatch-roofed village.

The commodore faced the group, which sat crossed-legged, gravely waiting to hear what he had to say.

"That was a tough job," Wyatt recalls. "If one man in that crowd had said, 'I won't leave,' then it would have meant trouble and bad feelings."

As simply as he could, Wyatt explained the mysteries of atomic energy. He told them that during the war, long-haired men of great learning had discovered certain new sources of power—power almost beyond comprehension. He told them this power had been loosed against the Japanese; and he described the horrors of Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Scientists, he said, had every hope that out of this new energy would come a great force for a better civilization; and the Bikini experiment was one step in that direction.

The natives gravely discussed the

Beirne Says Other 33 Member Unions Will Respect Picket Lines

FEDERATION TO ALLOW NO EMERGENCY SERVICE

Radio and News Services Would Be Hit, Union Leader Declares

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 21 (AP)—A nationwide telephone strike, effective at 6 a. m. (in each time belt) Thursday, March 7, was ordered tonight by the executive board of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the independent labor organization, said seventeen affiliated unions in a position to conduct a legal strike "will leave work at the time directed."

He added: "The other thirty-three affiliated unions will respect picket lines to be established by the striking unions."

The union head said the strike would be participated in directly by 150,000 workers and affect by picketing the other 100,000 employes in the far-flung American Telephone and Telegraph Company system. All states will feel the effect of the walkout, he said.

Asserting the nine-man executive board would be required to sanction all agreements reached by the separate unions, Beirne added that "no individual steelements will be made."

Beirne added:

"If the government wants to intervene, they will contact us. Meanwhile, we are preparing for a strike."

Carleton W. Werkau, secretary of the organization, was named national strike strategy director with headquarters tentatively in Washington.

No Emergency Service

The board also includes Oscar Jager, New York (Federation of Long Line Workers) and Mrs. Mildred Beahm, Washington (Washington Telephone Traffic Union).

Beirne said the federation "absolutely" would allow no emergency service "because it could allow supervisory personnel to scab on our job."

"We would expect our members to respect our picket lines even if they didn't see them," Beirne told newsmen in a press conference following the assembly adjournment.

"As long as one picket remains on a line anywhere in the country we will consider the industry picketed and strike-bound."

Dealing with the subject of injunctions against picketing, the youthful union leader said "the forceful removal of such pickets will not in the minds of the strikers constitute an actual removal of those lines."

Beirne said the federation had re-

Truman Opposes World Abolition Of Conscription

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Truman called impractical today a House Military committee move to sidetrack universal military training legislation in favor of a campaign to outlaw peacetime conscription throughout the world.

The president expressed his views at a news conference when asked for his opinion about the proposal ganing strength in the committee.

He already has urged Congress to enact legislation requiring every able-bodied male youth to take one year of military training.

The president gave no reasons for his belief it would not be practical to try to outlaw universal training everywhere, and in the absence of an explanation House Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, said he would continue his fight for an international ban.

The committee heard a host of witnesses today in opposition to universal training itself, and many of them endorsed the Martin proposal.

Some committee members want to hear the views of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. They may seek to reopen the hearings next week despite the announcemnt by Chairman May (D-Ky) that they are "now closed."

Today's witnesses included a group of high school and college students, a Texas minister, and spokesman for church and educational groups.

The minister, Sam Morris, San Antonio, an ardent prohibitionist urged the committee to make certain that intoxicating liquor will not be available to youths if universal training is adopted.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, Rochester, N. Y., speaking for the United Council of Church Women, said universal training would jeopardize efforts a world peace.

Mutinous Indian Seamen Are Said To Be Arranging For Surrender

By MILTON KELLY

BOMBAY, Friday, Feb. 22 (AP)—Negotiations seeking the surrender of mutinous seamen of the Royal Indian Navy barricaded in the bullet-proof Castle barracks of downtown Bombay were reported in progress early today while civil rioting in support of the sailors subsided.

The Times of India, a leading Bombay daily newspaper, told of reports that the men actually were surrendering weapons at the barracks but this was not confirmed by firing in the long-range rifle and machine gun duel between the mutineers and British Tommies who surrendered the barracks had ceased.

The rioting civilians who turned a demonstration in support of the R. I. N. mutineers last night into a wave of shop looting and destructive stone throwing and bus and tram burnings finally quit roaming the streets after encountering police gunfire in the early morning hours.

In the harbor, nine sloops and frigates held by the mutineers kept the city under their four-inch guns but in the early dawn light there was no unusual activity evident aboard the vessels.

Strong police and military forces remained on duty in many sections of the city after an all-night vigil. Tommies in battle dress paced the waterfront at the "Gateway of India" all night to make sure that no mutineers came ashore.

Emissaries from army headquarters are known to have entered the Castle barracks under a white flag but they would not talk of their visit. There was no sign that the British were reducing their concentrations of troops around the barracks. parachute troops were said to be among the men sent to the Bombay harbor area.

British warships, planes and men were reported officially to be en route to restore complete order but in the hour before dawn there still was no sign of succoring vessels on the horizon.

Meanwhile a report by Reuters quoted an official communique saying that the uprising at Karachi was abating.

President Is Sure American Military Secrets Are Safe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21, (AP)—Confidence that American military secrets are safe was expressed by President Truman today while Secretary of State Byrnes renewed similar assurances.

The Senate Atomic Energy committee held a session with Byrnes behind locked doors. Afterwards Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) issued this statement:

"Secretary Byrnes repeated to the Atomic Energy committee today his previous press conference statement that the State department has no information regarding the implication of any American officials in the Canadian investigations; that the State department has suppressed no prosecutions; that, on the contrary, the Canadian authorities were advised by him three weeks ago that this government had no interest to make of the Canadian government as to their investigations."

The committee earlier heard in secret session from James McInerney, chief of the espionage section of the Justice department's criminal division, and Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, director of the atomic bomb project.

The president told his news conference that United States security measures always have been adequate and he considers they still are.

Mr. Truman's comment came amid a barrage of questions prompted by disclosure that Russia had obtained data on atomic energy and radio location in Canada.

In response to a question, Mr. Truman disclosed that he first learned of the Canadian leaks from Prime Minister MacKenzie King before his November conference with Canada's premier and Prime Minister Clement Attlee, of Britain.

Bevin Discloses British Offer To Extend Treaty with Russia

British Foreign Secretary Tells Commons He Cannot "Conceive of Any Circumstances" under Which Two Nations Should Go to War

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, asserting "I cannot conceive of any circumstances under which Britain and the Soviet Union should go to war," told Commons today he had offered to extend Britain's twenty-year friendship pact with Russia to fifty years.

The cabinet minister, who at the recent session of the United Nations Security Council had cried "lie" to Soviet charges against his country, said he had made this offer to Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at the December conference of the Big Three foreign ministers in Moscow:

"We have a treaty of friendship—and I mean friendship. If you want to change it from twenty years to fifty years I will advise my government to do it."

Bevin did not disclose what the Russians thought of his offer.

In an hour-long statement highlighting the finish of a full dress Commons debate on foreign policy—the first in three months — Bevin declared Britain is "troubled about what looks like a war of nerves" between Russia and Turkey and said that "I do not want Turkey converted into a satellite state."

Favors Oil Agreement

In his review of the field of British foreign relations, Bevin reeled off these points:

1. "I would be quite willing" if the Soviet would join Britain and America in an international oil agreement which "would solve this conflict for oil as between great allies."

2. He advocated international control of Germany's industrial Ruhr and an agreement among the European nations on the use of transport facilities and industrial raw materials.

3. "I think we have removed fear" through the open—and often heated — discussions in the United Nations Security Council.

Of relations with Russia, he said: "It has been said that we are drifting to war with Russia. But I cannot conceive any circumstances under which Britain and the Soviet Union should go to war. I cannot see what we should have to fight about."

In reference to Turkey, Bevin said he would like to see "the treaty of friendship renewed between the Soviet and Turkey." The treaty expired last year.

Refers to Italian Treaty

In reaching a peace treaty with Italy, now being drafted by a council of deputy foreign ministers in London, Bevin said that Italy should not be treated "as if Mussolini was still alive."

Bevin said that when Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet vice commissar of foreign affairs and chief Russian delegate to the United Nations Assembly, was in London the Russian diplomat told him that Russia had no intention of going to war with Iran "and I believed it—why should I doubt it?"

He said he would safeguard British interests "anywhere but I do not regard Persia as a question of competition."

Provision Specifies That Negro, White Children Benefit Alike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The House voted today to make the federal aid school lunch program permanent but specied that negro and white children shall benefit alike from the $50,000,000 annual government outlay.

The anti-discrimination provision, sponsored by Rep. Powell (D-NY), a negro, cost the lunch plan some southern votes on the final 275-101 roll call.

As it goes to the Senate the measure is stripped of a proviso, which had been approved by the House Agriculture committee, to authorize the United States Office of Education to spend $15,000,000 additionally per year to supervise the lunch program and help plan children's diets.

Chairman Flannagan (D-WVa), of the Agriculture committee, told the House that without Office of Education participation the program will "be nothing more than what we've done during the past ten years."

Congress has been appropriating sums annually to help states furnish lunches for school children. But there never was any basic legislation and continuation of the pro-

Brooklyn Gals Forsake Butter Line for Nylons

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—The butter line melted away today in the face of an old sex appeal item—nylons.

Over in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, the shoppers were queued up for butter when a woman dashed past, gasping: "Nylons—next door!"

Adm. Wilkinson Drowns when Auto Plunges from Ferry at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—Vice Adm. Theodore S. Wilkinson was drowned today when his automobile plunged from a ferry into the Elizabeth river, but the veteran of South Pacific amphibious warfare saved his wife's life by shoving her from the car a second before it sank.

Mrs. Catherine Wilkinson, wife of the 57-year-old officer who distinguished himself as commander of the Third amphibious force, Third fleet, said Wilkinson lost control of the car and when he realized they were going off the front end of the ferry he opened the door, yelled "jump" and shoved her out.

Mrs. Wilkinson was rescued by employes of the Norfolk-Portsmouth ferries and removed to a naval hospital for treatment of shock and exposure. Wilkinson's body was recovered about seventy-five minutes after the accident by a diver who removed it from under the steering wheel of the automobile.

The admiral was unfamiliar with the car, having borrowed it from a friend, his wife said. A court of inquiry will be appointed to investigate the accident.

VICE ADM. T. S. WILKINSON

"Coercive Practices" Affecting Broadcasting Would Be Banned

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The House passed 222 to 43 tonight a bill aimed at curbing powers of James Caesar Petrillo, American Federation of Musicians president.

The measure would prohibit "certain coercive practices affecting radio broadcasting." Violators would be subject to fine or imprisonment.

House approval was by a standing vote and came after numerous modifying amendments were shouted down.

The Senate has passed a much milder bill dealing with the same subject, so the legislation now will go to a Senate-House conference committee for final drafting.

Petrillo's name is not mentioned specifically in the House-passed legislation, but his name dominated the hotly-worded debate which preceded final action.

"Self-Made Dictator"

Several members labeled Petrillo "a self-made dictator." They said he is "exacting tribute from radio stations" and "barring broadcasts by children and amateur musicians."

Even the foes of the measure did not support Petrillo. They argued only that the legislation went too far. They said it would provide criminal penalties for striking or threatening to strike.

Supporters denied that the right to conduct lawful strikes would be abridged, and said the chief issue was to regulate Petrillo.

"This bill is specifically designed to put in his place and cut down to size a man named James Caesar Petrillo," Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) told his colleagues.

"He is the greatest enemy of organized labor in America.

"He lives up to his middle name of Caesar in every sense of the word and we have no place in America for Caesars."

Reps. Rabin (D-NY), Marcantonio (AL-NY) and others contended the legislation is unconstitutional.

Provisions of Bill

Specifically, the bill would declare unlawful any use of violence, force, or threat which:

1. Compelled a radio station to "pay or agree to pay tribute" for the privilege of producing or using records, transcriptions or reproductions, in broadcasts.

2. Forced a broadcaster to employ any person in excess of the

Curley Is Greeted At Boston Depot By Cheering Mob

BOSTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Mayor James M. Curley, free in bond after sentence by a Washington court of six to eighteen months on mail fraud charges, came home tonight to a brass band and a crowd that twenty-two policemen couldn't keep from tumbling against him with yells of "Boston loves you, Curley."

The city's fourth-term mayor and Massachusetts congressman stepped off the train at South station into a cheering mob that pushed carnations and yellow jonquils at his wife and daughter, Mary, and jammed him into a vise of shoulders that bounced him all the way down the track level to his car, backed to the station door.

The 71-year-old veteran Massachusetts politician, who said he was on his way to a diabetes specialist, was swirled against his wife and daughter and his sons, George and Leo, by shouting thousands, who cheered "Attaboy, Jim," and "You'll make it, Jim."

Police Sergeant Andrew Hagerty said: "There's at least 5,000 people here. I said to Mr. Curley, 'Let me bring your car to a special door.'

"He said to me—'why duck the people?'"

In his parlor car before pulling into South station the mayor sat between his mink-coated wife and daughter and told reporters:

"My lawyer feels quite certain that there'll be a vindication. But the case probably won't come up until April of next year."

Sentenced for his part in the activities of Engineers Group, Inc., which the government said failed to return fees for unobtained war contracts, the politician who has made Elizabethan English his study and platform technique, smiled in announcing:

"I feel a lot better."

Senate Loses No Time In Confirming Porter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — A Senate sometimes balky over presidential appointments quickly approved today the choice of Paul A. Porter to be OPA director.

The Banking committee took twenty minutes to recommend confirmation and the Senate took six minutes to put him in the job. In neither instance was a word said against the jovial ex-director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee.

Porter told the Banking committee that "every effort will be made to speed consideration" of complaints that OPA price ceilings are causing plant shutdowns and running businesses into the red.

Wage Demands By Mine Workers Appear Imminent

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — John L. Lewis today summoned his United Mine Workers' policy committee to a meeting March 11—a step which usually precedes new wage demands on the nation's coal operators.

The policy committee—250 union leaders from the hard and soft coal mines—was called to Washington by unanimous vote of the thirty-odd district presidents who had been meeting with Lewis for the last two days.

Announcement of the miners' session, apparently supporting President Truman's reported fears that a dispute in the coal fields might be brewing, came as the heads of two powerful railroad brotherhoods discussed with the president their threatened strike of 300,000 members.

The president had been represented by former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes as fearing a coal strike might develop after April 1. Ickes in his letter resigning from the cabinet said the president had wanted the Solid Fuels Administration continued through May, and had expressed the hope that Ickes would be around to handle any disruption in output. Ickes operated the mines for the government in 1943 and 1945.

Presidents A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Alvanley Johnston, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, talked over their strike vote with Mr. Truman, they said.

These two brotherhoods have refused to arbitrate their demand for a twenty-five cent wage boost, and insisted on immediate consideration of a host of operating rule changes after wage differences are resolved.

Whitney said as he and Johnston left the White House that "we are ready to settle if the railroads are" but they made it clear the current strike balloting was predominantly in favor of a walkout.

Wartime strikes accompanied the negotiations for the last two coal contracts in 1943 and 1945. The government seized the mines both times. Lewis withdrew his spectacu-

Pope Pius Places Red Hats on Heads Of New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 21 (AP) — In a ceremony rivaling in glitter, pomp and pageantry his brilliant coronation seven years ago, Pope Pius XII today placed the symoblic red hat on the heads of twenty-eight of the thirty-two new cardinals he created last Monday.

The ancient rite, marking the climax of the first consistories since 1940, was witnessed by a great colorful throng—approximately 20,000—which jammed the nave of St. Peter's Basilica to capacity and overflowed into St. Peter's Square.

The conferring of the red hats, second of the three major insignia of their high office to be presented to the new princes of the church, left only their rings to be presented. These will be received by the cardinals at a secret consistory tomorrow, which will bring to a close the historic week.

For the second time in two days the pope was given a tremendous ovation.

The crowd also cheered many of the new cardinals, including Francis Cardinal Spellman, of New York, the consistory's most discussed figure because of his close personal relationship with the pope.

Spellman, who was received by the pope yesterday in audience with 150 United States Army chaplains, received another significant demonstration of the pontiff's esteem this afternoon when he was sent the red hat which the latter had worn as Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli.

The New York prelate often rumored as the leading candidate for the vacant post of papal secretary of state, called the pontiff's act a "unique honor."

Among the new princes of the church receiving their red hats today, in addition to Spellman, were three others from the United States —John Cardinal Glennon, St. Louis, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Chicago, and Edward Cardinal Mooney, Detroit.

Schwellenbach Will Stay Put, Truman Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — President Truman today firmly snuffed out reports, which have flared since the big strikes started, that Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach possibly would be replaced.

Schwellenbach, and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson too, will remain where they are, Mr. Truman told his news conference—just as long as they care to stay.

The statement was made in connection with reports that Schwellenbach or Anderson, both westerners, might be shifted to the vacant post of secretary of the interior. Mr. Truman said, incidentally, that he has not yet decided on a successor to Harold L. Ickes.

GM-UAW Are Reported Nearer Agreement on Union Security

Seniority Question Is Said To Be Prime Factor Barring Settlement of Strike; Conferees Will Meet Again Today

DETROIT, Feb. 21. (AP)—The CIO-United Auto Workers reported tonight that a seven-hour negotiating session with General Motors had "brought us nearer to an understanding on union security."

At the same time, a reliable source hinted strongly that the question of union seniority (promotion preference on seniority basis) stood out as one of the prime factors barring settlement of the ninety-three-day old strike of 175,000 production workers.

In a statement an hour after the conference broke up, Vice President Walter P. Reuther, of the UAW, said "no progress was made on the questions of transfers or promotions, or on other important non-economic issues."

GM Issues No Statement

"All of these issues," the union statement went on, "have been continously before the negotiating conference. No new issues have been injected."

General Motors issued no statement on today's proceedings.

In a press conference at conclusion of the talks, Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said a "basic agreement" had been reached on the problem of maintenance of membership but that a few angles remained to be ironed out.

Dewey, who called both sides back to the conference table again tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. (EST), told newsmen three new issues, which he did not discuss, were injected today. Reuther's subsequent statement did not agree.

The mediator told newsmen that wages are still an issue and that the important dispute over union seniority was not discussed today.

At his press conference, Dewey indicated these two issues would be dealt with at tomorrow's talks.

Wilson Misses Session

Dewey went on to say that three new issues were injected today. He would not discuss them, but added "it will not take long to resolve them."

Today's meeting, completing a week of intensified negotiations, lasted approximately seven hours. President C. E. Wilson, of General Motors, was absent for the first time since negotiations were resumed a week ago. Company spokesmen said he was ill and that no significance could be attached to his absence.

Earlier in the day, union spiked bluntly reports that a settlement had been reached in the ninety-three-day old strike.

Pittsburgh Mayor Makes Appeals

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 (AP)—Faced with threat of renewal at Monday midnight of a power strike that would paralyze most activities in a two-county area, Mayor David L. Lawrence appealed to President Truman tonight for advice on federal intervention in the Duquesne Light Company wage dispute.

With negotiations before a three-man panel apparently deadlocked, Mayor Lawrence also appealed to the 1,500,000 residents of the af-

Woman Pays $1 Fine "To Ease Her Conscience"

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 21. (AP)—A comely young woman stepped up before Magistrate George P. Mellinger in traffic court today and said she had no ticket but wanted to pay a fine.

Explaining she had received a ticket for overtime parking a year ago, the woman said:

"I told you that the meter had registered twenty-five minutes when I left it and you excused me. For a year now, that lie has been on my conscience, because there was just five minutes left. I want to pay my dollar."

Magistrate Hellinger accepted it.

Huge Stocks of Weapons and Spy Material Were Uncovered

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The FBI disclosed today that the smashing of America's wartime fifth column uncovered huge stocks of weapons and explosives, thousands of short-wave radios and photographs of Panama canal defenses and other vital installations.

The Federal Bureau of investigation itself used the words "fifth column" in making available to a reporter these figures to show how dangerous aliens were hobbled:

From January 8, 1942, to the present, FBI agents have recovered from the homes and businesses of these aliens 207,506 rounds of ammunition and 4,626 firearms and related items.

In addition to supplies of buckshot, shell caps and reloading devices, the FBI seized 2,340 sticks of dynamite, over 2,800 dynamite caps, 3,787 feet of dynamite fuse and over 1,700 pieces of other explosives.

More than 3,000 contraband shortwave radio receiving sets were uncovered along with more than 4,200 cameras and all kinds of photographic equipment.

Other contraband articles nabbed from enemy aliens included code books, hydrographic, navigation and aeronautical maps of all sections of the United States coasts and Panama.

The FBI snapped the spine of the Japanese and German fifth columns on December 7 and 8, 1941. Swinging into action a few minutes after the Pearl Harbor attack, FBI agents arrested more than 1,000 Japanese—the core of Nippon's fifth column movement.

The next day—December 8—the FBI began rounding up German and Italian aliens who were dangerous to the nation's security.

By DON WHITEHEAD

KWAJALEIN, Feb. 21 (AP)—Without a single dissenting voice, the natives of Bikini atoll voted to leave the coral islands where their families have lived for centuries because they believe their sacrifice will be a contribution to world peace and the advancement of science.

On March 1, the joint army-navy task force will begin evacuating the 167 from the atoll where atomic bombs will explode this spring above and amid a "guinea pig" fleet riding at anchor in the shallow waters near the islands of Bikini and Enyu.

The gentle, intelligent Marshallese natives learned of the atomic bomb for the first time less than two weeks ago—and that the United States wanted them to give up their homes.

The task force could have gone in and ordered them off the islands without explanation and arbitrarily set them up on another island. But Com. Ben. Wyatt, Williamsburg, Ky., who commands the Kwajalein naval air base and is preparing for the atomic bomb tests, is a gentle, kindly man.

On February 10, Wyatt and his chief of staff, Comdr. Harold Grieve, Los Angeles, visited Bikini island. King Juda, bespectacled, middle-aged native leader, called his subjects together under the coconut palms near their thatch-roofed village.

The commodore faced the group, which sat crossed-legged, gravely waiting to hear what he had to say.

"That was a tough job," Wyatt recalls. "If one man in that crowd had said, 'I won't leave,' then it would have meant trouble and bad feelings."

As simply as he could, Wyatt explained the mysteries of atomic energy. He told them that during the war, long-haired men of great learning had discovered certain new sources of power—power almost beyond comprehension. He told them this power had been loosed against the Japanese; and he described the horrors of Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Scientists, he said, had every hope that out of this new energy would come a great force for a better civilization; and the Bikini experiment was one step in that direction.

The natives gravely discussed the

Radio and News Services Would Be Hit, Union Leader Declares

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 21 (AP)—A nationwide telephone strike, effective at 6 a. m. (in each time belt) Thursday, March 7, was ordered tonight by the executive board of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the independent labor organization, said seventeen affiliated unions in a position to conduct a legal strike "will leave work at the time directed."

He added: "The other thirty-three affiliated unions will respect picket lines to be established by the striking unions."

The union head said the strike would be participated in directly by 150,000 workers and affect by picketing the other 100,000 employes in the far-flung American Telephone and Telegraph Company system. All states will feel the effect of the walkout, he said.

Asserting the nine-man executive board would be required to sanction all agreements reached by the separate unions, Beirne added that "no individual steelements will be made."

Beirne added:

"If the government wants to intervene, they will contact us. Meanwhile, we are preparing for a strike."

Carleton W. Werkau, secretary of the organization, was named national strike strategy director with headquarters tentatively in Washington.

No Emergency Service

The board also includes Oscar Jager, New York (Federation of Long Line Workers) and Mrs. Mildred Beahm, Washington (Washington Telephone Traffic Union).

Beirne said the federation "absolutely" would allow no emergency service "because it could allow supervisory personnel to scab on our job."

"We would expect our members to respect our picket lines even if they didn't see them," Beirne told newsmen in a press conference following the assembly adjournment.

"As long as one picket remains on a line anywhere in the country we will consider the industry picketed and strike-bound."

Dealing with the subject of injunctions against picketing, the youthful union leader said "the forceful removal of such pickets will not in the minds of the strikers constitute an actual removal of those lines."

Beirne said the federation had re-

Truman Opposes World Abolition Of Conscription

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Truman called impractical today a House Military committee move to sidetrack universal military training legislation in favor of a campaign to outlaw peacetime conscription throughout the world.

The president expressed his views at a news conference when asked for his opinion about the proposal gaining strength in the committee.

He already has urged Congress to enact legislation requiring every able-bodied male youth to take one year of military training.

The president gave no reasons for his belief it would not be practical to try to outlaw universal training everywhere, and in the absence of an explanation House Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, said he would continue his fight for air international ban.

The committee heard a host of witnesses today in opposition to universal training itself, and many of them endorsed the Martin proposal.

Some committee members want to hear the views of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. They may seek to reopen the hearings next week despite the announcemnt by Chairman May (D-Ky) that they are "now closed."

Today's witnesses included a group of high school and college students, a Texas minister, and spokesman for church and educational groups.

The minister, Sam Morris, San Antonio, an ardent prohibitionist, urged the committee to make certain that intoxicating liquor will not be available to youths if universal training is adopted.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, Rochester, N. Y., speaking for the United Council of Church Women, said universal training would jeopardize efforts a world peace.

5 Malaria Tests Show Presence Of Parasites

Health Department Examines Blood of Eight Area Veterans

Eight blood tests for malaria have been made at the Cumberland branch laboratory of the state health department for veterans of this area in recent weeks, and five of the tests showed the presence of malaria parasites in the blood, W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist in charge of the laboratory, announced yesterday.

All of the blood tests were made at the request of family physicians, Gunther said. He pointed out that under a general state law governing state laboratory examinations, a physician must request the examination of specimens, and reports on the examination are sent to the doctor requesting it and not to the patient.

In addition, several veterans have made inquiries at the laboratory regarding blood tests for malaria and were told that no test would be made unless requested by a physician.

Gunther said that one veteran of Pacific service was afraid that he had contracted malaria, although he had never had symptoms of the disease either overseas or after returning home. The veteran came to the laboratory to ask for a blood test, and was informed that unless his doctor decided it was necessary, the laboratory would not run the test.

The state bacteriologist said that testing blood specimens for malaria is a comparatively lengthy process, since it takes an average of forty-five minutes to prepare a specimen for microscopic examination, another hour for the examination itself, and some time in preparing a report.

Blood tests determine the type of malaria and stage of development of the disease if the malaria parasites are present, and doctors can prescribe accordingly, Gunther said.

fected area for aid in preventing the shutdown.

The mayor's action was taken after a four-hour conference of the negotiators with company and union representatives filed to end the stalemate.

George L. Mueller, head of the 3,400-member independent association of Duquesne Light Company employes, announced earlier that unless a settlement was reached before that time the workers would walk out again at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday.

Lancaster Strike Ends

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 21 (AP)—A sixteen-day transit tie-up and an AFL general strike ended today with union-management approval of a twelve-cent-an-hour wage boost for bus and trolley operators.

The 220 transit workers, at a closed session, ratified the pact reached by representatives of the Conestoga Transportation Company and Local 1,241 Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes (AFL).

Later the AFL-Central Labor Union, which issued the general strike call three days ago to its 12,000 members, rescinded its "no work" order which had resulted in only a partial shutdown of Lancaster's industry.

Company and union leaders declared transit service will resume tomorrow. Picketing halted immediately and business establishments reopened.

Detroit Milk Strike Spreads

DETROIT, Feb. 21 (AP)—CIO United Dairy Workers, enforcing their demand for a twenty-cent hourly wage rise, today walked out of ten more milk production plants and an estimated 750,000 Detroiters went without their regular milk supply.

Altogether fourteen plants are tied up by the strike and Howard F. Simmons, secretary-manager of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, said thousands of gallons of milk were dumped by farmers who could find no place to deliver their supply today.

Simmons estimated seventy-five per cent of the city's entire supply had been dumped down the drains.

Meanwhile, union and company officials agreed on a distribution plan by which families calling at strike-closed plants will receive two quarts of milk daily and deliveries will be made to hospitals and schools.

FBI Reveals How

But this was not the beginning—nor the end—of the FBI's counter-espionage activities against America's home-front enemies. In the summer of 1939 the late President Roosevelt, in a confidential memorandum to Government agencies, had designated the FBI as the primary agency to handle national security matters. The FBI then began investigating the background and activities of aliens.

With Pearl Harbor these investigations paid off. The most dangerous enemy aliens had been spotted, their activities kept under constant surveillance.

Under presidential proclamations of December 7 and 8, 1941, axis aliens were directed to turn over to law enforcement agencies by January 8, 1942, certain prohibited articles, such as weapons, explosives and shortwave sets.

On the latter date, the FBI began spot-checking homes and businesses to determine if they were complying.

These checks and the FBI's general surveillance turned up such key members of the German and Japanese fifth column as these:

A German alien who occasionally wore a Nazi uniform was employed at $100 a week in a middle West firm manufacturing delicate defense instruments. He was arrested.

A Japanese citizen who had entered the United States at San Francisco late in 1940 aws arrested December 7, 1941, with numerous pictures of the Panama canal's defenses. He had acted as director of the Japanese Foreign Trade Bureau in a mid-western city.

DEATHS

FRANK KLOSTERMAN

Frank Klosterman, 66, well-known Columbia street grocer for the last twenty-five years and a former conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad prior to that, died last night at his home at 614 Columbia avenue.

Klosterman was born on Red Hill, near the Six Mile House, and prior to going into the grocery business served as a conductor with the Pennsylvania Railroad, working out of Baltimore, for eight years.

He is a member of St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church and is a life member of the Eagles lodge.

Surviving are his widow, the former Irene Gomez, of New York City; three brothers, Thomas A., Washington, D. C., H. B. Klosterman, LaVale, and Edward Klosterman, Cumberland; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Shuck, Frostburg, and Mrs. Joseph Lippold, of Cumberland.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

LINABURG RITES

Funeral services for George M. Linaburg, 84, night watchman at the city warehouse, who died Tuesday at his home, 322 Pennsylvania avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Stein funeral home.

The Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist church, officiated and interment was in Davis Memorial cemetery.

City employes attended the services in a body. Pallbearers were Roy F. Maphis, Guy Long, Charles Cox, Paul Mouse, Albert Middleton and John Hymes.

McCREARY RITES

Funeral services for Harry Reynolds McCreary, 59, former employe of the Bennett and Meders Transfer companies, who died Monday evening at his home, 221 Independence street, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were John McCoy, C. E. Crabtree, Charles Dickerhoof, Arthur Hafer, Frank McCoy and Edward Meader.

JOHN CLARK RITES

Funeral services for John Wesley Clark, 66, cooper at the Hiser Barrel and Supply Company for forty-six years, who died Tuesday at his home, 503 Fort avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hafer funeral home.

The Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist church, officiated at the rites and interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

ceived assurances from the National Association of Broadcasting engineers and Technicians that "they will not cross our picket lines."

News Service Would Be Hit

He asserted that the national news services will be hampered because "we will not permit maintenance men to serve them."

No decision has been reached by the strike strategy board, the union official declared, on whether the federation's membership would return to work in the event of government seizure.

The strike decision came by a unanimous vote of the board, Beirne said, adding: "We worked in complete harmony and dissolved our differences of opinion."

The federation president said he received a wire from Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach saying he would "be happy to confer with us."

Asked what his reply would be, Beirne said, "I shall say that we are going on strike and that if he wants to confer with me I'll be in Washington sometime next week."

The federation's 250,000 workers include telephone operators, production workers, craftsmen and clerical workers.

The union demands a flat $10 weekly increase, a sixty-five cent hourly minimum wage and a return to the forty-hour week.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has offered a $5 weekly wage boost to operators and $3 to $6 weekly increases to other employes.

NFTW officials said prevailing weekly wages were $18 to $38 for operators, $22 to $68 for production workers and craftsmen, and $18 to $68 for clerical workers.

FOUR SLOT MACHINES SEIZED AT POST 153, AMERICAN LEGION

A representative of Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, early yesterday morning posted $100 bond in police court for a hearing Saturday morning on a charge of maintaining a gaming device at the post's club-rooms at 68 North Mechanic street.

The bond was posted by William Smith, negro, 300 block, Central avenue, after Detectives Edwin R. Lilya and Thomas J. See and Officers C. W. Thompson and Arthur E. Kennell raided the club at 12:30 a. m. and confiscated four slot machines the officers reported were in the club.

Police said the raid occurred during a routine check of local veterans, social and fraternal clubs. The slot machines are to be destroyed under provisions of the city code after hearings are held, police said.

Three other slot machines were confiscated in a raid on Mountain Chapter Post No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, 770 Greene street, last Wednesday. George M. Leib, adjutant of the post, forfeited $50 bond at the hearing next day.

widespread anti-British disorders, it was officially announced tonight.

One Egyptian was killed by a truck and several persons were wounded. Demonstrators, shrieking at foreigners, hurled stones at Shepheards's hotel, injuring three or four persons standing on a terrace.

With Egyptian army tanks and armored cars patroling the streets tonight, Prime Minister Sidky Pasha banned demonstrations throughout the nation.

During the day 150,000 persons had thronged the streets here during strikes called to support demands that British troops be evacuated from Egypt and that unity of the Nile valley be achieved.

A joint communique issued by the general headquarters of the British army Middle East command and the Mediterranean - Middle East command of the Royal Air Force asserted it was necessary for British soldiers to open fire to safeguard the lives of British personnel.

All Saints Protestant cathedral and St. Joseph's Catholic church were among the targets of the crowd's violence, the official announcement said. The residence of Bishop L. H. Gwynne was ransacked.

The statement said the most serious event of the day occurred when a "mob" attacked the Royal Air Force base personnel office and welfare stores, both of which suffered heavy damage and some parts were burned out.

The communique asserted that the demonstrations resolved themselves during the morning into "attacks against British military and civil institutions." Egyptian police and the Egyptian army experienced difficulty in maintaining control, the statement added.

As the day wore on, the statement said, the Egyptian army and police "restored some measure of order" by "firmer action" and by late afternoon the situation had improved considerably.

Sgt. and Mrs. Durst Arrive in City From Aruba Island

Staff Sgt. Jack Durst's two-year tour of duty on the island of Aruba off the coast of Venezuela was unique in at least one respect compared to many GI's in that he had Mrs. Durst with him the last six months of his hitch there.

Staff Sgt. Durst and Mrs. Durst (the former Miss Ruth Marquis) arrived home in Cumberland last night after flying from Aruba to Puerto Rico in a C-47 and coming the rest of the way by transport. The last leg of the journey was on the Capitol Limited which brought them to Cumberland last night at 9 o'clock.

Sgt. Durst explained last night that Aruba is one of the A.B.C. group of islands off Venexuela . . . Curacao, Bonaire and Aruba.

Aruba, which was described by Durst as an island where the wind blows almost constantly and where the trees grow sideways as a result, is distinguished by the fact that it boasts the world's largest oil refinery owned by Standard Oil.

U. S. soldiers were sent there during the war to guard the refineries.

When an order came down the line about six months ago that officers and enlisted men of the first three grades would be allowed to have their wives come and stay with them, Sgt. Durst acted with dispatch with the result that he and Mrs. Durst occupied a five-room bungalow in the island's American Colony for the last half year.

Sgt. Durst expects to go to Fort Meade in about a week where he will receive his discharge.

Whether he would renew such a royalty request this year was anybody's guess. The bituminous contract negotiated in 1945 had a new type of termination clause replacing the old two-year provision. It now provides that the contract can be ended April 1 at the request of either party after ten days' notice of reopening, fifteen days of negotiating and five days' notice of intention of terminate. The anthracite contract similarly may be ended May 1.

The policy committee will be meeting immediately after the initial ten-day notice period has expired—in the event Lewis desires to open the contract and follows the steps listed.

Bituminous coal miners now are working a six-day, fifty-four-hour week, and receiving $63.50. The basic work week is thirty-five hours, however, and Lewis may choose to ask for an increase to offset the loss in pay with the change to a shorter work week.

Lewis's move today was the first major development in UMW strategy since he took the miners back into the American Federation of Labor last month.

MOSCOW, Feb. 21 (AP) — Pravda asserted today that Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King was only attempting to minimize "failures" of British Foreign Secretary Bevin at the United Nations Assembly when the Canadian announced secret information was leaking to a foreign embassy, later identified as Russia.

The Communist newspaper declared that "someone obviously had to help Bevin to distract attention from his failures at the session of the assembly.

The editorial referred to Bevin's speeches before the United Nations Security Council on Indonesia and Greece, where the presence of British troops brought forth Soviet charges that the British were endangering world peace.

HENRY: "What did they find out, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, as a result of their medical research, they found out that approximately 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage known as alcoholics."

HENRY: "But why are they called sick people?"

OLD JUDGE: "Because it has been discovered that, in many cases, excessive drinking is a symptom of some physical or emotional maladjustment . . . not the cause of it."

HENRY: "Now I understand it, Judge. I am glad to hear of the modern approach to this problem and that so much is really being done to help these folks."

5 Malaria Tests Show Presence Of Parasites

Health Department Examines Blood of Eight Area Veterans

Eight blood tests for malaria have been made at the Cumberland branch laboratory of the state health department for veterans of this area in recent weeks, and five of the tests showed the presence of malaria parasites in the blood, W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist in charge of the laboratory, announced yesterday.

All of the blood tests were made at the request of family physicians, Gunther said. He pointed out that under a general state law governing state laboratory examinations, a physician must request the examination of specimens, and reports on the examination are sent to the doctor requesting it and not to the patient.

In addition, several veterans have made inquiries at the laboratory regarding blood tests for malaria and were told that no test would be made unless requested by a physician.

Gunther said that one veteran of Pacific service was afraid that he had contracted malaria, although he had never had symptoms of the disease either overseas or after returning home. The veteran came to the laboratory to ask for a blood test, and was informed that unless his doctor decided it was necessary, the laboratory would not run the test.

The state bacteriologist said that testing blood specimens for malaria is a comparatively lengthy process, since it takes an average of forty-five minutes to prepare a specimen for microscopic examination, another hour for the examination itself, and some time in preparing a report.

Blood tests determine the type of malaria and stage of development of the disease if the malaria parasites are present, and doctors can prescribe accordingly, Gunther said.

Lancaster Strike Ends

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 21 (AP)—A sixteen-day transit tie-up and an AFL general strike ended today with union-management approval of a twelve-cent-an-hour wage boost for bus and trolley operators.

The 220 transit workers, at a closed session, ratified the pact reached by representatives of the Conestoga Transportation Company and Local 1,241 Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes (AFL).

Later the AFL-Central Labor Union, which issued the general strike call three days ago to its 12,000 members, rescinded its "no work" order which had resulted in only a partial shutdown of Lancaster's industry.

Company and union leaders declared transit service will resume tomorrow. Picketing halted immediately and business establishments reopened.

Detroit Milk Strike Spreads

DETROIT, Feb. 21 (AP)—CIO United Dairy Workers, enforcing their demand for a twenty-cent hourly wage rise, today walked out of ten more milk production plants and an estimated 750,000 Detroiters went without their regular milk supply.

Altogether fourteen plants are tied up by the strike and Howard F. Simmons, secretary-manager of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, said thousands of gallons of milk were dumped by farmers who could find no place to deliver their supply today.

Simmons estimated seventy-five per cent of the city's entire supply had been dumped down the drains.

Meanwhile, union and company officials agreed on a distribution plan by which families calling at strike-closed plants will receive two quarts of milk daily and deliveries will be made to hospitals and schools.

But this was not the beginning—nor the end—of the FBI's counter-espionage activities against America's home-front enemies. In the summer of 1939 the late President Roosevelt, in a confidential memorandum to Government agencies, had designated the FBI as the primary agency to handle national security matters. The FBI then began investigating the background and activities of aliens.

With Pearl Harbor these investigations paid off. The most dangerous enemy aliens had been spotted, their activities kept under constant surveillance.

Under presidential proclamations of December 7 and 8, 1941, axis aliens were directed to turn over to law enforcement agencies by January 8, 1942, certain prohibited articles, such as weapons, explosives and shortwave sets.

On the latter date, the FBI began spot-checking homes and businesses to determine if they were complying.

These checks and the FBI's general surveillance turned up such key members of the German and Japanese fifth column as these:

A German alien who occasionally wore a Nazi uniform was employed at $100 a week in a middle West firm manufacturing delicate defense instruments. He was arrested.

A Japanese citizen who had entered the United States at San Francisco late in 1940 aws arrested December 7, 1941, with numerous pictures of the Panama canal's defenses. He had acted as director of the Japanese Foreign Trade Bureau in a mid-western city.

DEATHS

FRANK KLOSTERMAN

Frank Klosterman, 66, well-known Columbia street grocer for the last twenty-five years and a former conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad prior to that, died last night at his home at 614 Columbia avenue.

Klosterman was born on Red Hill, near the Six Mile House, and prior to going into the grocery business served as a conductor with the Pennsylvania Railroad, working out of Baltimore, for eight years.

He is a member of St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church and is a life member of the Eagles lodge.

Surviving are his widow, the former Irene Gomez, of New York City; three brothers, Thomas A., Washington, D. C., H. B. Klosterman, LaVale, and Edward Klosterman, Cumberland; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Shuck, Frostburg, and Mrs. Joseph Lippold, of Cumberland.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

LINABURG RITES

Funeral services for George M. Linaburg, 84, night watchman at the city warehouse, who died Tuesday at his home, 322 Pennsylvania avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Stein funeral home.

The Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist church, officiated and interment was in Davis Memorial cemetery.

City employes attended the services in a body. Pallbearers were Roy F. Maphis, Guy Long, Charles Cox, Paul Mouse, Albert Middleton and John Hymes.

McCREARY RITES

Funeral services for Harry Reynolds McCreary, 59, former employe of the Bennett and Meders Transfer companies, who died Monday evening at his home, 221 Independence street, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were John McCoy, C. E. Crabtree, Charles Dickerhoof, Arthur Hafer, Frank McCoy and Edward Meader.

JOHN CLARK RITES

Funeral services for John Wesley Clark, 66, cooper at the Hiser Barrel and Supply Company for forty-six years, who died Tuesday at his home, 503 Fort avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hafer funeral home.

The Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist church, officiated at the rites and interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

Pallbearers, members of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, were W. E. Ruehl, John Ehrbar, William Smouse, Alfonse F. Bender, Jesse Connors and Walter Perdew.

He asserted that the national news services will be hampered because "we will not permit maintenance men to serve them."

No decision has been reached by the strike strategy board, the union official declared, on whether the federation's membership would return to work in the event of government seizure.

The strike decision came by a unanimous vote of the board, Beirne said, adding: "We worked in complete harmony and dissolved our differences of opinion."

The federation president said he received a wire from Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach saying he would "be happy to confer with us."

Asked what his reply would be, Beirne said, "I shall say that we are going on strike and that if he wants to confer with me I'll be in Washington sometime next week."

The federation's 250,000 workers include telephone operators, production workers, craftsmen and clerical workers.

The union demands a flat $10 weekly increase, a sixty-five cent hourly minimum wage and a return to the forty-hour week.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has offered a $5 weekly wage boost to operators and $3 to $6 weekly increases to other employes.

NFTW officials said prevailing weekly wages were $18 to $38 for operators, $22 to $68 for production workers and craftsmen, and $18 to $68 for clerical workers.

FOUR SLOT MACHINES SEIZED AT POST 153, AMERICAN LEGION

A representative of Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, early yesterday morning posted $100 bond in police court for a hearing Saturday morning on a charge of maintaining a gaming device at the post's club-rooms at 68 North Mechanic street.

The bond was posted by William Smith, negro, 300 block, Central avenue, after Detectives Edwin R. Lilya and Thomas J. See and Officers C. W. Thompson and Arthur E. Kennell raided the club at 12:30 a. m. and confiscated four slot machines the officers reported were in the club.

Police said the raid occurred during a routine check of local veterans, social and fraternal clubs. The slot machines are to be destroyed under provisions of the city code after hearings are held, police said.

Three other slot machines were confiscated in a raid on Mountain Chapter Post No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, 770 Greene street, last Wednesday. George M. Leib, adjutant of the post, forfeited $50 bond at the hearing next day.

Dr. Harry Robinson, professor of dermatology and syphilology at the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting today at 8 p. m. of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society. Following the meeting, which will be held in the auditorium of the nurses' home at Memorial hospital, the members will discuss new methods of treating syphilis.

A George Washington's birthday dance will be held tomorrow from 9 p. m. until midnight in the gymnasium at Central YMCA, sponsored by the Young Businessmen and Young Businesswomen's organizations of the "Y." Jimmy Andrews and his orchestra will provide music for the dance, which will be semi-formal. The affair is open to non-members between the ages of 19 and 30, as well as to members. Tickets, which are fifty cents per person and $1 per couple, will be on sale at the door.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

HENRY: "I've heard that some thing several times lately . . . that alcoholics are really sick people. It was news to me. Do you agree with that statement, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Yes, it's true, Henry. It's no notion of mine . . . it's a statement made by scientists who have studied the subject."

HENRY: "What did they find out, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, as a result of their medical research, they found out that approximately 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage known as alcoholics."

HENRY: "But why are they called sick people?"

OLD JUDGE: "Because it has been discovered that, in many cases, excessive drinking is a symptom of some physical or emotional maladjustment . . . not the cause of it."

HENRY: "Now I understand it, Judge. I am glad to hear of the modern approach to this problem and that so much is really being done to help these folks."

Vital Statistics Given for County

Allegany county had a total of 130 births in November, 1945, the Maryland Health Bulletin of the State department of health revealed yesterday. Of this number, sixty-four were children born in Cumberland the report said. The total for the state in November was 3,237. There were a total of twenty-one births in Garrett county.

The report also shows that there were eighty deaths in Allegany county in November and eleven in Garrett county. Of the eighty Allegany residents who died in November, forty-three were Cumberland residents. Heart diseases caused thirty of the deaths in the county, the report shows, while eight died from cancer, six from nephritis, five from accidents, and four from pneumonia. Syphillis caused two deaths in the county in November. In Garrett county, four of the deaths were caused by heart diseases, two by cancer and one from diabetes.

The monthly table of reported cases of notifiable diseases in Allegany county from November show two cases of scarlet fever, three cases of whooping cough, two cases of mumps, ten cases of influenza, four cases of tuberculosis, five cases of syphilis, seven cases of gonorrhea and chancroid, and five cases of pneumonia.

A total of twenty-two cases of malaria were reported in the state in November with nineteen of the cases originating in Anna Arundel county. The malaria cases were contracted outside the United States, the report shows.

Sickness in Garrett county was at a low ebb in November, the report shows. No cases were reported compared to forty-five in Allegany county.

—Jamaica's rapid growth of population has increased unemployment.

—An unofficial poll is being taken to see how Dutch people feel about annexation of German territory.

Three Cumberlanders Pay Damages in OPA Overcharge Claims

Three Cumberlanders have made OPA treble damage payments in settlements amounting to $148.78 in price violation cases and Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director, has accepted the payments which were turned over to the U. S. Treasury.

The cases include payment of $100 by H. K. Poling, operator of the South End Market, 408 Virginia avenue; Thomas Perrin, operator of Perrin's Grocery, 501 Baltimore avenue, $24.93 and a refund of seven cents; Nicholas Spano, Electric Studio, 22 Baltimore street, $23.85 and a refund of $1.15.

Hearings were held at the OPA office here on several other cases, but these hearings are private and any charges or claims made must be approved by McCormick's office, before they can be made public, local OPA officials indicated.

Extension Association To Meet Feb. 28

The annual meeting of the Bedford County Agricultural Extension Association will be held in Bedford Thursday, February 28.

President Sam E. Baker will start the forenoon program at 10:15 o'clock in the Methodist church. The group will go to the Fort Bedford Inn for the noon meal and afternoon session.

The association has secured Dr. Beatty Dimit of Indiana State Teachers college as speaker. Dr. Dimit is also overseer of the Pennsylvania State Grange. Music and moving pictures will intersperse short discussions by men and women leaders of agricultural and home economics activities in the county.

The officers extend an invitation to all interested persons to this event which has grown to be one of the largest farm gatherings held at Bedford.

Money Is Stolen

Police are seeking the person who, they were told, broke into the home of Frank Molinari, Jr., 32 Cumberland street, Wednesday between 10:30 a. m. and 1 p. m. Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn said ten silver dollars and a jar of pennies were taken from a room occupied by Frank Palumbo.

—Newfoundland was discovered by John Cabot in 1497.

Jack E. Love Says "Joke Is on Him"

Sound Bend, Ind., Feb. 21 (AP)—Jack E. Love, who said lawyers had written him that he had inherited more than $1,000,000, told newsmen today that if "Uncle Claude didn't leave me anything, the joke's on me."

Love, 22, law student at Notre Dame, met with newsmen today after a search failed to reveal any "Great-Uncle Claude Love" or any attorneys by the names of those who he said had told him of his good fortune.

"I really did get a letter, but I thought it was a joke at first and I even thought it was a joke when I talked about it Monday to two reporters, but I guess if they actually go through with the thing and find out that Uncle Claude didn't leave me anything, the joke's on me," Love said.

The uncle, Love had said he believed, lived in Olympia, Wash., but no Claude Love could be found there, nor any trace of his will.

Two Are Fined After Disturbance

Two men arrested early Wednesday morning after a fight which police said occurred in South Cumberland, paid fines totaling $15 in police court.

The first, booked as Melvin B. Crites, 716 Shriver avenue, was fined $10 and the other, Stelmer Flanagan, 326 North Mechanic street, was fined $5. Police said Crites gave his address as Oldtown when treated in Memorial hospital for a lacerated eyebrow.

Henry Purcell, North Mechanic street, forfeited $10 bond yesterday in police court on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

George Washington A Man of Vision

TWO HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN YEARS AGO was born the man who was destined to go into history as the "father" of the United States, the first president of the nation, the man who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

As a leader of men in battle he was a person of almost reckless bravery. As a leader of men in government he was a person of humbleness and judicious prudence. Virtually his whole career was built upon rigid personal honesty, an honesty so staunch that it invited the childhood fiction of the cherry tree.

Washington's gift to his country went beyond his services during his lifetime of sixty-seven years. His Farewell Address is one of the most magnificent documents of statecraft in modern history. In 1862, Abraham Lincoln in issuing a Washington day proclamation, recommended that the anniversary be celebrated by the people "by causing to be read to them his immortal Farewell Address."

What, in brief, was Washington's program? First, preservation of the national union. Second, distrust of factions which "put in the place of the delegated will of the nation the will of a party, often a small but artful and enterprising minority of the community."

Third, resistance to "the spirit of innovation. . . . One method of assault may be to effect in the forms of the constitution alterations which will impair the energy of the system, and thus to undermine what can not be directly overthrown. . . Remember that time and habit are at least as necessary to fix the true character of governments as of other human institutions."

Fourth, a warning against the "mischiefs of the spirit of party." Fifth, "caution in those intrusted with administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres. . . . The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism."

Sixth, the maintenance of religion and morality. Seventh, the preservation of public credit, to avoid the accumulation of debt, "not only by shunning occasions of expense, but by vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debts which unavoidable wars have occasioned, not ungenerously throwing upon posterity the burden which we ourselves ought to bear."

Eighth, observe good faith and justice toward all nations — steer clear of permanent foreign alliances. "Taking care always to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

This was the measure of the man who led the country to independence. His memory will always be revered. His Farewell Address will always be read and studied. In the spirit of Abraham Lincoln's proclamation of 1862, it is indeed fitting that every American should read it, not only today, but often.

Food Plentitude With Scarcities

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE at Washington hastens to assure the American people they will be enabled to eat heartily the remainder of this year, but perhaps not of the same variety of food as formerly. Daily average of calories is to be up a bit from prewar years, estimated at 3,360 per person, almost twice as large—the department is quick to point out—as that of practically all wartorn countries. Furthermore, the nation's buying power is described as at its peak, with money to pay for all the food available during the year.

As for variety, the principle shortages, and those which will be the most annoying, will be in meat and butter. Sugar will continue scarce, as will fats, rice and canned fruits. Canned and processed vegetables will be plentiful, the department hopes. There will be fresh and frozen fish but little fish in cans. There will be no lack of potatoes—if the crop is good, presumably—always a staple in the family diet. Bread will be darker while more wheat is donated to Europe.

Much, of course, depends upon a favorable growing season. If cereal crops are large, or at least normal, there would need to be little concern over the food situation. Furthermore, the Victory gardener is expected to be on the job again, and what he has accomplished in the past is a matter of proud record. Apparently there is no cause to worry about the nation's food supply. Those who can find the food they want in the stores, or who labor in the garden and produce their own, will not go hungry.

Hannegan Is On the Spot

"NEWSWEEK" in its current issue says that nobody should be surprised if Robert Hannegan resigns as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. In talks with close friends, it says, Hannegan makes no bones about his intention to quit and he is looking for a likely successor to recommend to the president. The reason assigned by Hannegan is that he doesn't have the time to handle adequately both the chairmanship and his cabinet post, and he wants to remain as postmaster general.

That explanation doesn't even seem sufficient in view of the fact that for so many years the postmaster general has managed to serve as national party chairman and postmaster general. Consequently, some other impelling motive is naturally suspected and it seems rather likely that Hannegan may be discouraged over the sad position in which the party organization has been placed by the Pauley-Ickes incident.

For one thing, the national chairman is quite on the spot with regard to the Pauley nomination, investigation into which has indicated that Pauley is not fitted for appointment as assistant navy secretary, especially in view of the probability that, should he obtain the post, it would place him in likely succession to Secretary Forrestal, who has been frequently reported as anxious to withdraw from the cabinet post. Too many reflections upon his fitness have been brought out at the hearings by the Senate Naval Affairs committee in connection with his oil interest associations and his solicitations of funds for party campaign purposes.

How Hannegan is placed on the spot has been pointed out by Senator Stewart, Tennessee Democrat, who says the Pauley nomination has "seriously split" the Democratic party and expresses the belief that Pauley should withdraw his name "in common decency." Both President Truman and Hannegan must "certainly be embarrassed," by the fight the nomination has provoked, he said, and there has been egregious blundering on the part of Pauley in not withdrawing his name and on the part of Hannegan because he "has not had him to do it," since continuing "to embarrass the president is bad."

So it is not to be wondered that Hannegan should want to get off the spot if he can.

An Awe-Inspiring But Useful Machine

ONE of the strangest military secrets of the war has come to light now that the army Ordnance department has revealed itself as the proud possessor of the "Eniac," a marvelous machine that handles mathematical calculations a thousand times faster than they have ever been handled before and thus can work problems hitherto considered beyond solution.

The Eniac—its name comes from the initial letters of "electronic numerical integrator and computor"—is the invention of two young University of Pennsylvania scientists, Dr. John W. Mauchly and J. Presper Eckert, Jr. It belongs to the army ordnance because Capt. H. H. Goldstein, mathematician at Aberdeen Proving Ground, heard of Dr. Mauchly's ideas and relayed them to Col. Paul N. Gillon, who saw to it that government funds were made available. The result was a weapon of war, for without it firing and bombing tables for new offensive weapons would not have been available, but also an instrument that will benefit all men in time of peace.

Just how the machine works is somewhat hard for the layman to follow. Even the explanation that it is based on the principle of the abacus, with the processes carried forward at electronic speed, does not help much. But it is no trouble at all to realize that an apparatus that can solve in two hours a problem that would take 100 trained men a year can be a great aid to science.

Dr. Mauchly, who is interested in meteorology, expects that it will contribute a great deal to long-range weather forecasting. But it will also mean better airplanes, gas turbines, micro-wave radio tubes and projectiles. Problems thought to be impossible of solution will be solved—and solved, it is pleasant to think, without anyone getting a headache.

There is no point in becoming jittery over the reported garnering of secret and confidential information in Canada by Russia until all the facts are unearthed, but the leak of information considered highly important should be a lesson not only to Canada but to Britain and the United States that the greatest safeguards of atomic bomb secrecy are vitally necessary.

A new insecticide will kill dandelions, it is said, but our curbstone philosopher says that it is one of those things he muse see before believing and that he isn't going to bet any money against the little yellow devils.

Washington says it will lay great stress on the housing problem. One solution, for industrial centers, would be to have various relays of pickets occupy the same houses at different hours of the day.

NAMES

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Names catalog a scene, a place, a street, a body of water, a state, or whatever is designated. Names are very important in setting the object apart, and planting it in the memory with meaning.

Thoreau discusses this subject in his book "Walden" and says: "If the fairest features of the landscape are to be named after men, let them be the noblest and worthiest men alone. Let our lakes receive as true names at least as the Icarian Sea, where 'still the shore' a 'brave attempt resounds'."

To this day that beautiful lake in Western Canada, Lake Louise, has no meaning to me, but the one a few miles distant from it called Emerald Lake has, for its waters are as a sheet of emerald green in a setting of green foliage.

Names like Nova Scotia (new Scotland) and Providence, Rhode Island, as well as so many of the states in the United States, named after places in the Mother country, and scores of states, rivers and towns, named after the early Indians, give to each an historic flavor, as well as a distinct personality.

The late Bob Davis sat in a group of people one evening, and they were discussing names of people. When asked what name stood out as the most distinctive, he immediately answered—Jack London.

Publicity experts realize the value of names, and so select, with the greatest of care, the ones they give to their performers. In the movies and theatrical world these names become household words. Their real names would mean nothing to their large number of fans and admirers.

In the Bible we get the phrase that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." But in this connection, the good name is meant to characterize the worth of the person, for after all, it's what a name represents, and what the person has made that name mean.

I once knew a famous lecturer by the given name of Napoleon Smith. That was bringing the Smith family into prominence all right! But you felt that he must have something with that name. Yes, names are important.

TWO MEN ON A DONKEY

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

George Allen Is Executive of Company Which Bribed Pendergast, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Public memory is short; so perhaps it is not out of order to recall that exactly one year ago a man who had served eight years in the cabinet and four years as vice president was so pilloried before the Senate that Roosevelt finally withdrew the name of Henry Wallace as head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

But this week, delightful George Allen, who has back-slapped and wise-cracked with every senator on Capitol Hill, was confirmed as director of the RFC after very little cross-examination, almost no debate, and, in the end, without even a roll-call vote.

Most remarkable thing about the George Allen vote was that Sen. Alben Barkley, who knows better, championed Allen's right to continue holding jobs with private corporations while still serving in this vitally important government post.

One corporation of which George Allen is vice president is the Home Insurance Company. It so happens that this company figures very largely in the scandalous graft which sent Harry Truman's old friend, Boss Tom Pendergast, of Kansas City, to jail.

Background of this affair is important. The fire insurance companies operating in Missouri had been forced to impound $9,676,002 while the question of new rate increase was being threshed out in the courts.

Pendergast Bribe

The company which had most at stake in this nine-million-dollar kitty was the Home Insurance Company, of which George Allen is now vice president. Its share was $737,389.31. Naturally it was anxious to get this little nest egg returned to the company's treasury rather than go back to the policy holders.

So a deal was finally worked out between the companies whereby Boss Pendergast was to receive a bribe of $750,000. In return, the court was to be compromised, the fire insurance companies getting eighty per cent of the nine million, the policy holders getting only twenty per cent.

First installment of the Pendergast bribe was $100,000, and it was ponied up by fourteen different companies. But, since Home Insurance had the largest amount at stake, it sent more than any other company—$15,000. Later, the fire insurance companies kicked in a total of $330,000 to Pendergast, but before they could pay the entire $750,000, the government probe was started and he never got the balance.

It was in 1938, during this government probe and before Pendergast was finally convicted in 1939, that Home Insurance, in desperate need of friends, made George Allen a vice president. Allen was a former WPA administrator with no great business talents. But he had one great asset—close connections in Washington.

George, who is a very frank and likeable person, doesn't claim to know anything about insurance, but he does know plenty about getting into the executive mansion at almost any hour of the day or night.

George Allen Sits Pretty

Following this, the fire insurance companies, including Home Insurance, were indicted by the Justice department for violating the Anti-Trust act. However, the insurance lobby, including George Allen, pushed legislation through the House of Representatives exempting insurance companies from the Anti-Trust act. Thanks to highly-skilled lobbying, the Justice department finally compromised the case.

Meanwhile, Home Insurance and other companies operating in Missouri did not go to jail. Tom Pendergast served his time, but not the insurance executives who shelled out $330,000 and were willing to pay up to $750,000.

Harry Truman, of course, has such a blind-spot regarding Pendergast that one of the first things he did after becoming president of the United States—was to fire Maurice Milligan, the United States district attorney who convicted his old friend.

Ninety-six senators, however, are not all supposed to have blind spots. At least a majority are supposed to have a statesmanlike approach to appointments to high office. That is what the system of Senate confirmation is for.

However, when the current vice president of the company which paid Boss Pendergast his heaviest bribe came up for appointment to one of the most powerful economic jobs in government, all but one Democrat—Fullbright of Arkansas—blindly followed the leader.

As a director of the RFC, George Allen is now in a position where he can promote government loans to insurance companies, or to other firms which owe money to insurance companies. It certainly pays to be a charming host at dinner.

Note—Insurance, of course, is only one of George's corporate connections, though it should be enough. Others will be discussed in future columns.

Merry-Go-Round

Postmaster General Bob Hannegan may resign as chairman of the Democratic party much sooner than anyone thinks. He is in worse need of a rest than Truman. . . . Democratic national headquarters at the Mayflower hotel has large posters warning employes to pay their income tax by March 15. The Trumanites are taking no chances. . . . Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-ming will retire from the diplomatic corps soon to become mayor of Shanghai. . . . Ex-Sgt. Max Novack, who wrote the "What's Your Problem?" column for Yank magazine, has joined Tom Clark's staff at the Justice department as an expert on veterans' affairs. . . . Norman J. O. Makin, Australian delegate to the UNO Security Council, will become Australian minister to Washington. . . . Dr. Herbert Evatt, Australia's foreign minister, will be that country's permanent Security council delegate. . . . American Ambassador to Yugoslavia Richard Patterson, has his eyes on the job of United States minister to Canada. . . . Jimmy Byrnes and Henry Wallace have lined up against Fred Vinson and Marriner Eccles in the issue of more foreign loans. Vinson and Eccles are opposed to large foreign loans after the British loan passes Congress. Wallace and Byrnes are insistent that the United States must help countries like France and Russia get rehabilitated.

Capital Chaff

Adm. Roy Ingersoll impressed congressmen as being one of the most straightforward witnesses of the entire Pearl Harbor investigation. . . . The American Smelting and Refining Company is now planning to enter the alumium field in competition with ALCOA, Reynolds Metals and Henry Kaiser—a real victory for free competition. . . . The $2,000,000,000 worth of Nazi gold found in Germany by former Lt. Comdr. Joel Fisher, of the coast guard, has been quietly transferred to vaults in the United States. . . . Dynamic Bill Kittrell, Sam Rayburn's friend, is being offered the collector of customs job in Dallas, Texas. . . . Bob Nathan, now boasting a new mustache, will become a paid consultant for the Democratic National Committee. . . . Trust-buster Wendell Berge has just finished a new book called "Dawn of the West," to be published this spring. . . . The Republican National Committee's Bill Murphy has been drawing blood with the GOP's newspaper, "The Republican News". . . . Sam O'Neill, chief tub-thumper for Bob Hannegan, has revived Charlie Michaelson's column, "Dispelling the Fog," to lash back at opposition criticism.

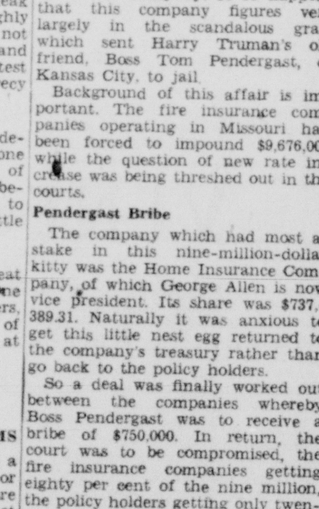
ASKS OPA RENEWAL



CHESTER BOWLES, newly designated economic stabilizer, is pictured as he urged the House Banking and Currency committee to approve speedily a pending bill to continue the price control and subsidy program for a year after the present June 30 expiration date. He warned Congress that the nation's economic system would be smashed "beyond hope of repair" unless it extended price controls.

Teachers' Pensions Are Held Totally Inadequate

Editor The Cumberland News:

Will you please have this item from the Baltimore Sun copied in your paper?

The retirement allowance is far from equal to present day requirements. Every effort is now being made to assist the retired members.

The governor voted them $30,000 additional at the last meeting of the legislature. It was a boost of about $3 to $50 a month.

Thank you for anything you may do to help our cause.

MARGARET S. UPHAM.

Baltimore,
February 19, 1946

To the Editor of The Sun—Sir: I fear we do not fully appreciate just how much we owe our former teachers. Each one of us, if we take time to think, can attribute his success to the patience, labor and untiring efforts of these folks.

It is a sad commentary indeed that while recognizing our debt to these worthy citizens we permit them to face old age most inadequately provided for. Their condition is all the more grave in these days of extremely high living costs. We are evading a real obligation, which can be met in one way only—higher taxes.

I, for one, would gladly pay more taxes for this cause. I hope that this effort to convey my feelings will start an action on the part of all our fair-minded citizens that will result in the correction of this lamentable condition and thereby relieve our consciences of many personal debts.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Washington's birthday is the occasion for our family to have a big celebration. You see, I'm a direct descendent of George Washington. Well, not exactly a descendant, but one of my ancestors was living in the cherry tree that George chopped down.

That tree-chopping deal had a great influence on my life. I was going to do the same thing, but there weren't any cherry trees around, so I cut down a cornstalk . . . that corn has stuck with me ever since.

You might not believe this, but W. C. Fields refuses to recognize George Washington. He says, "The man was out of his head! Cutting down a cherry tree! Think of all the 'Manhattan' and 'Old-fashioned' trimmings he destroyed!"

But my brother is very fond of George Washington. In fact, he has a printing press in his cellar and uses his picture constantly. Yes, indeed, he thinks a lot of Washington . . . especially, after the FBI flew out from there and put him away.

George Washington was the athletic type. He threw a silver dollar across the Potomac river. I tried that the last time I was in the East . . . I lost three dimes before I gave up.

I have some friends back in Vermont who are very famous because of him . . . they own the house he didn't sleep in.

Babson Advises Stronger Boards For Mediation

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 21—Having served in Washington as assistant secretary of labor during World War I and later as director-general of information and education, many letters are coming to me asking as to what can be done to prevent strikes. I am replying "Nothing can prevent strikes, but Congress can do something to make them less serious." Upon referring to certain notes which I made at the close of World War I, I find the following conclusions. They are 100 per cent equally true, today, at the close of World War II.

Compulsory Arbitration

Compulsory arbitration, except in the case of railroads, public utilities, and other monopolistic enterprises, is both impractical and unjust. To talk compulsory arbitration for competitive industry is foolish. It, however, is practical in the case of non-competitive and monopolistic enterprises. Honest collective bargaining should be encouraged in all cases; but it must be on the basis of supply and demand for labor in a free and non-controlled market. But even this leads to a discussion of the justice of inheritance and whether we can have truly "free-enterprise" along with the inheritance of property.

Voluntary mediation boards should materially be strengthened and their use encouraged. These boards should consist of three prominent men all of whom have the public's respect: one selected by the unions, one by the companies, and one by them jointly. These men should be given sufficient funds to secure all necessary information within a reasonable time and both sides should agree in advance to accept their decisions as final. It may be possible to have union-company agreements for "cooling off" periods during the limited time that these mediation boards are reaching a decision.

Same Rules for All

Both corporations and unions should equally be subject to the same anti-trust laws and the same corporation laws which have come to be recognized as standard practices. In this connection, both labor and management should have an equal right to press their views to one another and to the public. Both the unions and companies should gradually consolidate their operations so that the industry as a whole will be negotiating rather than independent companies. This is the English custom and should be adopted in the United States.

It is a mistake for President Truman to get mixed up either with rates of wages or prices of goods. As to inflation,—following World War I, we suffered from inflation but very little was done to prevent it. We have taken a great step forward in these past twenty years in recognizing both the advantages and dangers of inflation. Too much inflation should be fought like a prairie fire; but some inflation now must be necessary in view of our tremendous war debt. Certainly, wages and prices should be considered by the same mediation boards if prices are to be fixed for more than a short, temporary period.

Corporations vs. Labor Leaders

Letters are coming to me asking if the corporations have as good leadership as the big unions? Many investors feel that too many corporation officials have inherited their jobs, while most union leaders have fought their way to the top through sheer ability. These investors would not object to paying large salaries to the heads of their companies provided they have the needed ability. Too many stockholders now seem to be losing faith in the ability of these company officials whom they mechanically re-elect every year by blindly signing absentee proxies.

It is surely up to the stockholders of corporations to get as loyal and able leaders as the union membership gets. Moreover, stockholders must some day insist that their directors and officials get results for them in the form of larger dividends when, as and if the labor leaders get more for their union membership. Stockholders will some day insist upon annual physical examinations and audits concerning the health of company directors and officials the same as they now have annual financial audits.

New Bargaining Tactics Delay Work Resumption

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The public is left to guess just why the negotiations between the representatives of the auto workers unions and of the General Motors Corporation are proceeding so slowly that Federal Mediator James F. Dewey is urging—though unsuccessfully—both sides to speed them up.

Motivating both sides doubtless is the same sparring for position or jockeying far advantage which makes the word "bargaining" more than a mere exchange of views when the present-day process of collective bargaining is being carried on. It is a game of trading.

Old Method Reversed

It used to be that the unions would insist on injecting all sorts of demands which they knew were unpalatable to employers, and they would discuss these first. Finally, when the wage demands were taken up, it was possible to trade off the unpalatable demands for some compromise on wages. Almost invariably management found itself caught in the dilemma of trying to end a work stoppage by a compromise on wages and in the end many of the demands made for bargaining or trading purposes were withdrawn by the unions or had to be accepted as the price of a settlement the moment wage scales were out of the way.

Management, on the other hand, almost never had anything to propose except wage scales and a negative answer to other demands. Today the situation has changed. It begins to look as if General Motors and the auto workers could agree very quickly on wage scales—only a cent an hour separates the two positions—but the automobile company is apparently not too anxious, or maybe does not want to appear too anxious, to settle the negotiation by withdrawing some of its other demands.

Management Is Bolder

Hence the situation is somewhat the reverse of what used to happen. It is the management side which has at last discovered that it can make demands and even request the elimination of concessions it has granted in previous contracts.

Apparently most of the employers in the auto industry in Detroit feel that "unauthorized strikes" and encroachments on the management function by means of "slowdowns" and other interferences with production present so serious a situation as to require explicit treatment in a union contract.

Maintenance of membership is another type of concession made in previous contracts as a result of the orders of the National War Labor Board and not as a consequence of collective bargaining. It appears that the employers who granted the maintenance of membership clauses have learned not to regard this issue as settled any more than the unions consider any part of working rules or working conditions permanently settled but subject to review whenever a contract is up for renewal.

Prolongs Stoppages

This tendency to trade off and bargain on the rules governing working conditions will not accelerate settlements but will prolong work stoppages. It is an inevitable development, however, until each side begins to have full respect for the viewpoint of the other. The temptation of some labor leaders is to assume that management will succumb to anything in order to get production resumed. Likewise there are some employers who underestimate the staying powers of unions which have already suffered losses in a prolonged work stoppage.

The task of the mediator under such circumstances is doubly difficult. Mr. Dewey, who has had a long experience in endeavoring to bring labor and management together, is a patient person. His demand that each side bring to the meetings a written statement of their positions is due to a recognition of the sparring technique in which both sides are indulging.

Meanwhile, the public interest suffers as the auto strike drags on. It may well be, however, that the full story of what has been happening behind the scenes will some day be told, and it will be apparent then that collective bargaining has educated both labor and management more than ever in the bluffing techniques of poker playing.

George Washington A Man of Vision

TWO HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN YEARS AGO was born the man who was destined to go into history as the "father" of the United States, the first president of the nation, the man who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

As a leader of men in battle he was a person of almost reckless bravery. As a leader of men in government he was a person of humbleness and judicious prudence. Virtually his whole career was built upon rigid personal honesty, an honesty so staunch that it invited the childhood fiction of the cherry tree.

Washington's gift to his country went beyond his services during his lifetime of sixty-seven years. His Farewell Address is one of the most magnificent documents of statecraft in modern history. In 1862, Abraham Lincoln in issuing a Washington day proclamation, recommended that the anniversary be celebrated by the people "by causing to be read to them his immortal Farewell Address."

What, in brief, was Washington's program? First, preservation of the national union. Second, distrust of factions which "put in the place of the delegated will of the nation the will of a party, often a small but artful and enterprising minority of the community."

Third, resistance to "the spirit of innovation. . . . One method of assault may be to effect in the forms of the constitution alterations which will impair the energy of the system, and thus to undermine what can not be directly overthrown. . . Remember that time and habit are at least as necessary to fix the true character of governments as of other human institutions."

Fourth, a warning against the "mischiefs of the spirit of party." Fifth, "caution in those intrusted with administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres. . . . The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism."

Sixth, the maintenance of religion and morality. Seventh, the preservation of public credit, to avoid the accumulation of debt, "not only by shunning occasions of expense, but by vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debts which unavoidable wars have occasioned, not ungenerously throwing upon posterity the burden which we ourselves ought to bear."

Eighth, observe good faith and justice toward all nations — steer clear of permanent foreign alliances. "Taking care always to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

This was the measure of the man who led the country to independence. His memory will always be revered. His Farewell Address will always be read and studied. In the spirit of Abraham Lincoln's proclamation of 1862, it is indeed fitting that every American should read it, not only today, but often.

Food Plentitude With Scarcities

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE at Washington hastens to assure the American people they will be enabled to eat heartily the remainder of this year, but perhaps not of the same variety of food as formerly. Daily average of calories is to be up a bit from prewar years, estimated at 3,360 per person, almost twice as large—the department is quick to point out—as that of practically all wartorn countries. Furthermore, the nation's buying power is described as at its peak, with money to pay for all the food available during the year.

As for variety, the principle shortages, and those which will be the most annoying, will be in meat and butter. Sugar will continue scarce, as will fats, rice and canned fruits. Canned and processed vegetables will be plentiful, the department hopes. There will be fresh and frozen fish but little fish in cans. There will be no lack of potatoes—if the crop is good, presumably—always a staple in the family diet. Bread will be darker while more wheat is donated to Europe.

Much, of course, depends upon a favorable growing season. If cereal crops are large, or at least normal, there would need to be little concern over the food situation. Furthermore, the Victory gardener is expected to be on the job again, and what he has accomplished in the past is a matter of proud record. Apparently there is no cause to worry about the nation's food supply. Those who can find the food they want in the stores, or who labor in the garden and produce their own, will not go hungry.

Hannegan Is On the Spot

"NEWSWEEK" in its current issue says that nobody should be surprised if Robert Hannegan resigns as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. In talks with close friends, it says, Hannegan makes no bones about his intention to quit and he is looking for a likely successor to recommend to the president. The reason assigned by Hannegan is that he doesn't have the time to handle adequately both the chairmanship and his cabinet post, and he wants to remain as postmaster general.

That explanation doesn't even seem sufficient in view of the fact that for so many years the postmaster general has managed to serve as national party chairman and postmaster general. Consequently, some other impelling motive is naturally suspected and it seems rather likely that Hannegan may be discouraged over the sad position in which the party organization has been placed by the Pauley-Ickes incident.

For one thing, the national chairman is quite on the spot with regard to the Pauley nomination, investigation into which has indicated that Pauley is not fitted for appointment as assistant navy secretary, especially in view of the probability that, should he obtain the post, it would place him in likely succession to Secretary Forrestal, who has been frequently reported as anxious to withdraw from the cabinet post. Too many reflections upon his fitness have been brought out at the hearings by the Senate Naval Affairs committee in connection with his oil interest associations and his solicitations of funds for party campaign purposes.

How Hannegan is placed on the spot has been pointed out by Senator Stewart, Tennessee Democrat, who says the Pauley nomination has "seriously split" the Democratic party and expresses the belief that Pauley should withdraw his name "in common decency." Both President Truman and Hannegan must "certainly be embarrassed," by the fight the nomination has provoked, he said, and there has been egregious blundering on the part of Pauley in not withdrawing his name and on the part of Hannegan because he "has not had him to do it," since continuing "to embarrass the president is bad."

So, it is not to be wondered that Hannegan should want to get off the spot if he can.

An Awe-Inspiring But Useful Machine

ONE of the strangest military secrets of the war has come to light now that the army Ordnance department has revealed itself as the proud possessor of the "Eniac," a marvelous machine that handles mathematical calculations a thousand times faster than they have ever been handled before and thus can work problems hitherto considered beyond solution.

The Eniac—its name comes from the initial letters of "electronic numerical integrator and computor"—is the invention of two young University of Pennsylvania scientists, Dr. John W. Mauchly and J. Presper Eckert, Jr. It belongs to the army ordnance because Capt. H. H. Goldstein, mathematician at Aberdeen Proving Ground, heard of Dr Mauchly's ideas and relayed them to Col. Paul N. Gillon, who saw to it that government funds were made available. The result was a weapon of war, for without it firing and bombing tables for new offensive weapons would not have been available, but also an instrument that will benefit all men in time of peace.

Just how the machine works is somewhat hard for the layman to follow. Even the explanation that it is based on the principle of the abacus, with the processes carried forward at electronic speed, does not help much. But it is no trouble at all to realize that an apparatus that can solve in two hours a problem that would take 100 trained men a year can be a great aid to science.

Dr. Mauchly, who is interested in meteorology, expects that it will contribute a great deal to long-range weather forecasting. But it will also mean better airplanes, gas turbines, micro-wave radio tubes and projectiles. Problems thought to be impossible of solution will be solved—and solved, it is pleasant to think, without anyone getting a headache.

There is no point in becoming jittery over the reported garnering of secret and confidential information in Canada by Russia until all the facts are unearthed, but the leak of information considered highly important should be a lesson not only to Canada but to Britain and the United States that the greatest safeguards of atomic bomb secrecy are vitally necessary.

A new insecticide will kill dandelions, it is said, but our curbstone philosopher says that it is one of those things he must see before believing and that he isn't going to bet any money against the little yellow devils.

Washington says it will lay great stress on the housing problem. One solution, for industrial centers, would be to have various relays of pickets occupy the same houses at different hours of the day.

NAMES

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Names catalog a scene, a place, a street, a body of water, a state, or whatever is designated. Names are very important in setting the object apart, and planting it in the memory with meaning.

Thoreau discusses this subject in his book "Walden" and says: "If the fairest features of the landscape are to be named after men, let them be the noblest and worthiest men alone. Let our lakes receive as true names at least as the Icarian Sea, where 'still the shore' a 'brave attempt resounds'".

To this day that beautiful lake in Western Canada, Lake Louise, has no meaning to me, but the one a few miles distant from it called Emerald Lake has, for its waters are as a sheet of emerald green in a setting of green foliage.

Names like Nova Scotia (new Scotland) and Providence, Rhode Island, as well as so many of the states in the United States, named after places in the Mother country, and scores of states, rivers and towns, named after the early Indians, give to each an historic flavor, as well as a distinct personality.

The late Bob Davis sat in a group of people one evening, and they were discussing names of people. When asked what name stood out as the most distinctive, he immediately answered—Jack London.

Publicity experts realize the value of names, and so select, with the greatest of care, the ones they give to their performers. In the movies and theatrical world these names become household words. Their real names would mean nothing to their large number of fans and admirers.

In the Bible we get the phrase that "a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." But in this connection, the good name is meant to characterize the worth of the person, for after all, it's what a name represents, and what the person has made that name mean.

I once knew a famous lecturer by the given name of Napoleon Smith. That was bringing the Smith family into prominence all right! But you felt that he must have something with that name. Yes, names are important.

TWO MEN ON A DONKEY

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Public memory is short; so perhaps it is not out of order to recall that exactly one year ago a man who had served eight years in the cabinet and four years as vice president was so pilloried before the Senate that Roosevelt finally withdrew the name of Henry Wallace as head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

But this week, delightful George Allen, who has back-slapped and wise-cracked with every senator on Capitol Hill, was confirmed as director of the RFC after very little cross-examination, almost no debate, and, in the end, without even a roll-call vote.

Most remarkable thing about the George Allen vote was that Sen. Alben Barkley, who knows better, championed Allen's right to continue holding jobs with private corporations while still serving in this vitally important government post.

One corporation of which George Allen is vice president is the Home Insurance Company. It so happens that this company figures very largely in the scandalous graft which sent Harry Truman's old friend, Boss Tom Pendergast, of Kansas City, to jail.

Background of this affair is important. The fire insurance companies operating in Missouri had been forced to impound $9,676,002 while the question of new rate increase was being threshed out in the courts.

Pendergast Bribe

The company which had most at stake in this nine-million-dollar kitty was the Home Insurance Company, of which George Allen is now vice president. Its share was $737,389.31. Naturally it was anxious to get this little nest egg returned to the company's treasury rather than go back to the policy holders.

So a deal was finally worked out between the companies whereby Boss Pendergast was to receive a bribe of $750,000. In return, the court was to be compromised, the fire insurance companies getting eighty per cent of the nine million, the policy holders getting only twenty per cent.

First installment of the Pendergast bribe was $100,000, and it was ponied up by fourteen different companies. But, since Home Insurance had the largest amount at stake, it sent more than any other company—$15,000. Later, the fire insurance companies kicked in a total of $330,000 to Pendergast, but before they could pay the entire $750,000, the government probe was started and he never got the balance.

It was in 1938, during this government probe and before Pendergast was finally convicted in 1939, that Home Insurance, in desperate need of friends, made George Allen a vice president. Allen was a former WPA administrator with no great business talents. But he had one great asset—close connections in Washington.

George, who is a very frank and likeable person, doesn't claim to know anything about insurance, but he does know plenty about getting into the executive mansion at almost any hour of the day or night.

George Allen Sits Pretty

Following this, the fire insurance companies, including Home Insurance, were indicted by the Justice department for violating the Anti-Trust act. However, the insurance lobby, including George Allen, pushed legislation through the House of Representatives exempting insurance companies from the Anti-Trust act. Thanks to highly-skilled lobbying, the Justice department finally compromised the case.

Meanwhile, Home Insurance and other companies operating in Missouri did not go to jail. Tom Pendergast served his time, but not the insurance executives who shelled out $330,000 and were willing to pay up to $750,000.

Harry Truman, of course, has such a blind-spot regarding Pendergast that one of the first things he did after becoming president of the United States—was to fire Maurice Milligan, the United States district attorney who convicted his old friend.

Ninety-six senators, however, are not all supposed to have blind spots. At least a majority are supposed to have a statesmanlike approach to appointments to high office. That is what the system of Senate confirmation is for.

However, when the current vice president of the company which paid Boss Pendergast his heaviest bribe came up for appointment to one of the most powerful economic jobs in government, all but one Democrat—Fullbright of Arkansas—blindly followed the leader.

As a director of the RFC, George Allen is now in a position where he can promote government loans to insurance companies, or to other firms which owe money to insurance companies. It certainly pays to be a charming host at dinner.

Note—Insurance, of course, is only one of George's corporate connections, though it should be enough. Others will be discussed in future columns.

Merry-Go-Round

Postmaster General Bob Hannegan may resign as chairman of the Democratic party much sooner than anyone thinks. He is in worse need of a rest than Truman. . . . Democratic national headquarters at the Mayflower hotel has large posters warning employes to pay their income tax by March 15. The Trumanites are taking no chances. . . . Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-ming will retire from the diplomatic corps soon to become mayor of Shanghai. . . . Ex-Sgt. Max Novack, who wrote the "What's Your Problem?" column for Yank magazine, has joined Tom Clark's staff at the Justice department as an expert on veterans' affairs. . . . Norman J. O. Makin, Australian delegate to the UNO Security Council, will become Australian minister to Washington. . . . Dr. Herbert Evatt, Australia's foreign minister, will be that country's permanent Security council delegate. . . . American Ambassador to Yugoslavia Richard Patterson, has his eyes on the job of United States minister to Canada. . . . Jimmy Byrnes and Henry Wallace have lined up against Fred Vinson and Marriner Eccles in the issue of more foreign loans. Vinson and Eccles are opposed to large foreign loans after the British loan passes Congress. Wallace and Byrnes are insistent that the United States must help countries like France and Russia get rehabilitated.

Capital Chaff

Adm. Roy Ingersoll impressed congressmen as being one of the most straightforward witnesses of the entire Pearl Harbor investigation. . . . The American Smelting and Refining Company is now planning to enter the alumium field in competition with ALCOA, Reynolds Metals and Henry Kaiser—a real victory for free competition. . . . The $2,000,000,000 worth of Nazi gold found in Germany by former Lt. Comdr. Joel Fisher, of the coast guard, has been quietly transferred to vaults in the United States. . . . Dynamic Bill Kittrell, Sam Rayburn's friend, is being offered the collector of customs job in Dallas, Texas. . . . Bob Nathan, now boasting a new mustache, will become a paid consultant for the Democratic National Committee. . . . Trust-buster Wendell Berge has just finished a new book called "Dawn of the West," to be published this spring. . . . The Republican National Committee's Bill Murphy has been drawing blood with the GOP's newspaper, "The Republican News". . . . Sam O'Neill, chief tub-thumper for Bob Hannegan, has revived Charlie Michaelson's column, "Dispelling the Fog," to lash back at opposition criticism.

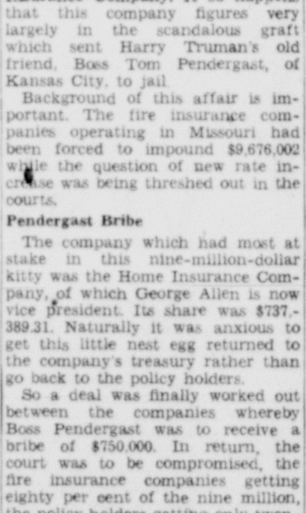
ASKS OPA RENEWAL



CHESTER BOWLES, newly designated economic stabilizer, is pictured as he urged the House Banking and Currency committee to approve speedily a pending bill to continue the price control and subsidy program for a year after the present June 30 expiration date. He warned Congress that the nation's economic system would be smashed "beyond hope of repair" unless it extended price controls.

Teachers' Pensions Are Held Totally Inadequate

Editor The Cumberland News:

Will you please have this item from the Baltimore Sun copied in your paper?

The retirement allowance is far from equal to present day requirements. Every effort is now being made to assist the retired members.

The governor voted them $30,000 additional at the last meeting of the legislature. It was a boost of about $3 to $50 a month.

Thank you for anything you may do to help our cause.

MARGARET S. UPHAM.

Baltimore,
February 19, 1946

To the Editor of The Sun—Sir: I fear we do not fully appreciate just how much we owe our former teachers. Each one of us, if we take time to think, can attribute his success to the patience, labor and untiring efforts of these folks.

It is a sad commentary indeed that while recognizing our debt to these worthy citizens we permit them to face old age most inadequately provided for. Their condition is all the more grave in these days of extremely high living costs. We are evading a real obligation, which can be met in one way only—higher taxes.

I, for one, would gladly pay more taxes for this cause. I hope that this effort to convey my feelings will start an action on the part of all our fair-minded citizens that will result in the correction of this lamentable condition and thereby relieve our consciences of many personal debts.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Washington's birthday is the occasion for our family to have a big celebration. You see, I'm a direct descendent of George Washington. Well, not exactly a descendant, but one of my ancestors was living in the cherry tree that George chopped down.

That tree-chopping deal had a great influence on my life. I was going to do the same thing, but there weren't any cherry trees around, so I cut down a cornstalk . . . that corn has stuck with me ever since.

You might not believe this, but W. C. Fields refuses to recognize George Washington. He says, "The man was out of his head! Cutting down a cherry tree! Think of all the 'Manhattan' and 'Old-fashioned' trimmings he destroyed!"

But my brother is very fond of George Washington. In fact, he has a printing press in his cellar and uses his picture constantly. Yes, indeed, he thinks a lot of Washington . . . especially, after the FBI flew out from there and put him away.

George Washington was the athletic type. He threw a silver dollar across the Potomac river. I tried that the last time I was in the East . . . I lost three dimes before I gave up.

I have some friends back in Vermont who are very famous because of him . . . they own the house he didn't sleep in.

Babson Advises Stronger Boards For Mediation

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 21—Having served in Washington as assistant secretary of labor during World War I and later as director-general of information and education, many letters are coming to me asking as to what can be done to prevent strikes. I am replying "Nothing can prevent strikes, but Congress can do something to make them less serious." Upon referring to certain notes which I made at the close of World War I, I find the following conclusions. They are 100 per cent equally true, today, at the close of World War II.

Compulsory Arbitration

Compulsory arbitration, except in the case of railroads, public utilities, and other monopolistic enterprises, is both impractical and unjust. To talk compulsory arbitration for competitive industry is foolish. It, however, is practical in the case of non-competitive and monopolistic enterprises. Honest collective bargaining should be encouraged in all cases; but it must be on the basis of supply and demand for labor in a free and non-controlled market. But even this leads to a discussion of the justice of inheritance and whether we can have truly "free-enterprise" along with the inheritance of property.

Voluntary mediation boards should materially be strengthened and their use encouraged. These boards should consist of three prominent men all of whom have the public's respect: one selected by the unions, one by the companies, and one by them jointly. These men should be given sufficient funds to secure all necessary information within a reasonable time and both sides should agree in advance to accept their decisions as final. It may be possible to have union-company agreements for "cooling off" periods during the limited time that these mediation boards are reaching a decision.

Same Rules for All

Both corporations and unions should equally be subject to the same anti-trust laws and the same corporation laws which have come to be recognized as standard practices. In this connection, both labor and management should have an equal right to press their views to one another and to the public. Both the unions and companies should gradually consolidate their operations so that the industry as a whole will be negotiating rather than independent companies. This is the English custom and should be adopted in the United States.

It is a mistake for President Truman to get mixed up either with rates of wages or prices of goods. As to inflation,—following World War I, we suffered from inflation but very little was done to prevent it. We have taken a great step forward in these past twenty years in recognizing both the advantages and dangers of inflation. Too much inflation should be fought like a prairie fire; but some inflation now must be necessary in view of our tremendous war debt. Certainly, wages and prices should be considered by the same mediation boards if prices are to be fixed for more than a short, temporary period.

Corporations vs. Labor Leaders

Letters are coming to me asking if the corporations have as good leadership as the big unions? Many investors feel that too many corporation officials have inherited their jobs, while most union leaders have fought their way to the top through sheer ability. These investors would not object to paying large salaries to the heads of their companies provided they have the needed ability. Too many stockholders now seem to be losing faith in the ability of these company officials whom they mechanically re-elect every year by blindly signing absentee proxies.

It is surely up to the stockholders of corporations to get as loyal and able leaders as the union membership gets. Moreover, stockholders must some day insist that their directors and officials get results for them in the form of larger dividends when, as and if the labor leaders get more for their union membership. Stockholders will some day insist upon annual physical examinations and audits concerning the health of company directors and officials the same as they now have annual financial audits.

New Bargaining Tactics Delay Work Resumption

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The public is left to guess just why the negotiations between the representatives of the auto workers unions and of the General Motors Corporation are proceeding so slowly that Federal Mediator James F. Dewey is urging—though unsuccessfully—both sides to speed them up.

Motivating both sides doubtless is the same sparring for position or jockeying far advantage which makes the word "bargaining" more than a mere exchange of views when the present-day process of collective bargaining is being carried on. It is a game of trading.

Old Method Reversed

It used to be that the unions would insist on injecting all sorts of demands which they knew were unpalatable to employers, and they would discuss these first. Finally, when the wage demands were taken up, it was posisble to trade off the unpalatable demands for some compromise on wages. Almost invariably management found itself caught in the dilemma of trying to end a work stoppage by a compromise on wages and in the end many of the demands made for bargaining or trading purposes were withdrawn by the unions or had to be accepted as the price of a settlement the moment wage scales were out of the way.

Management, on the other hand, almost never had anything to propose except wage scales and a negative answer to other demands. Today the situation has changed. It begins to look as if General Motors and the auto workers could agree very quickly on wage scales—only a cent an hour separates the two positions—but the automobile company is apparently not too anxious, or maybe does not want to appear too anxious, to settle the negotiation by withdrawing some of its other demands.

Management Is Bolder

Hence the situation is somewhat the reverse of what used to happen. It is the management side which has at last discovered that it can make demands and even request the elimination of concessions it has granted in previous contracts.

Apparently most of the employers in the auto industry in Detroit feel that "unauthorized strikes" and encroachments on the management function by means of "slowdowns" and other interferences with production present so serious a situation as to require explicit treatment in a union contract.

Maintenance of membership is another type of concession made in previous contracts as a result of the orders of the National War Labor Board and not as a consequence of collective bargaining. It appears that the employers who granted the maintenance of membership clauses have learned not to regard this issue as settled any more than the unions consider any part of working rules or working conditions permanently settled but subject to review whenever a contract is up for renewal.

Prolongs Stoppages

This tendency to trade off and bargain on the rules governing working conditions will not accelerate settlements but will prolong work stoppages. It is an inevitable development, however, until each side begins to have full respect for the viewpoint of the other. The temptation of some labor leaders is to assume that management will succumb to anything in order to get production resumed. Likewise there are some employers who underestimate the staying powers of unions which have already suffered losses in a prolonged work stoppage.

The task of the mediator under such circumstances is doubly difficult. Mr. Dewey, who has had a long experience in endeavoring to bring labor and management together, is a patient person. His demand that each side bring to the meetings a written statement of their positions is due to a recognition of the sparring technique in which both sides are indulging.

Meanwhile, the public interest suffers as the auto strike drags on. It may well be, however, that the full story of what has been happening behind the scenes will some day be told, and it will be apparent then that collective bargaining has educated both labor and management more than ever in the bluffing techniques of poker playing.

Welfare Board Receives Thirty Applications For Public Assistance

Thirty applications for general public assistance were received in January at the Allegany County Welfare Board, the January report of J. Milton Patterson, director of the state department of public welfare, shows. The report shows that $4,086 was paid out with the total for GPA and other assistance being $9,080.40.

A total of 344 cases were given aid with GPA cases amounting to 123, Patterson said. The average grant for GPA aid was $33.22.

There were 45 children for whom foster home payments were made, the average being $36.92 for a total of $1,661.44. A total of 734 persons received Old Age Assistance and 22 applications were received. Payments amounted to $20,429.30 for an average of $27.83.

The amount paid out for Aid to Dependent Children was $7,021.25 with 511 children assisted. A total of $511.95 was paid out for aiding nineteen needy blind persons.

The state totals show a rise in payments for all types of assistance over the figures of January, 1945, with $715,332 paid out last month and $623,306 paid in January of last year.

Camp Site Sought By Police Boys Club

The problem of finding a suitable and adequate camp site for the Police Boys club, was considered Wednesday night by directors of the organization at a special meeting in Central YMCA.

Morgan C. Harris, president of the organization, said Pleasant Valley camp, used last year, will probably not be available. Since between seventy-five and 100 boys participate in the camp each summer, the directors decided to make an effort to find a camp site.

Harris appointed a committee to check into the problem and report back to the directors at the regular meeting April 1.

The committee includes Henry W. Price, chairman; Mrs. A. H. Amick, Jr., Charles U. Wiebel, Kenneth E. Jackson and Mrs. James E. Kelley, Jr.

Farm Situation Improves

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Frederick County Agent Henry R. Shoemaker said that the farm labor situation is looking brighter as more and more veterans inquire about farm jobs.

Under the veterans' program, Shoemaker said, the opportunity is given men to learn farming the same as men are learning skilled trades in other industries.

Merica Marriage Is Annulled

A Cumberland man, who said his bride deserted him on their wedding day Wednesday had his marriage annulled in a decree signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster in circuit court.

The action was brought by Wilmer Merica who said he married Mrs. Irene Merica last December 1 and charged her with "deceit and false promises" prior to the ceremony. She left him after the wedding ceremony and went to Jefferson county, W. Va., he said. Merica was represented by Edward J. Ryan.

Mrs. Helen Fazenbaker Winters yesterday filed suit for a divorce from George E. Winters. Her attorney, William A. Gunter, said they were married December 3, 1937, in Cumberland. The wife asks for the custody of a daughter, aged seven, and requested that Winters be given custody of a son, aged six. Earl E. Manges, counsel for the husband, filed an answer, agreeing to take care of the boy.

Judge Huster granted a divorce to Mrs. Lillian F. Spear, Cumberland, from Dr. Franklin L. Spear, an optometrist. Grounds were not disclosed by her counsel, William R. Carscaden.

Jack Clinton Fisher Weds Miss Frances Vansickle

Miss Frances Irene Vansickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vansickle, 753 Maryland avenue, became the bride of Jack Clinton Fisher, seaman first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fisher, 153 Utah avenue, February 11.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the parsonage of St. Paul's Lutheran church, with the Rev. H. T. Bowersox, D. D., officiating.

The bride was attired in a navy blue costume trimmed in rose, with which she wore black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, class of 1937, and since January 1941 was employed as an assistant librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, class of 1937, and was employed by Consolidated Air Craft and the Naval Air Station at San Diego, Calif., prior to induction in the navy, April 1944. After training at San Diego he spent nineteen months at Johnston, in the South Pacific. At present he is home on furlough and will report in Washington March 10, for reassignment.

OPA Specialist Meets Material Suppliers

John J. Medeiros, Baltimore price specialist of the Office of Price Administration, met yesterday with twenty-five leading building material suppliers of the Cumberland area.

Medeiros said the group discussed what ceiling prices will be on certain building materials in this area.

Miss Blake explained that the research staff hopes to have the charts completed the Saturday before Easter when the Safety Council will hold a program where the results of the survey will be summarized. The students are hopeful that the final reports on their survey will be helpful in preventing accidents in the future.

The results of the four-year-check on accidents will be sent to the magazine, Accident Facts, for publication. The magazine is published by the National Safety Council.

Other than the high schools, the other schools that have pupils participating in the survey include West Side, Corrigansville, Virginia avenue, Johnson Heights, Ellerslie, LaVale, Mt. Royal, Centre street, and St. Mary's.

Miss Walsh said the young research staff worked quite quietly and showed considerable interest in their task.

They are De Lisle E. Chaney, 1130 Bedford street, and Gordon Benedict Griffin, 19 Wempe drive. The latter secured his petition papers yesterday morning.

Three of the candidates, William J. Keegan, Clifton E. Fuller and H. Frank Hinze, filed petition papers in Grimminger's office yesterday.

Three-fold Policy For Middle East Urged by Speaker

The solution of the middle eastern problem is based on a three-fold policy by other nations, Miss Louise Shaffer, head of the History department of Frostburg State Teachers college, told members of the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting yesterday, in speaking on "The UNO and Power Politics in the Middle East."

The meeting of the UNO is now history, the speaker pointed out, but declared that more was accomplished in that first meeting than had been hoped possible. The debate between Ernest Bevin and Andrei Vishinsky was more than a dual, she pointed out for it proved that the Security Council was an open forum for nations.

Three of the questions under discussion, she said, dealt with the Middle East while the fourth, was of the Far East. This Middle East area has always been a source of trouble between Great Britain and Russia, she pointed out, because it is the key to all trade lanes. It also contains thirty per cent of all the world oil and many other natural resources. Both England and the United States have gotten oil concessions from Iran, but Russia has not had any. It is for that reason that Russia will not endorse the withdrawal of troops.

Miss Shaffer pointed out that the solution of the middle eastern problem is based on a three-fold policy by other nations. She listed them as: regognition of the integrity of the people of the Middle East and their right to develop independent states; a program of social advancement, health and educational programs for the people of those countries; and equality of opportunity of all countries to develop the resources of the Middle East and obtain free markets.

Furthermore, she said, Russia has a right to ask for a revision to the treaty controlling the Dardanelles, to seek an exit across Iran and to secure a share of Iran's oil. Miss Shaffer urged, "we must clear away all suspicion and face the world problems realistically."

Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum explained the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and its sponsorship of the Brotherhood week celebration. She explained that it was founded in 1928 by Newton D. Baker, S. Stark Cadman and Charles Evans Hughes. That the conference does not seek uniformity of religious beliefs and does not hold "that one religion is as good as another," but that distrust and fear can be largely dissolved, mutual confidence and respect be created among Protestants, Catholics and Jews through effective use of the right kind of education.

Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer presided at the meeting and Mrs. Ralph Webster introduced the speaker. Mrs. Ralph Balch, Legislative committee, gave a report of anti-strike legislation before Congress. A tea concluded the afternoon, with Washington birthday decorations carried out in the table appointments. Mrs. Allan Fisher, Hospitality chairman, was in charge. Mrs. Robert W. Medeiros said the group discussed what ceiling prices will be on certain building materials in this area.

Accident Facts

Miss Blake explained that the research staff hopes to have the charts completed the Saturday before Easter when the Safety Council will hold a program where the results of the survey will be summarized. The students are hopeful that the final reports on their survey will be helpful in preventing accidents in the future.

The results of the four-year-check on accidents will be sent to the magazine, Accident Facts, for publication. The magazine is published by the National Safety Council.

Other than the high schools, the other schools that have pupils participating in the survey include West Side, Corrigansville, Virginia avenue, Johnson Heights, Ellerslie, LaVale, Mt. Royal, Centre street, and St. Mary's.

Miss Walsh said the young research staff worked quite quietly and showed considerable interest in their task.

Three-fold Policy For Middle East Urged by Speaker

The solution of the middle eastern problem is based on a three-fold policy by other nations, Miss Louise Shaffer, head of the History department of Frostburg State Teachers college, told members of the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting yesterday, in speaking on "The UNO and Power Politics in the Middle East."

The meeting of the UNO is now history, the speaker pointed out, but declared that more was accomplished in that first meeting than had been hoped possible. The debate between Ernest Bevin and Andrei Vishinsky was more than a dual, she pointed out for it proved that the Security Council was an open forum for nations.

Three of the questions under discussion, she said, dealt with the Middle East while the fourth, was of the Far East. This Middle East area has always been a source of trouble between Great Britain and Russia, she pointed out, because it is the key to all trade lanes. It also contains thirty per cent of all the world oil and many other natural resources. Both England and the United States have gotten oil concessions from Iran, but Russia has not had any. It is for that reason that Russia will not endorse the withdrawal of troops.

Miss Shaffer pointed out that the solution of the middle eastern problem is based on a three-fold policy by other nations. She listed them as: regognition of the integrity of the people of the Middle East and their right to develop independent states; a program of social advancement, health and educational programs for the people of those countries; and equality of opportunity of all countries to develop the resources of the Middle East and obtain free markets.

Furthermore, she said, Russia has a right to ask for a revision to the treaty controlling the Dardanelles, to seek an exit across Iran and to secure a share of Iran's oil. Miss Shaffer urged, "we must clear away all suspicion and face the world problems realistically."

Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum explained the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and its sponsorship of the Brotherhood week celebration. She explained that it was founded in 1928 by Newton D. Baker, S. Stark Cadman and Charles Evans Hughes. That the conference does not seek uniformity of religious beliefs and does not hold "that one religion is as good as another," but that distrust and fear can be largely dissolved, mutual confidence and respect be created among Protestants, Catholics and Jews through effective use of the right kind of education.

Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer presided at the meeting and Mrs. Ralph Webster introduced the speaker. Mrs. Ralph Balch, Legislative committee, gave a report of anti-strike legislation before Congress. A tea concluded the afternoon, with Washington birthday decorations carried out in the table appointments. Mrs. Allan Fisher, Hospitality chairman, was in charge. Mrs. Robert W. For the first act the scene will be in a gypsy camp in the morning; the second and third acts will be in a room in the home of Sir George.

The cast includes Violet Turano portraying Meg, an old gypsy; Doris O'Rourke, Zara, the belle of the camp; Anne Hughes, Marto, Meg's husband; Catherine Kelly, Sinfo, a gypsy lad in love with Zara; Patricia Christ, Rob, the gypsy rover and later Sir Gilbert Howe; Elizabeth Mattingly, Lady Constance, daughter of Sir George Martendale; Mary F. Walsh, Lord; Josephine Esposito, Sir George Martendale; Jeannine Coniff, Nina, Sir George's second daughter; Rosemary Dougherty, Captain Jerome, captain of the English army; Helen Hergott, Sir Toby Lyon; and Anne McMahon, McCorkle, a song publisher on London.

There will also be large choruses of gypsies, dames, squires and gypsy children.

Dawson WSCS Elects Two New Officers

The WSCS of the Dawson Methodist church elected two new officers at the meeting earlier in the week. They are Mrs. Hazel VanPelt, vice president; and Mrs. Pauline Talbot, secretary of Youth Work.

Mrs. Jessie Vandervort presided; Mrs. Gladys Adams read the Scripture and Mrs. S. E. Brewer led in prayer. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Loy Kesner, Mrs. Ernset Kesner and Mrs. Ralph Long.

First Presbyterian Servicemen To Be Honored at Dinner

A "Men's Fellowship dinner" honoring the returning servicemen of the First Presbyterian church, will be held at 6:15 o'clock this evening in the lecture hall of the church.

The Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of the church, will be the toastmaster. Edgar T. Duke will be soloist with John S. Gridley at the piano.

Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland will speak to the men of his personal experiences overseas, following the dinner. The former commander of Cumberland's Company G, Millholland joined the British Commandos, shortly after his arrival in England in 1942; and later organized the American rangers. In active combat a few days after the D-day invasion he served in France, Belgium and Germany and arrived back in the states in September, 1945.

Reservations have been made for 125 men, of which about fifty will be ex-servicemen.

Mrs. Walter L. Pierce is in charge of the tables and serving the dinner. Mrs. E. P. Haller will be in charge in the kitchen.

B. P. Kenney Weds Frances Jean Lewis

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Frances Jean Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Lewis, Levels, W. Va., to Bernard P. Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Kenney, also of Levels.

The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Kingsley Methodist church, this city, with the Rev. H. A. Kester officiating, February 14. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Lynus Kidwell were the attendants.

The bride is a graduate of Romney high school. The bridegroom recently received his discharge after serving thirty months in the army with twenty-four months overseas.

Women's CTP To Elect Officers March 19

Plans for the election of officers of the Women's Division of the Baltimore and Ohio CTP to be held March 19, were formulated and it was decided to contribute $10 to the Red Cross drive, at the meeting of the group earlier in the week, at Grace Methodist church hall.

A minstrel, "CTP Follies of 1946," under the direction of Leo H. Ley, Sr., and Elmer J. Soehner, followed the meeting. Mr. Soehner served as interlocutor and Frank Bareis, Kirk Beckwith, Madden McCainn and Lloyd Collins were end men. Refreshments were served during the social hour concluding the evening.

WSCS District Meeting To Be Held Today, Hagerstown

Several local women will take part in the program at the Hagerstown district meeting of the WSCS, to be held today in Washington Square Methodist church, Hagerstown.

Mrs. R. J. Reuschlein, Central church, this city, will speak on the "Joy of Living;" and Mrs. Robert W. Young, Davis Memorial church, will discuss, "Christian Social Relations." A report will also be given by Mrs. E. F. Phillips, Centre Street church, on her work as district secretary of Organization and Promotion.

Mrs. John G. Cook, Frostburg, will preside and the prayer will be offered by the Rev. Charles M. LeFew, pastor, former pastor of Grace church this city. The Rev. William F. Wright, district superintendent, will officiate at the consecration and installation services.

A Fellowship luncheon will be served. The program will also include a play by members of St. Paul's church, Hagerstown; a talk by Mrs. O. G. Robinson, Washington, D. C.; and the closing prayer by the Rev. O. G. Robinson, DD., pastor of Calvary church, Washington.

Pleasant Grove Club Votes Two Donations

Members of the Pleasant Grove Homemakers Club voted to purchase new draperies for the Baltimore Pike firemen's hall, in appreciation of the use of the hall for the meetings. At the meeting Wednesday it was also decided to contribute $5 to the Red Cross drive.

Fortune telling, group singing, and various games featured the entertainment program, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. R. J. Minke. Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Michael, Mrs. Howard Perrin and Mrs. Smith.

Instruct Indians

DENTON, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Three electrical engineers from India, who are making a study of rural electrification in the United States, will attend, as part of their instruction, the annual meeting of the Choptank Electric Co-operative here March 4.

Girls Central To Give Operetta Gypsy Rover Mar. 4

Catholic Girls Central high school will present an operetta entitled, "Gypsy Rover," March 4, at 8 o'clock in Carroll hall, under the direction of Sister M. Aquinette, music; Sister M. Alphonsus, dramatics; and Mrs. William Cumiskey, dancing.

For the first act the scene will be in a gypsy camp in the morning; the second and third acts will be in a room in the home of Sir George.

The cast includes Violet Turano portraying Meg, an old gypsy; Doris O'Rourke, Zara, the belle of the camp; Anne Hughes, Marto, Meg's husband; Catherine Kelly, Sinfo, a gypsy lad in love with Zara; Patricia Christ, Rob, the gypsy rover and later Sir Gilbert Howe; Elizabeth Mattingly, Lady Constance, daughter of Sir George Martendale; Mary F. MORALE

She was one of those pleasant, smart youngsters one meets in business nowadays. . .head waitress in a sweet shop. From the top of her shining wave to the tips of her swift heels she registered charming efficiency. She had that little knack of seeming to be your personal hostess, with only your particular need in mind. Over each table she bent in turn, gracefully warbing a hurried restaurant meal into a restful hominess.

"Nice kid," said I to myself, watching her as she paused for a moment in an empty alcove; "must be great to be as young and carefree as that. Nothing to do but look pretty and glad-hand 'em. Probably she'll be dancing her head off in another hour."

Unconsciously I dropped envious eyes to the slender chiffoned legs, the trim pumps. . . all so different from the ugly, ill-fitting stuff I'd had to wear as a girl. Lucky! But what was the matter? Her foot was out of the pump. She was drawing it up, moving it in slow misery . . . and through the sleek chiffon I saw a bandaged arch. For an instant pain etched dark grooves under the pretty eyes, twisted the soft mouth into a scar—then, abruptly she was off again like a bird . . . every trace of her personal problem erased from that trained, smiling face.

Morale. . . that girl had it!

Rave at these modern working girls if you want . . . snort at their frivolity, their extravagance, their impudence, recklessness and sophistication—but the truth is, lady, that most of them have ten times as much gumption and sense as you and I had at their age!

We were more innocent—maybe. Bue we were also a thousand times more helpless and spineless. Silly little crybabies, running home to mamma for protection.

Show me any modern working girl who needs protection.

Petty individuals, thinking only of our own dreams and peeves—that's what we were.

These youngsters are more than individuals, in spite of their seeming egotism. They've had something bigger knocked into them. . . a sense of the game and their obligation to the rest of the team.

But they're doing it for their own selfish ends," you say. "They'd be fired if they didn't act that way."

It doesn't matter why they're doing it, as long as they are doing it. And it might have been better for a lot of us wives and mothers if we'd been fired if we didn't "act that way."

The working girl of 1946—here's to her! She's the gamest little guy that ever joined the ranks—and she's doing more for the human race than a million nice, refined, innocent, ladylike grandmas who took to wrappers and smelling salts at the first sign of grief.

Boy Scout Chairmen Are Appointed

Committee chairmen for various activity groups, for Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, were announced last night by Dr. Frank U. Davis, 24 Washington street, council president.

Those appointed include Victor D. Heisey, organization and extension; George Sellers, leadership and training; Dr. Joseph A. Franklin, health and safety; Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, W. Va., finance; Floyd Davis, Luke, camping activities; Dr. John L. Dunkle, Frostburg, advancement.

A meeting of Potomac Council will be scheduled for some time next week at his home, Dr. Davis announced.

References to Holland Street Paving Found In Council Minutes

Minutes of a meeting of the mayor and city council last May 7 reveal that Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich stated at that time that he had conferred with the county board of commissioners and had received an agreement whereby the county would pay its share of the cost of paving the street.

The county commissioners deferred payment Tuesday of a bill of $9,919.30 from the city, pending a check of the records to determine if and when an agreement was entered into more than ten years ago for the city to use the portion of county property which is now used as a playground.

The bill from the city is for 1,620.8 feet of paving on Holland street from the Helfrich property to the end of the paving beyond the eastern end of the playground. The city charged $6.12 for each lineal foot of paving.

Minutes of a council meeting last August 2 contain another reference by Helfrich to a previous conference with the county commissioners regarding the paving of Holland street. At that time Helfrich said it was "generally accepted and agreed" that the board would go along with the project the same as any other property owner on the street.

Wants Name Changed

Boleslaw J. Malachowski, a veteran of World War II and a Cumberland railroad employe Wednesday petitioned the circuit court to have his name changed to William J. Malachowski.

He explained that Boleslaw is Polish for William and that he served in the army under the name of William, which is also the name on his Social Security card.

His unusual first name causes him "embarrassment among fellow workers" he said. Edward J. Ryan is his counsel.

These youngsters are more than individuals, in spite of their seeming egotism. They've had something bigger knocked into them. . . a sense of the game and their obligation to the rest of the team.

But they're doing it for their own selfish ends," you say. "They'd be fired if they didn't act that way."

It doesn't matter why they're doing it, as long as they are doing it. And it might have been better for a lot of us wives and mothers if we'd been fired if we didn't "act that way."

The working girl of 1946—here's to her! She's the gamest little guy that ever joined the ranks—and she's doing more for the human race than a million nice, refined, innocent, ladylike grandmas who took to wrappers and smelling salts at the first sign of grief.

Boy Scout Chairmen Are Appointed

Committee chairmen for various activity groups, for Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America, were announced last night by Dr. Frank U. Davis, 24 Washington street, council president.

Those appointed include Victor D. Heisey, organization and extension; George Sellers, leadership and training; Dr. Joseph A. Franklin, health and safety; Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, W. Va., finance; Floyd Davis, Luke, camping activities; Dr. John L. Dunkle, Frostburg, advancement.

A meeting of Potomac Council will be scheduled for some time next week at his home, Dr. Davis announced.

References to Holland Street Paving Found In Council Minutes

Minutes of a meeting of the mayor and city council last May 7 reveal that Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich stated at that time that he had conferred with the county board of commissioners and had received an agreement whereby the county would pay its share of the cost of paving the street.

The county commissioners deferred payment Tuesday of a bill of $9,919.30 from the city, pending a check of the records to determine if and when an agreement was entered into more than ten years ago for the city to use the portion of county property which is now used as a playground.

The bill from the city is for 1,620.8 feet of paving on Holland street from the Helfrich property to the end of the paving beyond the eastern end of the playground. The city charged $6.12 for each lineal foot of paving.

Minutes of a council meeting last August 2 contain another reference by Helfrich to a previous conference with the county commissioners regarding the paving of Holland street. At that time Helfrich said it was "generally accepted and agreed" that the board would go along with the project the same as any other property owner on the street.

Wants Name Changed

Boleslaw J. Malachowski, a veteran of World War II and a Cumberland railroad employe Wednesday petitioned the circuit court to have his name changed to William J. Malachowski.

He explained that Boleslaw is Polish for William and that he served in the army under the name of William, which is also the name on his Social Security card.

His unusual first name causes him "embarrassment among fellow workers" he said. Edward J. Ryan is his counsel.

Father and Son Say Army Records Are Mixed Up

By F. ALAN WEATHERHOLT

On January 30, of this year, a father and son enlisted in the army at the local recruiting station here, with the understanding that they could serve their enlistments together. Yesterday, they were back in Cumberland on five-day leave, complaining bitterly that the army is separating them. And not only separating them, but their records are "all mixed up."

Patrick Aloysious Stowell, age 43, married, of 16 John street, Ridgeley, W. Va., is the father. Patrick Joseph Stowell, age 21, single, of 16 John street, Ridgeley, W. Va., is the son.

According to Patrick Aloysious Stowell, the pair got through their examinations in Baltimore satisfactorily and then went to Fort Meade. Here their troubles began. After the usual proceedings, the father was told he was to be assigned and stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia. The son was told, he would go home for five days leave and then would report to Camp Lee, Virginia, to await shipment to Camp Ord, California.

Even Dog Tags Are Wrong

When the two got together and compared notes, they discovered they are to be separated, and also that the records of the pair have been mixed.

On the father's dog tags, (that's the little identification tag soldiers wear around their necks,), the son's blood type is listed. On the son's dog tags, the father's blood type is listed. They also discovered that the shipping orders sent the father to an assignment at Lee, and the shipping orders of the son sent him to Camp Ord. But somewhere in the confusion, the records of the father have been forwarded to the California camp, and the records of the son have been sent to Camp Lee.

It's quite a puzzle. Recruiters listened patiently at the office here, checked their own records and found them all right at this end. When asked what to do about it, the local army recruiting staff just scratched their heads.

One of the officers there finally said to "take it up when you get to Camp Lee", but the father explained that he is an old soldier, knows the army well and that will be too late.

May Take Direct Action

The lieutenant said he could write a letter, but by the time it went through channels, from here to Hagerstown, to Baltimore, to the Third Service Command headquarters, to Camp Meade, etc. etc., it might take weeks to get action.

A bystander suggested that the father and son write directly to the Secretary of War, and it seemed agreed that this would be a quick way to get action, as a similar case involving twins at Cresaptown established a precedent.

Both the father and son are ex-service men and want to make a career of the army. They want to make their careers together, and claim they re-enlisted with that understanding.

The senior Stowell had a hitch in the army from 1919 to 1921. He went back into the army in 1939 and was discharged January 23, 1946. He re-enlisted again January 30, 1946, with his son. During his army career, he served in the amphibious engineers and was in a number of different camps throughout the country.

The junior Stowell was discharged November 14, 1945, after three years and four months active service in World War II. He served in Company K, Four Hundred Fourteen Infantry Regiment, One Hundred Fourth Division. He was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry as a squad leader while in Germany, and also wears the ETO ribbon with two stars, Victory ribbon, American Defense ribbon and Good Conduct ribbon. He also has the combat infantry badge.

Both the Stowells were born in Westernport, Md., but have lived in Ridgeley a number of years.

—Fifty thousand farmers in Britain have offered to take trainees under a government project for ex-servicemen.

—New Zealand, which has been importing all automobiles and truck tires, is to have three new tire manufacturing concerns.

—Eire is preparing to entertain a record number of tourists next summer.

Boy Scout Troop, No. ?, Enters Twenty-second Year of Service

Sponsored by B. and O. Y, It Is Oldest Troop in Cumberland

The year 1946 was the beginning of a new era for Boy Scout troop No. 12, sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, for January first marked the date when the troop became of age, twenty-one years. This is the oldest troop in the city, with it's first charter granted in 1925 and the charter has never lapsed in it's twenty-one years of existence.

In December 1924, the Rev. Walter B. Brook, pastor of the Southminster Presbyterian church, Third and Race streets, called a meeting of boys of the church who were of scout age. Enough boys responded to organize a scout troop with Rev. Mr. Brock as scoutmaster, Charles Price as senior patrol leader and H. Vernon Adams as scribe. The records of the first two years having been lost, only two other charter members are known to be in the city, J. Virgil Hanifin and Herman Brant.

Brock continued as scoutmaster for two years, and during that time was able to interest such civic minded men as Dr. A. H. Hawkins and the late Robert E. King and others, in organizing the Cumberland Council, Boy Scouts of America. At this time there were only two troops in the city, Troop No. 1, sponsored by the Central YMCA (this troop now non-existent), and the new troop to be known as Troop No. 2, sponsored by the church. The Rev. Mr. Brock seeing the need of scouting in this section of the city, made the troop interdenominational and Troop No. 2 was on it's way to becoming a sturdy and healthy youngster. The troop committee was A. W. McDaniels and Claude R. Woodard with W. L. Weaver as assistant scoutmaster.

Get New Scoutmaster

The year 1927 was a sad one for the troop, as the Rev. Mr. Brock was forced to resign as scoutmaster, due to ill health, but the troop was ably supervised by the new scoutmaster, Edgar L. Bucy, and his assistant H. Vernon Adams. The troop increased and Bucy continued as scoutmaster for two years when he resigned due to hours of his employment. It was during this period, 1927-29, that the Cumberland Council sponsored it's first inter-troop contest which was won by Troop No. 2, the award being a troop flag. The council was growing and Troop No. 2 was one of it's strongest units. During this period the troop committee was composed of Karl G. Perry, A. W. McDaniel and the Rev. Anthony Bamford.

Troop Sponsor Changed

The year 1929 saw the troop moved from the church and sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio Y.M.C.A. Members of the board of directors of the "Y" saw the need for scouting in that section of the city and was able to give the troop more support. H. Vernon Adams was named scoutmaster and the troop committee included A. W. McDaniel, Hugh E. McIndoe and T. E. Mewshaw.

Civic projects demanded the attention of the troop and the scout responded in fighting grass fires, helping police at parades, community chest drives and planting trees along highways. The troop grew by leaps and bounds and reregistered on time each year. January First, James W. Andrews was made troop committeeman and has served in that capacity ever since. In 1932, the troop began the annual task of helping to collect clothes and toys for the Salvation Army.

In 1933 the troop began enlarging it's leadership, when Richard D. Wagner, a registered scout since 1927, became junior assistant scoutmaster. The troop, realizing it's responsibility to the sponsoring institute, offered the services of the scouts as ushers at religious services held each Sunday in the "Y" auditorium, and the offer was accepted.

In 1934 Richard Wagner became assistant scoutmaster and in 1935 Roger Smith, a scout since 1931, became the second assistant scoutmaster as the troop had now exceeded it's membership of thirty-two boys, requiring another assistant. The year also saw one of the largest contingents of scouts from the troop, going to scout camp. Again special civic duties and good turns occupied the time of the scouts. The scoutmaster, H. Vernon Adams was appointed commissioner of the council and resigned as scoutmaster but was retained as a member of the troop by appointment to the troop committee.

Eagle Scout Heads Troop

Richard Wagner was appointed scoutmaster and the troop committee was composed of Adams, J. W. Andrews and Raymond C. Miller. Wagner was especially qualified for the duties of scoutmaster, having the highest rank in scouting, Eagle scout, and also having credits in scout leader training. Joseph W. Brown was appointed to the troop committee but due to pressure of business was only able to serve one year. David D. Mease, a registered scout of the troop since 1932, was appointed assistant Scoutmaster to replace Roger Smith who had resigned. It was at this time that the troop meeting place was moved to the Pennsylvania avenue school. Reason for this move was the overcrowded conditions at the "Y" and the possibility that the "Y" auditorium would be used for dormitories. However the troop was under the sponsorship of the "Y."

War Clouds Appear

During the next two years 1938-39, several more men were added to the troop committee namely: Charles W. Johnson, E. G. A. Snider, John T. Orndoff and T. S. Blacklin Jr. Snider was only able to serve for one year, Blacklin and Johnson for two years and Orndoff served until business reasons forced him to resign in 1944. 1940 again saw an increase in the leadership. Jacob W. Browne was appointed troop committeeman and Williiam T. Allee, a member of the troop since 1932 became assistant scoutmaster in place of David Mease. The war clouds began to gather on the horizon, and in November 1942 Richard Wagner was called into the service of the country and served as radio instructor in the officer's training school at Fort Knox. William Allee became scoutmaster until May, 1944, when he entered the Navy. Edgar L. Bucy, scoutmaster 1927-28, was appointed acting scoutmaster.

The troop continued it's patriotic duties by responding to all calls of government agencies, such as collecting aluminum, scrap paper, dispatch bearers for the OPA, book collection for the USO and distributing literature for other agencies. This was in addition to it's civic duties and other projects. By it's outstanding work in the paper drives, the troop was presented the Eisenhower Award (a shell case) and the scouts were awarded special medals.

During the twenty-one years existence of the troop, there have been over 250 boys who had at least one year's experience in this troop and quite a number have had three, four and more years service. The highest number of years service of members are: H. Vernon Adams, twenty-one years; Richard D. Wagner, eighteen years, William T. Allee, twelve years. J. W. Andrews has served as committeeman for fourteen years and Jacob W. Browne for six years. The troop has had wonderful support from it's sponsoring institution, the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA for the past seventeen years Leadership of the troop has been drawn from it's own membership since 1929.

Many of the boys who have been members have served, or are serving in the service of their country and ninety per cent of these boys have received the rating of corporal or higher and have upheld scouting traditions by their exploits of bravery and daring attested to by the ratings and medals won. This troop has an enviable record and one that any troop may well be proud to own.

At the present time the troop is still being sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, and meeting in the small auditorium of the Pennsylvania avenue school each Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All boys twelve years of age are given a cordial welcome to visit or become a member. The leadership is composed of: Edgar L. Bucy, acting scoutmaster; J. W. Andrews, Jacob W. Browne, Richard D. Wagner, William T. Allee, Rev. Robert M. Campbell and H. Vernon Adams, troop committeemen.

Tracing Titles on 116 Properties Completed

Work of the city engineering department in surveying land and tracing titles of the 116 properties which will be involved in the proposed crosstown viaduct project has been completed, Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, announced yesterday.

Rizer said that a map of the properties, showing the dimensions of each and a copy of each deed involved, will be sent within a few days to I. Alvin Pasarew, executive director of the Maryland Commission on Postwar Reconstruction Development in Baltimore.

Similar property maps and copies of deeds will be sent to Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, Rizer said. That firm recently submitted a report to the mayor and city council and the municipal planning and zoning commission on the estimated cost of the project, which has been set at $2,440,000.

The city engineer said that the material will be sent to the state commission for approval and any suggestions or requests for additional data which may be required. The commission has agreed to put up $5,000, to be matched by the city, to meet the estimated cost of $10,000 of preliminary surveying work by city engineers and those of the Baltimore firm.

Guard Rail May Be Installed On Thomas Street

Following a recent report of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, that straightening of the curve on Thomas street would cost approximately $30,000, the mayor and city council indicated that a heavy guard rail might be installed instead of carrying out the original project of eliminating the curve.

Chief of Police Oscar A. Everman reported that since the installation of a heavy guard rail at a curve on top of the Washington street hill, the rail has not even been hit and that the problem of that dangerous curve was solved satisfactorily.

A petition asking the elimination of the Thomas street curve was recently presented to the council.

A tribute to the memory of an Indian heroine was given yesterday by the Junior high social studies classes of Fort Hill high school in the regular assembly program. The play, "She Wrote Her Name There," by Mary Thurman Pyle, was an authentic, historically accurate dramatization of one of the most exciting incidents in the records of the Lewis and Clark Expedition into the Northwest Territory. The loss of the precious log kept by the explorers and its eventual recovery by Sacajawea, their faithful Indian guide, was the theme of this playlet.

Colorful atmosphere was given to the drama by special scenery made under the direction of Miss Lola Burrell. Costume and properties are in keeping with the period enacted.

The characterizations were as follows:

Captain Meriwether Lewis, Glendon Burke; Captain William Clark, Wonn Reynolds; Patrick Gass, a typical frontiersman, Stanley Murray; George Shannon, William Gorman; George Gibson; a hunter, Harold McCoy; Toussaint Charbonneau, interpreter, Frank Lisanti; York, Clark's negro servant; Ronald Rowan; Sacajawea, the Bird Woman, Janet Matlick; and the man of the expedition, Stanley Leasure, Richard Davis, John Hafer, John Ambrose, John Keller, Teddy Vansordale, Robert Spiker, Robert Mattingly, and George Higgins.

The opening exercises were conducted by Beverly Bennett with the Scripture being read by the Junior high choral club. The announcer was Joan Kilroy.

"Foreign Bride," Happy in America, Answers Critics

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Here comes one of those "foreign brides" with such pleasant things to say about this country, and such sensible ideas about these international marriages, that we're glad to print her nice letter. It was inspired by the letter signed "Disgruntled American" printed in this column some weeks ago. "Disgruntled American," you may remember, didn't want any foreign brides coming to this country, and wasn't shy about saying so. Here's what our little bride from Australia has to say:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am an Australian girl and arrived in the U.S.A. just three months ago. Every American I have met has treated me swell, and it means so much to a stranger in a new country to meet friendly people who try to make one feel at home.

"In my opinion, 'Disgruntled American' is not a very understanding type of person. Since the beginning of time, men have fought for freedom, and marrying the person they love is part of that freedom.

"I want to see friendship and understanding between America and Australia always, because we are very much alike in our way of living, though far apart. Some people fail to see that true love can exist between a foreign girl and American boy. But believe me, we are human too, and have the same heartaches as American girls when their men are away fighting.

"I waited two years to get here, and there are thousands of girls still waiting. But to wait for someone worth waiting for is something I would do again, no matter the cost.

"I was quite happy in Australia, as it is a fine country, but to be with my husband meant more to me than my country. It is not easy to leave one's home and loving family, to come to a strange land so far away, but my parents were not selfish, as they knew I would be happy here with the man of my choice.

"I guess one has to be a foreign bride to understand their feelings, but marriages like ours have as much chance of happiness as any others, because we appreciate being together after so long a time of being far apart from the men we love.

"I am very proud of my husband. He fought at Guadalcanal, Cape Gloucester and Okinawa with the United States Marines, so I can't think of anyone who deserves happiness more. After thirty-six months of jungle warfare, a man wants to settle down to a normal life once more.

"I came here with a feeling of goodwill, and I would like the American people to feel the same way toward all the girls like me. We fought the war together, so it should give us a common bond of friendship, instead of the resentment some people feel. I wish 'Disgruntled American' would think again, and try to think from our viewpoint. Maybe she would change her mind.

"A FOREIGN BRIDE."

I am sure, Little Australian, that if the foreign brides "Disgruntled American" meets in future are all like you, she'll be glad to change her mind and take pride in being the kind of American you say has made you feel so much at home.

Income Tax Primer

Short Form May Be Used if Income Last Year Was Less than $5,000

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Any person whose income was less than $5,000 in 1945 may use the short return on Form 1040.

Why have a short form when the withholding receipt is a more simplified return? Because certain taxpayers with income of less than $5,000 are not permitted to use the withholding receipt but would like a return which is easier to make out than the long form 1040.

Persons who receive more than a total of $100 income from dividends, interest, or wages that were not subject to withholding tax are not allowed to use the withholding receipt as a return. Others who cannot use the withholding receipt are those who receive income from annuities or pensions. Also those who have rental income or profits from a business or from sale or exchange of property.

Moreover, two groups of wage-earners who are allowed to use the withholding receipt will prefer to make their returns on the short form, or possibly the long form. These two groups are:

1. Persons who had travel expenses and "reimbursed expenses" in connection with their employment. They will want to deduct these items to reduce their taxable income. (There is no place on the withholding receipt to list expenses).

2. Those who desire to know the amount of their tax at once without waiting for the collector's notice on it. (When you use a withholding receipt as a return, the collector computes the tax for you. On the short form, you find your tax in the tax table on Page 4 of Form 1040. On the long form, you compute your tax by arithmetic).

There are only two kinds of expenses you may deduct when using the short form—travel expenses and "reimbursed expenses." Of course, you only deduct "reimbursed expenses" when the amount of reimbursement or allowance for expenses is included in your total income. Some companies, which give certain of their employes large expense allowances, report these allowances as part of employes' income. These employes will want to subtract these expenses from such total income to prevent being overtaxed.

The short form has the advantage of being simpler than the long form. You need not list your deductions such as taxes, interest, unusual medical expenses and charitable contributions. Instead, the short form automatically gives you deductions amounting to ten per cent of your income which result in reducing the tax.

Therefore, unless your allowable deductions are more than ten per cent of income, it will be to your benefit to use the short form instead of the long form.

However, any taxpayer whose income amounts to $5,000 or more must use the long form as a return. (Tomorrow: The long form 1040).

Airport Bonds To Be Sold

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Frederick city officials have authorized the sale of $60,000 par value serial coupon bonds for the acquisition and development of the municipal airport. Bids will be sought immediately and opened at noon March 13.

Textile Worker Will Eleci Delegates To TWUA Convention

Delegates to the national TWUA election to be held in Atlantic City April 24 to 28 will be nominated and elected at a general membership meeting of the local Wednesday, February 27, at 7:30 p. m., William B. Coleman, president of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, announced yesterday.

The number of delegates to be elected will be decided at the meeting. Fifteen delegates are usually sent by the union here, union officials said.

Three Divorces Are Awarded Here

Three divorce decrees were awarded Wednesday in circuit court.

Chief Judge William A. Huster awarded an absolute decree to William David Stalnaker, 25, 20 Bellevue street, from Denoris Mae Stalnaker. He was also awarded the custody of their 4-year-old child, David Lee Stalnaker. According to his attorney, Thomas Lohr Richards, they were married in 1940, after which he served in the navy for two years.

Associate Judge Walter C. Capper issued an absolute decree to James O. Spiker, Jr., 26, Frostburg, from Mrs. Pauline Spiker. According to his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, they were married in 1942 at Washington D. C., and they lived together until 1943. While he was in the service, Mrs. Spiker lived at the home of her parents in Piedmont. Later, she went to Baltimore and according to Spiker he hasn't heard from her since.

Another decree was awarded by Judge Huster to Carl Orndorff, 36, 950 Bedford street, from Mrs. Catherine Orndorff. According to his attorney, Ryan, they were married in 1938 and separated in 1941 while they were living at Seneca, W. Va.

McKeldin To Give Talk in Frostburg Sunday Morning

Baltimore Mayor Will Be Speaker at Observance of "Layman's Day"

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 21—Theodore R. McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, will be the guest speaker Sunday at 10:45 a. m. at First Methodist church, the occasion being the observance of "layman's day." The topic of Mayor McKeldin's address will be "Our Timeless Mandate To Serve, To Seek, To Save."

Special music will be sung by the church choir and the men's chorus under the direction of Arthur Thomas. Miss Mabel Myers will play the organ accompaniments. J. Harry Teter will be in charge of the ushers and the reception committee.

A special effort is being made to get the men of the church to attend the service. A. T. Bond is chairman of the membership committee and H. Reford Aldridge is superintendent of the adult division. Thomas Elias is superintendent of the adult department.

Walter D. Plummer, lay leader, will preside at the service Sunday morning. Mayor McKeldin will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elias during his visit here.

Catlin To Speak

St. John's Episcopal Church announces that at the 11 a. m. service next Sunday, Mr. John H. Catlin, chairman of the diocesan lay readers' council, will describe the havoc wrought by the Japanese to the churche's work in the Philippines, where churches, rectories, schools, hospitals and the stately cathedral in Manila were destroyed. No collection for the work of reconstruction will be taken up at this service.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Carter, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Carter, 72 Beall street, and the late Robert L. Carter, to John Freeman Bethman, son of Mrs. Lucy Bethman and the late Charles F. Bethman, Easton, Pa.

The ceremony was performed Monday, February 11, in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, Easton, by the Rev. Frederick W. Shaffer, pastor. The attendants were Darl and Frances Bethman, brother and sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Bethman, a graduate of Beall high school and of Frostburg State Teachers' college, 1939, has been teaching at Dundalk, Md., for seven years. Her husband, who was a sergeant with the amphibious engineers for twenty months in New Guinea and the Philippines, returned to the states early in February and later received his honorable discharge from the service. Prior to his induction he was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company.

The couple will reside temporarily at Mt. Ponoco, Pa.

Edith B. Coleman Becomes the Bride Of M. L. Shumaker

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Feb. 21 — Thomas Coleman announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Edith Byrd Coleman, Reading, Pa., to Ensign Merle L. Shumaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shumaker, Keystone street, Meyersdale. The ceremony was performed Sunday, February 10, in the Lutheran church, Reading, Pa., by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Druckenmiller, using the double-ring ceremony.

The bridegroom was attired in full-dress navy uniform, and his bride wore a pink gown with brown accessories, and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lester Chilton, was matron of honor and was attired in blue with a corsage of rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Lester Chilton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Chilton.

Ensign Shumaker is well known in Meyersdale, where he grew to manhood, and a graduate of the local high school. He enlisted in the navy and later qualified to enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, from which he graduated last June with the rank of ensign. He also has more than six years to his credit in the navy.

His bride is employed in the post office at Charleston, S. C., as civil service inspector. Ensign Shumaker was stationed on a ship in Charleston harbor, which is being decommissioned there. He will join another ship in Norfolk, Va., after a ten-day delay en route, during which time he and his bride will spend their honeymoon and visit his home in Meyersdale.

Brief Items

Miss Mary Louise Hady will arrive here Saturday from Chicago for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hady, Large street. Miss Hady has been promoted to the position of head nurse of normal and surgical obstetrics in the Cook County General hospital, Chicago. Miss Hady is also attending morning classes at Chicago university, upon the completion of which she will be awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing Education.

J. W. Tressler, ministerial student at Grace Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana, who for the past week was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tressler, Beachly street, returned Sunday to resume his studies.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick Appel, Youngstown, Ohio, spent the past week as guests of the former's grandfather, William H. Deeter and other relatives and friends in Meyersdale. Sgt. Appel has just returned from spending over two years in the South Pacific.

Certificates Will Be Given Servicemen

A certificate of appreciation for service to our country will be presented to each serviceman on the Sunday School honor roll of Calvary Evangelical church, Sunday evening, February 24, at the regular worship service at 7:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Walter, will deliver the sermon.

Following the service, all veterans and families will meet for fellowship and refreshments at the parsonage. Calvary Evangelical Sunday School has sixty-eight stars on the service flag, three of which are gold stars.

Commissioners Urged To Accept Hospital Bequest

Herman Indicates Formal Acceptance May Come within Six Weeks

By GEORGE H. HAUST

OAKLAND, Feb. 21 — Considerable support was tendered the county commissioners at their meeting this week, in urging them to accept the bequest of $175,000 for the construction and equipping of a hospital in Oakland, thus assuring the members of that body that the responsibility of agreeing that the taxpayers will maintain and support the hospital in the future will not rest upon their shoulders only, but upon a large number of the citizens of the county.

It was indicated by John W. Herman, president, that formal acceptance would be made within the next six weeks, but before that is done the commissioners signified they would like to study the proposal and secure information regarding maintenance and operating costs of other hospitals, to avoid entering into any agreement blindly and without due consideration.

The commissioners named a committee to make a study of the problem and make a report to them within thirty days. The committee includes Lawrence M. Fraley, mayor of Oakland, as chairman; Mrs. E. Z. Tower, county chairman of the Red Cross; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner; Senator Bernard I. Gonder, Dr. A. E. Mance, George H. Hanst, Oakland; Lester Yutzy, Crellin; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; Henry M. Speicher, Accident; Quincy A. Murphy, Friendsville; and Milton Pritts, Kitzmiller. Fraley said he would call a meeting of the committee in the near future.

Town Donates Ground

At a special meeting of the mayor and town council, legal preparations were made for providing the land for the hospital site.

A motion was made by Mayor Fraley, seconded by Harry L. Stemple, that the town of Oakland agree to deed over to Garrett county, for a consideration of $1, the city park, known as the Helbig property, to be used as a location for a hospital, to be built from the gift of money by the late George W. Loar. Conveyance will be made at the time the project is assured. This motion was unanimously carried. The results of the meeting were conveyed to the commissioners by letter.

Others Offer Funds

Oakland Lodge No. 786, Loyal Order of Moose, at a meeting on Sunday, agreed to donate $1,000 for the hospital, asking that the money be used for the children's room (to be called Moose Memorial) and to be used as designated, to be given when the members are assured that the hospital will be erected.

A letter from Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, stated the lodge noted with satisfaction the offer in the will.

"We publicly urge the county commissioners to accept the money and we wish to furnish a room or some piece of equipment as may be decided upon at time of completion, as a memorial to our late brothers who gave their lives to our country during World Wars I and II," the letter stated.

The commissioners also received a letter from the Mountain Top Ministerial association stating that the group regards "the action of the late George W. Loar a splendid example of the Christian way of life. We strongly urge prompt action to accept this bequest. We pledge our whole-hearted support to a hospital project and will cooperate to the fullest extent."

Many individuals went on record as urging the acceptance of the hospital and promising full cooperation in the future. They include A. G. Hesen, for the American Legion post; Arthur H. Green, for the town of Swanton; A. G. Thayer, for the Loyal Order of Moose; Harry E. Rice and Herman Schmidt for school bus operators; Elwood Glotfelty for the Bittinger community; Spencer Graham for the Woodmen of the World; A. G. Gortner for Knights of Pythias; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner for the Oakland Rotary club; S. F. Hamill, Jr., and Don Browning for the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Harold H. Harned for the Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions club; Edward A. Shaffer for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Knights of Columbus; E. R. Jones and J. M. Jarboe as executors of the will of George W. Loar; Emeric Dusic for the elementary P-TA, and others from Bittinger, McHenry, Friendsville, Accident, Crellin, Kitzmiller and other communities.

The commissioners were officially notified of the bequest by Jones and Jarboe, executors, who also urged the acceptance of the fund.

"We believe this matter should be given your early and most serious consideration and the proper steps taken to make sure that Garrett county gets the benefit of this bequest," they stated. "Both as executors and as citizens interested in the welfare of its people, we urge you to accept the provisions of this will and pass the necessary resolution at such time as you deem it advisable . . . We are confident that people throughout the county will want you to accept the bequest and carry out its provisions."

Tax collections during February are "good," according to J. Edward Helbig, county treasurer. Total collections up to February 19 amounted to $105,389.57. This figure

Moorefield Committee Discusses Plans for Constructing Hospital

Possibility of Securing State or Federal Aid To Be Investigated

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 21—A seven man committee composed of S. L. Dodd, Albert Leatherman, C. M. Bennett, C. B. Hiett, R. E. Fisher, R. J Bean and Irvin Bowman will work towards securing a hospital for the South Branch Valley and the first meeting was scheduled for Tuesday night in County Agent Dodd's fofice.

Foster E. Arnold, president of the Lions club at Moorefield named the above committee to carry out the plans with the backing of the Lions organization. The regular Lions meeting was held Monday night at the Hotel McNeill.

J. D. Anderson reported that work on the town recreational park at the bulwarks will start immediately instead of waiting until summer.

Entertainment for the civic club meeting was provided by Stanley Hawse, Irvin Bowman and R. S. Dispanet signing as the Lions club trio. It was announced that Senator R. J. Bean would sing a solo at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Films on soil conservation were shown at the meeting.

The special committee of the club met with Dr. G. E. Hartle in County Agent S. L. Dodd's office to discuss the possibilities of a hospital for the South Branch Valley counties.

To provide adequate facilities, for economy in construction and to utilize the hospital staff and nursing facilities a forty or fifty bed hospital was discussed. Based on population figures of two and a half to three patients per thousand population for the area which the proposed hospital will serve the committee again arrived at the forty to fifty bed hospital figure.

An immediate survey of the possibility of state or federal aid, possible sites, methods of raising funds and general information on hospital plans and construction will be made by the committee.

It was pointed out that a hospital site should be at least five acres and preferably ten. That the water supply should be adequate, the road approach safe and suitable facilities for disposal of sewage. Close to but not in a town and since the patients would for the most part be rural people the conditions for the most part should be rural.

The committee will meet again in two weeks.

P-T. A. Has Meeting

Miss May Gwen Matthews, teacher in Moorefield high school, was in charge of the program at the Parent-Teacher meeting held at the graded school this week.

Following the theme of the child and influences which affect him, the program was on music and the child and Miss Mathews brought out how important it was that children be taught to love and appreciate good music. She gave a musical demonstration, playing selections which exemplified the points she was making and Miss Moyers assisted her by singing several selections. She concluded her interesting remarks by leading the members of the association in singing several old favorites.

Miss Matthews caused active discussion by asking her listeners what selection they would chose if they knew that the remainder of their lives they could hear only one piece of music.

Little business was discussed but Clyde Shanholtzer announced that the new lights in the graded school were practically all installed. Mrs. Stickley stated that plans were under way for a home talent production for the purpose of raising the balance of the money promised by P-T. A.

Accepts Pastorate

The Rev. Allen Jones, former pastor of the Moorefield Presbyterian church before entering the chaplaincy of his church in the United States Navy, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Presbyterian church in Romney. Rotarians Observe 41st Anniversary Of Organization

Dr. E. E. Church Gives History of International at Keyser Meeting

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 21 — The Rotary Club of Keyser today celebrated the forty-first anniversary of the founding of the international Rotary organization at the club's regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. Temple.

W. B. Woolf, president of the local club presided; Dr. E. E. Church, past president, in outling the history of the organization, stated that first Rotary club in the world was organized in Chicago, by Paul P. Harris, a young lawyer, on February 23, 1905. The name Rotary was chosen because the meetings of the group were held in rotation in business offices of the members.

From that start forty-one years ago, Rotary has spread until today sixty-six nations are represented in Rotary International, with 5,641 Rotary Clubs and a membership of 260,000 business and professional executives. World War II disrupted Rotary in many of the Axis nations, but in the Allied nations it continued to function, and now that the war is over, Rotary is again functioning in Belgium, France, Norway and the Netherlands; and in the Philippines and other wartorn areas it is taking on new life.

Wherever Rotary is, it is found aiding programs of community interest; working in drives for Red Cross funds, community chests, bond sales, U. S. O. and many other kindred enterprises. In Keyser Rotary is especially interested in Boy Scout work along with the other activities already mentioned.

In speaking of the local club, President Woolf stated that the Keyser Rotary club was organized in May, 1921, with the late Dr. Walter M. Babb, as its first president. The club now has fifty-one members.

Guests at the meeting today, Dr. William A. Flick and Prof. A. G. Springer, representing the local Lion's Club; William W. Wolf, representing the local Yeoman's Club, and Rotarians Dr. Whitworth, George Boyd and Raymond Hudson of Piedmont.

McKeldin To Give Talk in Frostburg Sunday Morning

Baltimore Mayor Will Be Speaker at Observance of "Layman's Day"

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 21—Theodore R. McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, will be the guest speaker Sunday at 10:45 a. m. at First Methodist church, the occasion being the observance of "layman's day." The topic of Mayor McKeldin's address will be "Our Timeless Mandate To Serve, To Seek, To Save."

Special music will be sung by the church choir and the men's chorus under the direction of Arthur Thomas. Miss Mabel Myers will play the organ accompaniments. [illegible]. Harry Teter will be in charge of the ushers and the reception committee.

A special effort is being made to get the men of the church to attend the service. A. T. Bond is chairman of the membership committee and H. Reford Aldridge is superintendent of the adult division. Thomas Elias is superintendent of the adult department.

Walter D. Plummer, lay leader, will preside at the service Sunday morning. Mayor McKeldin will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elias during his visit here.

Catlin To Speak

St. John's Episcopal Church announces that at the 11 a. m. service next Sunday, Mr. John H. Catlin, chairman of the diocesan lay readers' council, will describe the havoc wrought by the Japanese to the churche's work in the Philippines, where churches, rectories, schools, hospitals and the stately cathedral in Manila were destroyed. No collection for the work of reconstruction will be taken up at this service.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Carter, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Carter, 72 Beall street, and the late Robert L. Carter, to John Freeman Bethman, son of Mrs. Lucy Bethman and the late Charles F. Bethman, Easton, Pa.

The ceremony was performed Monday, February 11, in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, Easton, by the Rev. Frederick W. Shaffer, pastor. The attendants were Darl and Frances Bethman, brother and sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Bethman, a graduate of Beall high school and of Frostburg State Teachers' college, 1939, has been teaching at Dundalk, Md., for seven years. Her husband, who was a sergeant with the amphibious engineers for twenty months in New Guinea and the Philippines, returned to the states early in February and later received his honorable discharge from the service. Prior to his induction he was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company.

The couple will reside temporarily at Mt. Ponoco, Pa.

Edith B. Coleman Becomes the Bride Of M. L. Shumaker

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Feb. 21 — Thomas Coleman announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Edith Byrd Coleman, Reading, Pa., to Ensign Merle L. Shumaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shumaker, Keystone street, Meyersdale. The ceremony was performed Sunday, February 10, in the Lutheran church, Reading, Pa., by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Druckenmiller, using the double-ring ceremony.

The bridegroom was attired in full-dress navy uniform, and his bride wore a pink gown with brown accessories, and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lester Chilton, was matron of honor and was attired in blue with a corsage of rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Lester Chilton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Chilton.

Ensign Shumaker is well known in Meyersdale, where he grew to manhood, and a graduate of the local high school. He enlisted in the navy and later qualified to enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, from which he graduated last June with the rank of ensign. He also has more than six years to his credit in the navy.

His bride is employed in the post office at Charleston, S. C., as civil service inspector. Ensign Shumaker was stationed on a ship in Charleston harbor, which is being decommissioned there. He will join another ship in Norfolk, Va., after a ten-day delay en route, during which time he and his bride will spend their honeymoon and visit his home in Meyersdale.

Brief Items

Miss Mary Louise Hady will arrive here Saturday from Chicago for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hady, Large street. Miss Hady has been promoted to the position of head nurse of normal and surgical obstetrics in the Cook County General hospital, Chicago. Miss Hady is also attending morning classes at Chicago university, upon the completion of which she will be awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing Education.

J. W. Tressler, ministerial student at Grace Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana, who for the past week was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tressler, Beachly street, returned Sunday to resume his studies.

M-Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick Appel, Youngstown, Ohio, spent the past week as guests of the former's grandfather, William H. Deeter and other relatives and friends in Meyersdale. Sgt. Appel has just returned from spending over two years in the South Pacific.

Certificates Will Be Given Servicemen

A certificate of appreciation for service to our country will be presented to each serviceman on the Sunday School honor roll of Calvary Evangelical church, Sunday evening, February 24, at the regular worship service at 7:30 p. m. The pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Walter, will deliver the sermon.

Following the service, all veterans and families will meet for fellowship and refreshments at the parsonage. Calvary Evangelical Sunday School has sixty-eight stars on the service flag, three of which are gold stars.

Commissioners Urged To Accept Hospital Bequest

Herman Indicates Formal Acceptance May Come within Six Weeks

By GEORGE H. HAUST

OAKLAND, Feb. 21 — Considerable support was tendered the county commissioners at their meeting this week, in urging them to accept the bequest of $175,000 for the construction and equipping of a hospital in Oakland, thus assuring the members of that body that the responsibility of agreeing that the taxpayers will maintain and support the hospital in the future will not rest upon their shoulders only, but upon a large number of the citizens of the county.

It was indicated by John W. Herman, president, that formal acceptance would be made within the next six weeks, but before that is done the commissioners signified they would like to study the proposal and secure information regarding maintenance and operating costs of other hospitals, to avoid entering into any agreement blindly and without due consideration.

The commissioners named a committee to make a study of the problem and make a report to them within thirty days. The committee includes Lawrence M. Fraley, mayor of Oakland, as chairman; Mrs. E. Z. Tower, county chairman of the Red Cross; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner; Senator Bernard I. Gonder, Dr. A. E. Mance, George H. Hanst, Oakland; Lester Yutzy, Crellin; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; Henry M. Speicher, Accident; Quincy A. Murphy, Friendsville; and Milton Pritts, Kitzmiller. Fraley said he would call a meeting of the committee in the near future.

Town Donates Ground

At a special meeting of the mayor and town council, legal preparations were made for providing the land for the hospital site.

A motion was made by Mayor Fraley, seconded by Harry L. Stemple, that the town of Oakland agree to deed over to Garrett county, for a consideration of $1, the city park, known as the Helbig property, to be used as a location for a hospital, to be built from the gift of money by the late George W. Loar. Conveyance will be made at the time the project is assured. This motion was unanimously carried. The results of the meeting were conveyed to the commissioners by letter.

Others Offer Funds

Oakland Lodge No. 786, Loyal Order of Moose, at a meeting on Sunday, agreed to donate $1,000 for the hospital, asking that the money be used for the children's room (to be called Moose Memorial) and to be used as designated, to be given when the members are assured that the hospital will be erected.

A letter from Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, stated the lodge noted with satisfaction the offer in the will.

"We publicly urge the county commissioners to accept the money and we wish to furnish a room or some piece of equipment as may be decided upon at time of completion, as a memorial to our late brothers who gave their lives to our country during World Wars I and II," the letter stated.

The commissioners also received a letter from the Mountain Top Ministerial association stating that the group regards "the action of the late George W. Loar a splendid example of the Christian way of life. We strongly urge prompt action to accept this bequest. We pledge our whole-hearted support to a hospital project and will cooperate to the fullest extent."

Many individuals went on record as urging the acceptance of the hospital and promising full cooperation in the future. They include A. G. Hesen, for the American Legion post; Arthur H. Green, for the town of Swanton; A. G. Thayer, for the Loyal Order of Moose; Harry E. Rice and Herman Schmidt for school bus operators; Elwood Glotfelty for the Bittinger community; Spencer Graham for the Woodmen of the World; A. G. Gortner for Knights of Pythias; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner for the Oakland Rotary club; S. F. Hamill, Jr., and Don Browning for the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Harold H. Harned for the Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions club; Edward A. Shaffer for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Knights of Columbus; E. R. Jones and J. M. Jarboe as executors of the will of George W. Loar; Emeric Dusic for the elementary P-TA, and others from Bittinger, McHenry, Friendsville, Accident, Crellin, Kitzmiller and other communities.

The commissioners were officially notified of the bequest by Jones and Jarboe, executors, who also urged the acceptance of the fund.

"We believe this matter should be given your early and most serious consideration and the proper steps taken to make sure that Garrett county gets the benefit of this bequest," they stated. "Both as executors and as citizens interested in the welfare of its people, we urge you to accept the provisions of this will and pass the necessary resolution at such time as you deem it advisable . . . We are confident that people throughout the county will want you to accept the bequest and carry out its provisions."

Tax collections during February are "good," according to J. Edward Helbig, county treasurer. Total collections up to February 19 amounted to $105,389.57. This figure

Moorefield Committee Discusses Plans for Constructing Hospital

Possibility of Securing State or Federal Aid To Be Investigated

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 21—A seven man committee composed of S. L. Dodd, Albert Leatherman, C. M. Bennett, C. B. Hiett, R. E. Fisher, R. J Bean and Irvin Bowman will work towards securing a hospital for the South Branch Valley and the first meeting was scheduled for Tuesday night in County Agent Dodd's fofice.

Foster E. Arnold, president of the Lions club at Moorefield named the above committee to carry out the plans with the backing of the Lions organization. The regular Lions meeting was held Monday night at the Hotel McNeill.

J. D. Anderson reported that work on the town recreational park at the bulwarks will start immediately instead of waiting until summer.

Entertainment for the civic club meeting was provided by Stanley Hawse, Irvin Bowman and R. S. Dispanet signing as the Lions club trio. It was announced that Senator R. J. Bean would sing a solo at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Films on soil conservation were shown at the meeting.

The special committee of the club met with Dr. G. E. Hartle in County Agent S. L. Dodd's office to discuss the possibilities of a hospital for the South Branch Valley counties.

To provide adequate facilities, for economy in construction and to utilize the hospital staff and nursing facilities a forty or fifty bed hospital was discussed. Based on population figures of two and a half to three patients per thousand population for the area which the proposed hospital will serve the committee again arrived at the forty to fifty bed hospital figure.

An immediate survey of the possibility of state or federal aid, possible sites, methods of raising funds and general information on hospital plans and construction will be made by the committee.

It was pointed out that a hospital site should be at least five acres and preferably ten. That the water supply should be adequate, the road approach safe and suitable facilities for disposal of sewage. Close to but not in a town and since the patients would for the most part be rural people the conditions for the most part should be rural.

The committee will meet again in two weeks.

P-T. A. Has Meeting

Miss May Gwen Matthews, teacher in Moorefield high school, was in charge of the program at the Parent-Teacher meeting held at the graded school this week.

Following the theme of the child and influences which affect him, the program was on music and the child and Miss Mathews brought out how important it was that children be taught to love and appreciate good music. She gave a musical demonstration, playing selections which exemplified the points she was making and Miss Moyers assisted her by singing several selections. She concluded her interesting remarks by leading the members of the association in singing several old favorites.

Miss Matthews caused active discussion by asking her listeners what selection they would chose if they knew that the remainder of their lives they could hear only one piece of music.

Little business was discussed but Clyde Shanholtzer announced that the new lights in the graded school were practically all installed. Mrs. Stickley stated that plans were under way for a home talent production for the purpose of raising the balance of the money promised by P-T. A.

Accepts Pastorate

The Rev. Allen Jones, former pastor of the Moorefield Presbyterian church before entering the chaplaincy of his church in the United States Navy, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Presbyterian church in Romney. Rotarians Observe 41st Anniversary Of Organization

Dr. E. E. Church Gives History of International at Keyser Meeting

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 21 — The Rotary Club of Keyser today celebrated the forty-first anniversary of the founding of the international Rotary organization at the club's regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. Temple.

W. B. Woolf, president of the local club presided; Dr. E. E. Church, past president, in outling the history of the organization, stated that first Rotary club in the world was organized in Chicago, by Paul P. Harris, a young lawyer, on February 23, 1905. The name Rotary was chosen because the meetings of the group were held in rotation in business offices of the members.

From that start forty-one years ago, Rotary has spread until today sixty-six nations are represented in Rotary International, with 5,641 Rotary Clubs and a membership of 260,000 business and professional executives. World War II disrupted Rotary in many of the Axis nations, but in the Allied nations it continued to function, and now that the war is over, Rotary is again functioning in Belgium, France, Norway and the Netherlands; and in the Philippines and other wartorn areas it is taking on new life.

Wherever Rotary is, it is found aiding programs of community interest; working in drives for Red Cross funds, community chests, bond sales, U. S. O. and many other kindred enterprises. In Keyser Rotary is especially interested in Boy Scout work along with the other activities already mentioned.

In speaking of the local club, President Woolf stated that the Keyser Rotary club was organized in May, 1921, with the late Dr. Walter M. Babb, as its first president. The club now has fifty-one members.

Guests at the meeting today, Dr. William A. Flick and Prof. A. G. Springer, representing the local Lion's Club; William W. Wolf, representing the local Yeoman's Club, and Rotarians Dr. Whitworth, George Boyd and Raymond Hudson of Piedmont.

Mineral County Bar Eulogizes Dead Members

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 21—The Mineral County Bar Association met in the circuit court room on Wednesday afternoon to honor the memory of William MacDonald, fifty years a member of the association, who died June 1, 1945; Robert McVeigh Drane, thirty-eight years a member, who died November 28, 1945, and Richard Adams Welch, forty-six years a member, who died January 30, 1946.

Ernest A. See, judge of Mineral County Circuit Court, presided and in stating the purpose of the meeting said that this is something new in the history of the Bar association; that though through the years, members had died, one by one, no such expression of honor and sympathy had been manifest.

Records Are Reviewed

H. Gassaway Shores, third oldest member of the bar, and intimately associated with William MacDonald, was the first to speak. In commenting on the life William MacDonald, he spoke of him as a young man, laboring in the coal mines of the Elk Garden section of Mineral county; told of how he read law while working as a miner; and how he saved money enough to complete his law course in West Virginia university. He told of how he struggled as a young lawyer to get started in his profession and how through the years he grew in that profession until he stood well toward the top, in the estimation of his associates.

Emory Tyler, fifth oldest member of the bar, and president of the association, gave the eulogy for Robert McVeigh Drane. He spoke of the many fine traits as a lawyer possessed by Judge Drane both as a practicing attorney and as a judge upon the bench. Drane, a native of Maryland, came as a lad to Piedmont where he grew up. He was a graduate of Piedmont high school, and received his law training in West Virginia university. He was a member of the Episcopal church and was affiliated with several fraternal and civic organizations.

It was quite fitting that Harry K. Drane should deliver the eulogy for Richard Adams Welch, for they were classmates in the university, graduating together forty-six years ago. In speaking of "Dick" Welch, Mr. Drane stated that the attachment between them had stood the test of years, that at no time in their long association in school and in their chosen profession, was there any semblance of a rift in their close comradeship. As a young man Welch was interested in athletics and sports and never ceased to enjoy them until ill health forced him to relinquish some of his activities.

He was a native of Keyser, received his early schooling in the local schools, and like MacDonald and Drane he too received his legal training in West Virginia university. As a lawyer he stood well toward the top among his associates.

Visiting Attorneys Present

The families of the deceased members were invited to attend the ceremonial. Mrs. Richard Adams Welch and her daughter, Mrs. Earl K. Hess were present. A letter from Mrs. MacDonald, Hollan College, Va., was read, expressing her appreciation for the invitation, and her regrets that she could not attend. Mrs. Drane who is in Baltimore could not be present.

Members of the local bar attending were J. Clark Bright, Harry K. Drane, Ruth Tyler Martin, Vernon E. Rankin, Katharine Rankin, Lester Reynolds, N. Howard Rogers, Ernest A. See, H. Gassoway Shores, James H. Swadley, Jr., Harry R. Taylor and Emory L. Tyler.

Visiting attorneys were R. D. and Dean Heironimous, Tucker county; Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, H. Gus Muntsing and Ralph J. Bean, Hardy county.

Attorney R. D. Heironimous made a few remarks commenting on his long relationship with the three attorneys whose memory was honored by the convocation.

It came out in the remarks of Tyler that during his career of thirty-four years practicing before the court in Mineral county, that in addition to the men honored today, seven other members of Mineral County Bar Association, have died. They are William C. Clayton, O. A. Hood, W. H. Griffith, Frank C. Reynolds, Judge F. M. Reynolds, Harry G Fisher and Charles N. Firnell.

Addition Is Planned

SALISBURY, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Salisbury city council announced it planned to study possibilities of erecting an addition to the Salisbury fire department headquarters to house the police department.

Albers Will Address Townsend Clubs Here

Townsend clubs of Cumberland and vicinity will hold their monthly mass meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Queen City hotel ballroom.

The guest speaker will be Wayne B. Albers, a member of the Washington legislative staff, and also regional director for the states of Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. Albers will come here direct from Washington and will be able to give a complete analysis on the Calhoun report on social security legislation. He will also speak in the interest of organized labor and the Townsend insurance plan.

Radcliffe Is Named

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP)—Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md), who has been connected with the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland since 1913, has been elected chairman of that company's executive committee.

$520.82 Reported In March of Dimes Drive in Paw Paw

By MRS. J. C. SNYDER

PAW PAW, W. Va., Feb. 21—A total of $520.82 has been raised in the Paw Paw area in the March of Dimes campaign, it was announced recently.

Among the events which were held to raise money for the drive were square dances sponsored by the Consolidated and Appalachian Orchard Companies; a dance held in the high school auditorium; and a game party sponsored by the local Parent-Teacher association. Collections from coin boxes placed in schools and business places also aided in raising that amount.

Mineral County Bar Eulogizes Dead Members

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 21—The Mineral County Bar Association met in the circuit court room on Wednesday afternoon to honor the memory of William MacDonald, fifty years a member of the association, who died June 1, 1945; Robert McVeigh Drane, thirty-eight years a member, who died November 28, 1945, and Richard Adams Welch, forty-six years a member, who died January 30, 1946.

Ernest A. See, judge of Mineral County Circuit Court, presided and in stating the purpose of the meeting said that this is something new in the history of the Bar association; that though through the years, members had died, one by one, no such expression of honor and sympathy had been manifest.

Records Are Reviewed

H. Gassaway Shores, third oldest member of the bar, and intimately associated with William MacDonald, was the first to speak. In commenting on the life William MacDonald, he spoke of him as a young man, laboring in the coal mines of the Elk Garden section of Mineral county; told of how he read law while working as a miner; and how he saved money enough to complete his law course in West Virginia university. He told of how he struggled as a young lawyer to get started in his profession and how through the years he grew in that profession until he stood well toward the top, in the estimation of his associates.

Emory Tyler, fifth oldest member of the bar, and president of the association, gave the eulogy for Robert McVeigh Drane. He spoke of the many fine traits as a lawyer possessed by Judge Drane both as a practicing attorney and as a judge upon the bench. Drane, a native of Maryland, came as a lad to Piedmont where he grew up. He was a graduate of Piedmont high school, and received his law training in West Virginia university. He was a member of the Episcopal church and was affiliated with several fraternal and civic organizations.

It was quite fitting that Harry K. Drane should deliver the eulogy for Richard Adams Welch, for they were classmates in the university, graduating together forty-six years ago. In speaking of "Dick" Welch, Mr. Drane stated that the attachment between them had stood the test of years, that at no time in their long association in school and in their chosen profession, was there any semblance of a rift in their close comradeship. As a young man Welch was interested in athletics and sports and never ceased to enjoy them until ill health forced him to relinquish some of his activities.

He was a native of Keyser, received his early schooling in the local schools, and like MacDonald and Drane he too received his legal training in West Virginia university. As a lawyer he stood well toward the top among his associates.

Visiting Attorneys Present

The families of the deceased members were invited to attend the ceremonial. Mrs. Richard Adams Welch and her daughter, Mrs. Earl K. Hess were present. A letter from Mrs. MacDonald, Hollan College, Va., was read, expressing her appreciation for the invitation, and her regrets that she could not attend. Mrs. Drane who is in Baltimore could not be present.

Members of the local bar attending were J. Clark Bright, Harry K. Drane, Ruth Tyler Martin, Vernon E. Rankin, Katharine Rankin, Lester Reynolds, N. Howard Rogers, Ernest A. See, H. Gassoway Shores, James H. Swadley, Jr., Harry R. Taylor and Emory L. Tyler.

Visiting attorneys were R. D. and Dean Heironimous, Tucker county; Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, H. Gus Muntsing and Ralph J. Bean, Hardy county.

Attorney R. D. Heironimous made a few remarks commenting on his long relationship with the three attorneys whose memory was honored by the convocation.

PE Steam Plant At Keyser Is Being Dismantled

A Cumberland scrap dealer is dismantling the steam plant of the Potomac Edison Company at Keyser, W. Va., as the plant has only been used three times since 1940 to generate electricity.

The destruction of the plant came about as a result of PE's decision to abandon the Keyser steam plant as an electric generating station. Bids on the equipment contained therein were invited, and the high bidder for "the works" was the Cumberland scrap dealer. Thus is removed from the Keyser scene a plant which dates back to 1896 when the B. & O. Railroad sold the property on which it stands.

Plant Inefficient

PE operating department people explain that the ancient and obsolete generating equipment at the Keyser plant has made it a highly inefficient and expensive one to operate, even for so-called "stand-by service." For that reason it has been operated only once in the last two years and only twice in the three years before that. In those three times since 1940 the boilers were fired and the machines turned over only for the period of time necessary for testing.

Although the Keyser plant's equipment was rated as capable of an output of 500 kw, actually the most that it could generate was a strained 400 kw. That 400 kw would not begin to supply current for the town of Keyser, even on Sunday when industrial needs are the lowest.

The building of the 33,000 v transmission line to Keyser from Frostburg made the use of the Keyser plant very infrequent and then only in case of an extreme emergency. Since the building of the second 33,000 v transmission line to Keyser—from Romney, in 1940—it has never been necessary to call upon the plant for output, even in an emergency.

Installed In 1923

PE records show that the present steam boilers and the turbo-generator for the plant were installed in the years 1923-24. The boilers had been built in an Atlantic coast shipyard for small merchant ships during World War I, but were never used for that purpose. They were bought from the United States Shipping Board. The turbo-generator, originally manufactured in 1914, was purchased second-hand from the Shippensburg (Pa.) Light Company.

Meanwhile the Potomac Edison Company announces that paper work on the planning for the installation of the $4,000,000 generating unit at the PE's Williamsport steam plant has progressed rapidly. The construction firm of Sanderson and Porter of New York will have charge of the work. The same firm built the Cumberland and Williamsport high pressure steam plants. It is believed construction may be started about April 1.

LOSE UGLY POUNDS FAST WITHOUT HUNGER MISERY!

Why try to regain a trim, youthful figure the hard way—why make yourself miserable trying to starve yourself thinner—torturing yourself with painful and possibly injurious exercises—or taking chances on harmful reducing drugs! You'll be amazed at how easy and pleasant it is for most people who are burdened and discouraged with dangerous excess weight to lose as much as three to five pounds a week the modern, harmless Tremett Way.

Tremett Tastes As Good As Malted Milk. Helps Prevent Hunger-Pangs While Reducing!

Most people who determine to take off unsightly poundage—and keep it off—find it next to impossible to resist fattening foods long enough to insure results. But when Tremett, the amazing food supplement, is taken according to directions, the urge to "cheat" on reducing diets is no longer a temptation. The suffering and misery of reducing is banished! For Tremett helps keep you satisfied and filled—and contains the necessary minerals and vitamins to normally sustain those on restricted diets. And Tremett tastes as good as a soda fountain drink! It's actually delicious!

Results — Or Money Back In Full!

Tremett must give you the results you seek—easier, more pleasantly—and within 30 days—or your money will be refunded in full. There is only one genuine Tremett. Accept no "just as good" substitute

PE Steam Plant At Keyser Is Being Dismantled

A Cumberland scrap dealer is dismantling the steam plant of the Potomac Edison Company at Keyser, W. Va., as the plant has only been used three times since 1940 to generate electricity.

The destruction of the plant came about as a result of PE's decision to abandon the Keyser steam plant as an electric generating station. Bids on the equipment contained therein were invited, and the high bidder for "the works" was the Cumberland scrap dealer. Thus is removed from the Keyser scene a plant which dates back to 1896 when the B. & O. Railroad sold the property on which it stands.

Plant Inefficient

PE operating department people explain that the ancient and obsolete generating equipment at the Keyser plant has made it a highly inefficient and expensive one to operate, even for so-called "stand-by service." For that reason it has been operated only once in the last two years and only twice in the three years before that. In those three times since 1940 the boilers were fired and the machines turned over only for the period of time necessary for testing.

Although the Keyser plant's equipment was rated as capable of an output of 500 kw, actually the most that it could generate was a strained 400 kw. That 400 kw would not begin to supply current for the town of Keyser, even on Sunday when industrial needs are the lowest.

The building of the 33,000 v transmission line to Keyser from Frostburg made the use of the Keyser plant very infrequent and then only in case of an extreme emergency. Since the building of the second 33,000 v transmission line to Keyser—from Romney, in 1940—it has never been necessary to call upon the plant for output, even in an emergency.

Installed In 1923

PE records show that the present steam boilers and the turbo-generator for the plant were installed in the years 1923-24. The boilers had been built in an Atlantic coast shipyard for small merchant ships during World War I, but were never used for that purpose. They were bought from the United States Shipping Board. The turbo-generator, originally manufactured in 1914, was purchased second-hand from the Shippensburg (Pa.) Light Company.

Meanwhile the Potomac Edison Company announces that paper work on the planning for the installation of the $4,000,000 generating unit at the PE's Williamsport steam plant has progressed rapidly. The construction firm of Sanderson and Porter of New York will have charge of the work. The same firm built the Cumberland and Williamsport high pressure steam plants. It is believed construction may be started about April 1.

Richards Relates His Experiences With Spaniards

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Spain by Former State Department Employe

Asserting that Allied influence was at a low ebb in Spain in 1942, William Richards, formerly attached to the American embassy in Madrid, now connected with the exporting department of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here, said in an address before the Kiwanis club here yesterday, that "we actually thought that many times we would have to go to Gibraltar for protection.

Richards said that every day there were rumors of constant threats by the Falange party, and added that the "Free French with whom I worked very closely were constantly under attack." He stated that German saboteurs, disguised as members of the Falange party, were active in Spain. Serrano Suner, head of the Falange party, who was foreign minister, was a close friend of Goering and other high Nazi officials.

Gives History of Spain

Richards outlined something of the history of Spain giving a background of the country, its people, industries, and government. He told the Kiwanians that the early peoples of Spain were Assyrians, and that the Basques claim to be the most direct descendants of these people.

The Romans conquered Spain in 206 B.C., and reigned until the Third century. Next came the Phoenicians and Greeks who brought grape vines and olives to the country. Then came the Carthaganians who conquered the whole of the country. Hannibal, the great African general was born in Spain. After the Carthaganians came the Celts and Visigoths to add to the mixture. In 711 the Moors — the African orientals of Moslem faith entered and conquered the country and remained in Spain for over 700 years. Ferdinand and his loyal army drove them from their last stronhold, the Alcazar of V. Granada in 1492, the year of Columbus's first voyage, Richards said.

The architecture, literature, personal habits, and spirit of the people are strongly characteristic of the Moors and oriental in flavor, Richards asserted, adding that Spain is different from the rest of Europe.

Reviews Franco's Career

The life of Franco and his rise to ruler of the country was described by Richards, who related that Franco is a son of an administrative naval officer, the grandson of Spanish naval officers and a great grandson of naval officer. However, Franco went into the military academy and after graduating he applied for service in North Africa where he became highly successful, and in turn was the youngest captain, major, lieutenant colonel, and general in the Spanish army.

Richards declared that Franco succeeded in arousing the Spanish government to use sufficient troops to defeat the Riffs and at the early age of 32 he had enough political acuity to realize that peace in Spain could never be maintained without the aid of the French.

It was in North Africa that Franco sowed his relative genius over the other military leaders of the Moors and Spaniards and won the respect of many officers who were to be his companions throughout life, Richards declared.

Richards said his own work in Spain was to "help fight World War 2" and he described many of the activities in which members of the American embassy engaged in during the war. He discussed wlolfrzam a form of oil which Spain was supplying to the Germans, told how American gasoline was sent to Spain in huge quantities, described Spanish aviation, the attitude of the American press toward Spain and related many incidents during his stay in Spain.

Two new members were inducted into the Kiwanis club yesterday—Fred Borden and Wilbur Bishop. W. Earle Cobey, was in charge of the induction ceremony. Hamilton North, Baltimore, was a guest at the meeting. O. J. Hale, president of the club, announced that the club made $579.48 net for the Kiwanis Sunshine camp fund on the Rubinoff concert last week.

Union Generals

captured the pickets before a gun could be fired. The countersign, "Bull's Gap," was extorted, and with this the Confederates had no difficulty in securing the picket post which was stationed at the junction of the river road and the old pike, just below Steele's.

"Ten men were then detailed to secure General Kelly, and put him in charge of Sgt. Joseph Kuykendall, and ten others to take General Crook, and turn him over to Sgt. Joseph L. Vandiver. Sprigg S. Lynn and Charles Nicholls were in the first squad. Lt. Fay's duty was to take a number of men and destroy the telegraph lines.'

Two Generals Nabbed

"The party then rode rapidly along the road to Greene street, down Greene street and then leisurely across the bridge and along Baltimore street to the Barnum House (Windsor hotel), bandying words occasionally with the guards on the street. Halting in front of the Barnum House, the headquarters guard was taken into custody and compelled to point out the rooms of General Kelly and Adjutant Thayer Melvin, both of whom were aroused from their sleep and requested to dress as speedily as possible.

"The astonished general and his aid quickly comprehended the situation and submitted. Meanwhile, a similar scene was being enacted at the Revere House, (Kenneweg Grocery Company building), where General Crook was sleeping in fancied security. Lt. Fay had also done his work, completely destroying the office of the military telegraph. Eight of General Kelly's best horses, amongst them his favorite, "Phillippi," were captured and then the Confederates rode off with their prisoners, taking the tow path and crossing at Wiley's Ford. Shortly after their departure the alarm was given and a company of mounted men went in puruit. The fugitives were overtaken near Romney, and a skirmish followed but the prisoners were beyond recapture.

"Generals Hayes, (who later became president), Lightburn and Duval were in camp in the city at the time, but the Confederates having carried out their plans to the very letter, did not stop to hazard a further harvest of generals. This event caused much excitement throughout the country and was commented upon largely in every direction. The captured officers were sent to Richmond and shortly afterwards exchanged."

Dairy Workers

now will receive $40.80, an increase of $5.70, for the same working period. Skilled workers include pasteurizers, ice cream makers, butter makers and cottage cheese makers.

Semi-skilled workers such as receivers, milk weighers, samplers, maintenance men, assistant pasteurizers and bottle washer operators, previously were paid $32.50 for forty-eight hours and now will receive $39 or an increase of $6.50.

Regular laborers such as cooler men, cleanup men, boiler men and check-in men, previously received a maximum of $29.50 for forty-eight hours on a sliding scale. Under the new contract, these workers will start at $33.60 for forty-eight hours, be boosted to $35 at the end of ninety days, an increase of $5.50, and then receive at the end of a year another increase to $36, or a total increase of $6.50.

Flat Rate Is $14

Kelley said the drivers work on commission and a basic weekly flat rate of $14 and that they want an increase in their flat rate. They previously had a weekly minimum guarantee of $30 but the new contract gives them a weekly minimum guarantee of $40 or an increase of $10.

The meeting Wednesday night was held at the home of Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion.

was made possible by the payment of over $50,000 last Monday by the Pennsylvania Electric company, which derives its current from turbines run by water from Deep Creek lake.

Five per cent discount is allowed on all taxes paid during February. If paid during March and April a discount of four per cent is allowed.

It is expected to collect $426,000 for the year's taxes.

Seeks Re-election

The opening gun in the coming political struggle was fired this morning with the announcement that Senator Bernard I. Gonder would be a candidate to succeed himself, subject to the Democratic primary election June 24. Gonder is one of the few Democratic senators ever to serve Garrett county in the legislature.

All county offices are to be filled this year, in addition to the governorship, other state offices, and the positions of congressman, representative from this district and United States Senator, and judge from this circuit.

Frazee Rites Held

Funeral services for Austin Augustine Frazee, 70, Pittsburgh, Pa., a native of Garrett county, were held today in Pittsburgh, where Mr. Frazee died Monday.

Born January 21, 1876, Mr. Frazee was a son of the late Lucian and Catherine Thomas Frazee.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Margaret Sherrard Frazee, whom he married October 12, 1912, Mr. Frazee is survived by two brothers, William W. Frazee, Davidsville, Pa.; and Bert Frazee, East Palestine, O.; and one sister, Mrs. Charles I. Wright, McHenry.

corps. They will make their home with the bride's parents for the present time.

Mrs. Myrtle Blackman, postmaster of Parsons, stated that an increase of $1,364.36 was noted in the postal receipts in 1945 over 1944 which had a total of $16,467.68. During 1945 the receipts totaled $17,832.04 and the last quarter of 1945 following the end of the war did not see a decrease in the Parsons office as was noted in many offices.

Mrs. Blackman stated that the reason was due to the heavy mailing of the Dorman Mills, Inc., of Parsons. She did however state that the six cent air mails stamps decrease in sales but the eight cent airmails did not show a decline.

Members Are Entertained

Laurel LaRue Whaley, of Emsworth, Pa., a humorist, reader and impersonator, entertained the members of the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 804, of Parsons and their families and friends following the regular lodge meeting and initiation held at the lodge here this week. The entertainment committee was Claude G. Shaffer, Harold Barb and Richard Liller. Other features of the program incurred musical selections by a Parsons trio.

Calls for February

E. G. Moorman, clerk of the Tucker County Selective Service office in Parsons, stated that there will be two calls for the month of February on Tuesday, February 26, when a call has been made for men for induction and also for pre-induction on examinations.

Personal Items

Jimmy Plum, grandson of James T. Schoonover, of Parsons, has been promoted to the rank of yoeman 1-c United States Navy, now stationed in San Francisco, Calif. Yoeman Plum expects to receive his discharge from the service where he has been for the past three and one half years, early in April and will return to his grandfather's home.

J. S. Lunsford, deputy director of the Department of Veteran's affairs, from Clarksburg, will be in the selective service office in Parsons on Friday, February 22, from 10 until 5 and will assist veterans in their problems.

Brothers Are Discharged

Three sons of Mrs. Louise Monda, of Thomas, and the late Paul Monda, were discharged recently from the armed forces. They are: T-5 Carmen M., who entered the army November 2, 1942, and was sent to Hawaii July 1944. He was trained as a member of the military police and participated in the invasions of Leyte in the Philippines. He holds the Purple Heart medal, the Good conduct, the Philippine Liberation ribbon, the American theater ribbon, the AP ribbon and the victory medal.

Master Sgt. Paul J. Monda entered the service April 6, 1942, and was sent to Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. He wears the Good conduct medal, the American theater ribbon, the AP ribbon and the Victory medal.

Cpl. Nick J. Monda, entered November 23, 1942 and served in the Pacific for seven months with the Two Hundred Seventieth Field artillery. He participated in the Luzon campaign and wears the AP ribbon, the Philippine Liberation ribbon and the Good conduct medal.

Store Changes Hands

One of the largest business establishments in the lower end of the county changed hands this week when the C. W. Harvey Company, of Hendricks, the largest independent store in Tucker county was sold to Mrs. C. R. Parsons and her son, C. A. Roberts, of Hambleton and Hendricks. The new stockholders will be Mrs. Parsons, as president, C. A. Roberts, as secretary-treasurer and manager, and Mrs. Mildred Roberts, Hendricks, vice president.

The old company was composed of the following stockholders John McNeeley, of Wheeling, C. W. Minear, of Parsons, and C. W. Harvey, of Hendricks. Mr. Harvey has been a merchant in Hendricks for more than thirty-seven years and has been in the Harvey company store since 1939. He did not state what he would do in the future.

The store, a three story wooden building has four departments, a feed store, a dry goods store, a meat department and a grocery department. The store was erected in 1892 by the Hendricks Company, Ltd., when the town of Hendricks was one of the largest towns between Elkins and Cumberland and for many years prior to 1939 it was managed by J. E. Poling of Hendricks.

The Roberts have been in business in Tucker county since 1900 when the Otter Creek Lumber Company was operated. Later the late C. A. Roberts, purchased the large grocery and dry goods store in that town and operated it for thirty-three years until his death a few years ago. His son, Eugene, a veteran of five years of overseas service recently discharged, reopened the store for business a few weeks ago after the store was closed for four years.

Sailors Are Discharged

Tucker county has had several sailors discharged from the service within the past month. They are:

Gunner's Mate 2-c James J. Dellosso, Thomas. He entered the navy August 29, 1942, and served aboard the PC 1201. He wears the American theater and the European theater ribbon for duty in the Atlantic, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon for duty at Guam and also wears the Good Conduct and Victory ribbons.

Seaman 1-c John Romanick, Pierce, enlisted in the navy January 19, 1942, and trained at Norfolk, Va., Solomons, Md., and Little Creek, Va. He served on active duty aboard the USS William P. Biddle.

Gunner's Mate 3-c Camden Phillips, Porterwood, entered service through enlistment December 7, 1941, and trained at Norfolk, Va., and Little Creek, Va., and was recently discharged from the USNR at Bainbridge, Md.

Gunner's Mate 2-c Smith Stokes, Parsons, enlisted January 9, 1942, and trained at Norfolk, Va., and Little Creek, Va. He served on the USS Thomas Stone and the USS Jesse Applegate.

Aviation Machinist Mate 3-c Arthur Topper, Thomas, enlisted on September 29, 1942, and trained at Great Lakes, Ill.

Coxswain Denver W. Strawderman, Parsons, enlisted as an apprentice seaman in October 1942 and trained at Great Lakes, Ill. He served aboard the USS Edison (DD-439).

Motor Machinist Mate 1-c Kurt Lewis Shaffter, Pierce, enlisted in the USNR January 27, 1943, and attended school at Chicago, Ill., Little Creek, Va., and Fort Pierce, Fla. He served aboard the USS Leon.

Coxswain Robert Lee Hebb, Parsons, enlisted September 10, 1943, and trained at Great Lakes, Ill., and attended the armed guard school at Gulfport, Miss. He served on an armed guard vessel in the Pacific and was last stationed at Nicholas Island, Calif.

Seaman 1-c Cecil Willard Harsh, Parsons, enlisted April 28, 1944, and trained at Sampson, N. Y. He served on active duty aboard the USS PC 1086.

Seaman 1-c Elmer Lloyd Nestor, St. George, entered March 6, 1942, at Norfolk, Va.

Machinist Mate 3-c George W. Bowley, Parsons, entered service March, 1943, and served for twenty-two months, most of which was duty in the Pacific after his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

School To Install Pump

Richard Adams, principal of Porterwood school, stated today that the Parent-Teacher's association of that school voted to help in the purchase of an electric pump for the school in co-operation with the Tucker County Board of Education. Water is now carried a great distance by school children. The school has a hot lunch program. With the digging of a well and the installation of the pump the school would have running water at all times. The P-TA voted to raise $50 within the next few weeks. The money will be raised through socials and other functions at the school.

Returns To Work

Sgt. Mark Hershman, bookkeeper with the Armour Leather Company, Parsons, for several years, is visiting relatives here after his recent discharge from the army. He served two and one-half years. He will return to Washington this week to resume his position with the War department, the position he held when he entered service. His wife is the former Myrtle Lanham, also of Parsons.

Brief Items

The trustees of the Church of God who are: C. E. Allen, George Bohon, Oley J. Snyder, Joseph Bava and Walter Wingfield, of Parsons, purchased the large building in Second ward Monday from Patrick Loughry, of Hendricks, for $1,800 and will convert the building formerly, the Evans garage into a church. The congregation of the church has not had a building for its meetings in Parsons prior to this purchase.

Leo Casey, of Parsons, has returned to his work as a membership director with the West Virginia Moose Association, after an absence of two and one half years while he served with the United States Navy as a machinist mate 1-c and served for one year in the Pacific theater. Mr. Casey prior to his entrance into the service had held the same position with the Moose for four years. He is the husband of the former Betty Blackman, of Parsons.

Richards Relates His Experiences With Spaniards

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Spain by Former State Department Employe

Asserting that Allied influence was at a low ebb in Spain in 1942, William Richards, formerly attached to the American embassy in Madrid, now connected with the exporting department of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here, said in an address before the Kiwanis club here yesterday, that "we actually thought that many times we would have to go to Gibraltar for protection.

Richards said that every day there were rumors of constant threats by the Falange party, and added that the "Free French with whom I worked very closely were constantly under attack." He stated that German saboteurs, disguised as members of the Falange party, were active in Spain. Serrano Suner, head of the Falange party, who was foreign minister, was a close friend of Goering and other high Nazi officials.

Gives History of Spain

Richards outlined something of the history of Spain giving a background of the country, its people, industries, and government. He told the Kiwanians that the early peoples of Spain were Assyrians, and that the Basques claim to be the most direct descendants of these people.

The Romans conquered Spain in 206 B.C., and reigned until the Third century. Next came the Phoenicians and Greeks who brought grape vines and olives to the country. Then came the Carthaganians who conquered the whole of the country. Hannibal, the great African general was born in Spain. After the Carthaganians came the Celts and Visigoths to add to the mixture. In 711 the Moors — the African orientals of Moslem faith entered and conquered the country and remained in Spain for over 700 years. Ferdinand and his loyal army drove them from their last stronhold, the Alcazar of V. Granada in 1492, the year of Columbus's first voyage, Richards said.

The architecture, literature, personal habits, and spirit of the people are strongly characteristic of the Moors and oriental in flavor, Richards asserted, adding that Spain is different from the rest of Europe.

Reviews Franco's Career

The life of Franco and his rise to ruler of the country was described by Richards, who related that Franco is a son of an administrative naval officer, the grandson of Spanish naval officers and a great grandson of naval officer. However, Franco went into the military academy and after graduating he applied for service in North Africa where he became highly successful, and in turn was the youngest captain, major, lieutenant colonel, and general in the Spanish army.

Richards declared that Franco succeeded in arousing the Spanish government to use sufficient troops to defeat the Riffs and at the early age of 32 he had enough political acuity to realize that peace in Spain could never be maintained without the aid of the French.

It was in North Africa that Franco sowed his relative genius over the other military leaders of the Moors and Spaniards and won the respect of many officers who were to be his companions throughout life, Richards declared.

Richards said his own work in Spain was to "help fight World War 2" and he described many of the activities in which members of the American embassy engaged in during the war. He discussed wloifrzam a form of oil which Spain was supplying to the Germans, told how American gasoline was sent to Spain in huge quantities, described Spanish aviation, the attitude of the American press toward Spain and related many incidents during his stay in Spain.

Two new members were inducted into the Kiwanis club yesterday—Fred Borden and Wilbur Bishop. W. Earle Cobey, was in charge of the induction ceremony. Hamilton North, Baltimore, was a guest at the meeting. O. J. Hale, president of the club, announced that the club made $579.48 net for the Kiwanis Sunshine camp fund on the Rubinoff concert last week.

Union Generals

captured the pickets before a gun could be fired. The countersign, "Bull's Gap," was extorted, and with this the Confederates had no difficulty in securing the picket post which was stationed at the junction of the river road and the old pike, just below Steele's.

"Ten men were then detailed to secure General Kelly, and put him in charge of Sgt. Joseph Kuykendall, and ten others to take General Crook, and turn him over to Sgt. Joseph L. Vandiver. Sprigg S. Lynn and Charles Nicholls were in the first squad. Lt. Fay's duty was to take a number of men and destroy the telegraph lines.'

Two Generals Nabbed

"The party then rode rapidly along the road to Greene street, down Greene street and then leisurely across the bridge and along Baltimore street to the Barnum House (Windsor hotel), bandying words occasionally with the guards on the street. Halting in front of the Barnum House, the headquarters guard was taken into custody and compelled to point out the rooms of General Kelly and Adjutant Thayer Melvin, both of whom were aroused from their sleep and requested to dress as speedily as possible.

"The astonished general and his aid quickly comprehended the situation and submitted. Meanwhile, a similar scene was being enacted at the Revere House, (Kenneweg Grocery Company building), where General Crook was sleeping in fancied security. Lt. Fay had also done his work, completely destroying the office of the military telegraph. Eight of General Kelly's best horses, amongst them his favorite, "Phillippi," were captured and then the Confederates rode off with their prisoners, taking the tow path and crossing at Wiley's Ford. Shortly after their departure the alarm was given and a company of mounted men went in puruit. The fugitives were overtaken near Romney, and a skirmish followed but the prisoners were beyond recapture.

"Generals Hayes, (who later became president), Lightburn and Duval were in camp in the city at the time, but the Confederates having carried out their plans to the very letter, did not stop to hazard a further harvest of generals. This event caused much excitement throughout the country and was commented upon largely in every direction. The captured officers were sent to Richmond and shortly afterwards exchanged."

Dairy Workers

now will receive $40.80, an increase of $5.70, for the same working period. Skilled workers include pasteurizers, ice cream makers, butter makers and cottage cheese makers.

Semi-skilled workers such as receivers, milk weighers, samplers, maintenance men, assistant pasteurizers and bottle washer operators, previously were paid $32.50 for forty-eight hours and now will receive $39 or an increase of $6.50.

Regular laborers such as cooler men, cleanup men, boiler men and check-in men, previously received a maximum of $29.50 for forty-eight hours on a sliding scale. Under the new contract, these workers will start at $33.60 for forty-eight hours, be boosted to $35 at the end of ninety days, an increase of $5.50, and then receive at the end of a year another increase to $36, or a total increase of $6.50.

Flat Rate Is $14

Kelley said the drivers work on commission and a basic weekly flat rate of $14 and that they want an increase in their flat rate. They previously had a weekly minimum guarantee of $30 but the new contract gives them a weekly minimum guarantee of $40 or an increase of $10.

Motor Machinist Mate 1-c Kurt Lewis Shaffter, Pierce, enlisted in the USNR January 27, 1943, and attended school at Chicago, Ill., Little Creek, Va., and Fort Pierce, Fla. He served aboard the USS Leon.

Coxswain Robert Lee Hebb, Parsons, enlisted September 10, 1943, and trained at Great Lakes, Ill., and attended the armed guard school at Gulfport, Miss. He served on an armed guard vessel in the Pacific and was last stationed at Nicholas Island, Calif.

Seaman 1-c Cecil Willard Harsh, Parsons, enlisted April 28, 1944, and trained at Sampson, N. Y. He served on active duty aboard the USS PC 1086.

Seaman 1-c Elmer Lloyd Nestor, St. George, entered March 6, 1942, at Norfolk, Va.

Machinist Mate 3-c George W. Bowley, Parsons, entered service March, 1943, and served for twenty-two months, most of which was duty in the Pacific after his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

School To Install Pump

Richard Adams, principal of Porterwood school, stated today that the Parent-Teacher's association of that school voted to help in the purchase of an electric pump for the school in co-operation with the Tucker County Board of Education. Water is now carried a great distance by school children. The school has a hot lunch program. With the digging of a well and the installation of the pump the school would have running water at all times. The P-TA voted to raise $50 within the next few weeks. The money will be raised through socials and other functions at the school.

Returns To Work

Sgt. Mark Hershman, bookkeeper with the Armour Leather Company, Parsons, for several years, is visiting relatives here after his recent discharge from the army. He served two and one-half years. He will return to Washington this week to resume his position with the War department, the position he held when he entered service. His wife is the former Myrtle Lanham, also of Parsons.

Brief Items

The trustees of the Church of God who are: C. E. Allen, George Bohon, Oley J. Snyder, Joseph Bava and Walter Wingfield, of Parsons, purchased the large building in Second ward Monday from Patrick Loughry, of Hendricks, for $1,800 and will convert the building formerly, the Evans garage into a church. The congregation of the church has not had a building for its meetings in Parsons prior to this purchase.

Leo Casey, of Parsons, has returned to his work as a membership director with the West Virginia Moose Association, after an absence of two and one half years while he served with the United States Navy as a machinist mate 1-c and served for one year in the Pacific theater. Mr. Casey prior to his entrance into the service had held the same position with the Moose for four years. He is the husband of the former Betty Blackman, of Parsons.

Favorites Add One to Five Points As Stocks Enjoy Broad Recovery

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Stocks generally enjoyed a broad recovery in today's market with favorites adding one to five points or so although dealings tapered appreciably on the upswing.

Brokers attributed the comeback mainly to technical factors involved in the recent sharpest slump in almost six years.

The pace slowed after an active start but picked up in the final half hour. Steels, motors, rails, rubbers, amusements, distillers, aircrafts, mail orders and utilities were favored. Transfers of 1,590,000 shares compared with 2,150,000 Wednesday.

Union Pacific was up five, Allied Chemical four and one-half and Johns-Manville three and one-half. Ahead one to two or more were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, United States Rubber, Goodyear, Warner Brothers, Loew's, Paramount, Schenley, National Distillers, Hiram Walker, Glenn Martin, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, Anaconda, American Smelting, Caterpillar Tractor, General Electric, du Pont, Eastman Kodak and J. C. Penney. Republic Pictures common and preferred, making their debut on the big board, were lively.

Tilting higher in the Curb were Barium Steel, Midwest Corporation, Fairchild Engine, North American Light, Electric Bond and Share and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover here was 710,000 shares versus 1,010,000 yesterday.

Led by an assortment of rails, the bond market managed to recover part of the week's lost ground in the final session. Dealings will be suspended tomorrow, Washington's birthday, and Saturday.

Sales for the day totaled $8,730,000 against $7,250,000 Wednesday.

United States governments were steady with gains narrow.

TWO ITEMS ADDED TO PRODUCE LIST

The rather abundant supply of lemons being shipped into local markets has permitted a cent drop in their ceiling price to 13½ cents a pound. Likewise, Florida oranges, except India River, are plentiful and they have gone down a half a cent to 8½ cents a pound. The strawberry season is just beginning. They have been added to the OPA list and are community priced at 46½ cents a pint; minimum weight per pint being ten ounces.

Carrots coming from Texas as well as California, increase the supply somewhat. Bunched carrots have dropped a half a cent to 10 cents a bunch.

Lettuce is not as abundant as it had been for the past few weeks, but the quality of the lettuce on the market is very much better. The ceiling price of all three size heads has increased slightly. Yams have been added to the list, community priced the same as sweet potatoes, 12½ cents a pound. Other produce prices remain the same as last week.

Promoter of Odd Races Is Longing For Good Old Days

F. T. Small's latest news communique from "Down Under" concerns the sad story of George King, of Sydney, who is longing for the good old army days.

When George was with the Aussie forces in Northern Australia, New Guinea and in the island fighting on the way to Tokyo, he earned quite a bit of money as the promoter of crab races on the beaches by day and beetle racing on mess tables under hurrican lamps at night.

In his crab racing venture he was quite successful. He captured nine painted numbers on their backs, placed them in the center of a circle twenty-five yards in diameter and booked all bets on which would be first out. Hundreds of pounds changed hands every night.

George was getting rich when racketeers moved in, fed eight of the nine crabs meat saturated with gun oil and bet on the ninth one. On another occasion George's book took a lacing when one of the boys gave one of the crabs some jungle-juice (nitro glycerine extracted from the war head of a torpedo). This doctored crab, needless to say, left all the others at the post.

George recouped his losses on the bettles but found the supply of racers so difficult to replenish that he gave up and popularized another contest in which ten corks were placed in a drain and bets were taken on which would come out the other end first. This was the most satisfactory form of all so far as George was concerned because as he said, "You can't dope a cork."

So the war ended and George went home. With no scope for freak promotions, he began betting on horse races. You can guess the answer.

George is stoney broke.

TWO ITEMS ADDED TO PRODUCE LIST

The rather abundant supply of lemons being shipped into local markets has permitted a cent drop in their ceiling price to 13½ cents a pound. Likewise, Florida oranges, except India River, are plentiful and they have gone down a half a cent to 8½ cents a pound. The strawberry season is just beginning. They have been added to the OPA list and are community priced at 46½ cents a pint; minimum weight per pint being ten ounces.

Carrots coming from Texas as well as California, increase the supply somewhat. Bunched carrots have dropped a half a cent to 10 cents a bunch.

Lettuce is not as abundant as it had been for the past few weeks, but the quality of the lettuce on the market is very much better. The ceiling price of all three size heads has increased slightly. Yams have been added to the list, community priced the same as sweet potatoes, 12½ cents a pound. Other produce prices remain the same as last week.

Promoter of Odd Races Is Longing For Good Old Days

F. T. Small's latest news communique from "Down Under" concerns the sad story of George King, of Sydney, who is longing for the good old army days.

When George was with the Aussie forces in Northern Australia, New Guinea and in the island fighting on the way to Tokyo, he earned quite a bit of money as the promoter of crab races on the beaches by day and beetle racing on mess tables under hurrican lamps at night.

In his crab racing venture he was quite successful. He captured nine, painted numbers on their backs, placed them in the center of a circle twenty-five yards in diameter and booked all bets on which would be first out. Hundreds of pounds changed hands every night.

George was getting rich when racketeers moved in, fed eight of the nine crabs meat saturated with gun oil and bet on the ninth one. On another occasion George's book took a lacing when one of the boys gave one of the crabs some jungle-juice (nitro glycerine extracted from the war head of a torpedo). This doctored crab, needless to say, left all the others at the post.

George recouped his losses on the bettles but found the supply of racers so difficult to replenish that he gave up and popularized another contest in which ten corks were placed in a drain and bets were taken on which would come out the other end first. This was the most satisfactory form of all so far as George was concerned because as he said, "You can't dope a cork."

So the war ended and George went home. With no scope for freak promotions, he began betting on horse races. You can guess the answer.

George is stoney broke.

Martin Discounts Mexican "Threat" To Major Loops

Player Losses Haven't Been Staggering, Sports Writer Says

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — Well, when the DiMaggios and the Greenbergs and the Williamses start jumping to the Mexican Baseball League we might begin to get a little worried at this south of the border threat.

Up to now, though, the losses haven't been what you would call staggering, unless you are talking about Danny Gardella and his charted course to get under a fly ball. Sometimes you got the idea he imagined he was a convoy in submarine-infested waters.

Anyway, in losing Gardella, Nap Reyes, Adrian Zabala and Luis Olmo, all reported signed by the Mexican circuit, the major league clubs involved are just losing the buttons off their coat sleeves. The men really weren't necessary to the clubs. In fact, there was some doubt they would stick in the majors.

Olmo, who hit .313 with Brooklyn last year, seemed the best of the lot but even he would have his troubles bucking Pete Reiser, Dixie Walker and Augie Galan for an outfield job.

Wartime Developments

Gardella, Reyes and Zabala, all of the Giants, were wartime developments, not exactly synthetic major leaguers but nevertheless of a quality below that of normal years. If the Giants had retained any one of them it would have been as a spare tire.

Under the circumstances the players cannot be blamed for going to Mexico. As pro athletes they are after as much money as they can get, and besides, they will be big apples in a little orchard.

They're going on a one-way ticket as far as organized baseball in this country is concerned, however. There'll be no coming back, at least for five years, as a player jumping a club is automatically put in the doghouse for that long. Should the Mexican League fold, or playing conditions not be to their liking, they are out of luck.

If organized baseball in this country really was concerned about the inroads of the Mexican game, steps undoubtedly would be taken to arrange some kind of a working agreement whereby player rights would be honored.

Just a Powder Puff

As it is, the Mexican League is in a similar position to that of the All-America Football Conference which is bucking the established National Football League, and is in no way obligated to honor the rulings of organized ball in this country.

The football players jumping from the National League to the All-America are not criticized, since they were assured more money by the new loop they would be considered saps not to take it. They are doing their bucking for bucks, and have no altruistic motives.

If the All-America Conference survives and thrives, the National League would have to recognize it eventually, as the National Baseball League was forced to recognize and co-operate with the American League.

The same situation exists between the Mexican Baseball League and organized baseball in this country. Right now the threat of the Mexican loop is just a powder puff. If it becomes a hammer some agreement will have to established for mutual protection.

That prospect seems remote right now though. And it's a border line case, anyway.

TOP FIGHT CARD

Lee Oma

Gus Lesnevich

TOPPING the week's fistic doings is the 10-round non-title bout tonight between Gus Lesnevich, the light-heavy king, and Lee Oma, of Detroit, in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Lee Oma Will Test Lesnevich Tonight

Detroiter Will Outweigh Champion in New York Match

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—They're unveiling the postwar Gus Lesnevich in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in a ten-rounder with heavyweight Lee Oma, and along cauliflower concourse they tell you that the light-heavyweight boss is ready to move in among the big boys for keeps.

This is not to say that the blonde Russian from New Jersey is about to toss his crown out among the 175-pounders because Gus figures on at least one title defense, probably outdoors this summer.

Gus figures that up among the heavyweights they pay higher by the pound. So, at 30, and with four years in the coast guard behind him, he's looking ahead to some heavyweight-sized paydays.

This time he takes on an earscrambler who figures to be tough. The Detroiter brings a six-fight winning streak into the Garden with him. He's ranked up among the top five war time heavies, and he'll be packing 188 pounds, or about eight more than Gus.

LESNEVICH OFFERED $25,000 FOR MOORE MATCH AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—An offer of $25,000 with a privilege of 40 per cent of the net receipts was made by Matchmatker Gabe Menendez today to Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich for an outdoor title fight here.

Archie Moore, generally recognized as the ranking challenger, would be Lesnevich's opponent at Griffith stadium in May or June.

Menendez, disclosing the offer, said he will meet Lesnevich's manager, Joe Vella, in New York Friday afternoon in the hope of closing the match.

He will confer with Veall after Lesnevich weighs in for tomorrow night's non-championship fight with Heavyweight Lee Oma in Madison Square Garden.

Jimmy Johnston, Moore's manager, already has agreed to send his man against Lesnevich, Menendez told newsmen.

Favors Charity Games

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Jim Crowley, commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, said today his league was willing to challenge the rival National Football League to a series of eight charity games before the beginning of the 1946 season.

Crowley, in Chicago on an inspection tour of the All-America's cities, said he would visit Cleveland and Buffalo before returning to New York.

Packers Sign Rohrig

SPORTS FALLACIES by MARGERY MILLER

The high jumper's feats have been recorded for years in terms of feet and inches as measured on the standards.

The jumper warms up while the bar over which he is to leap is put in place. It is set at a level clearly marked—say, at six feet. The crowd is silent while the athlete, his muscles loose and responsive, starts his run. Just before he reaches the bar he gathers himself for the leap. A great "Ah-h-h" is heard from the crowd as he clears the bar and thuds into the dirt on the other side of it.

Then it is announced the athlete has jumped six feet. And on first thought the announcement would appear to be correct. But actually it isn't.

If he had jumped six feet, he would have knocked the bar down. In order to clear the bar he had to jump more than that. He may even have jumped two inches higher.

Extension of Tour Asked by Hansenne

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Marcel Hansenne, French track star who has finished no better than third in three appearances in the mile run at indoor meets in this country, today asked the French Amateur Athletic Federation for permission to extend his American tour an extra week.

Still hopeful of turning in a winning performance on the boards, Hansenne wants to stay long enough to compete in the Frank A. Brennan Columbian Mile at Knights of Columbus games here March 9.

O'Neill Believes Boston Red Sox Club to Beat

Detroit Manager Expects Yanks To Have Trouble with Pitching

By JACK HAND

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP) — Boston's returning sluggers, with pitching help from Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss and Mickey Harris, looks like the most serious threat to the Detroit Tigers, in the opinion of Manager Steve O'Neill of the 1945 world champions.

"The Yankees will have plenty of hitting but Joe McCarthy may have some trouble with his pitching," said the rugged Irishman from Monooka, Pa. "Cleveland will have the pitching with Bob Feller, Steve Gromek, Allie Reynolds and Red Embree but I think Boston is the team we have to beat.

"Why, that Hughson and Ferriss each ought to be good for twenty-five games and I like that boy Harris. He's probably learned a lot in that Panama League while pitching in the army."

O'Neill pointed out the obvious fact that the Red Sox will have power to burn with Ted Williams, Rudy York, Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr.

Don't get the idea that the skipper was picking Boston to win the pennant.

"Remember we're going to have a darn good ball club, too," he reminded.

There was a merry twinkle in O'Neill's eyes as he greeted his discharged Tigers, trouping one by one into the office of Secretary Clair Berry to report.

Dick Wakefield, Barney McCosky and either Hoot Evers or Pat Mullin probably will patrol the outfield.

Hank Greenberg, who brought his new bride to camp, will return to first base after winning the flag for the Bengals as an outfielder last fall. Over on third base Pinky Higgins, about to be released from service, and Billy Hitchcock, who got in yesterday, will stage a battle royal. Eddie Mayo and Skeeter Webb may hold over from the pennant club but Eddie Lake may take away Webb's shortstop job.

Birdie Tebbets, recently discharged army captain, will be the No. 1 catcher just as he was before the war with the valuable Paul Richards and Bob Swift to help.

Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout will have plenty of pitching help. So one thing seems certain. It won't have to be Newhouser and Trout all alone in 1946.

Middies To Lose Keith Molesworth

Grid, Cage and Baseball Coach Will Wind Up Activities Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Keith Molesworth, after eight years with the naval academy as football backfield, plebe baseball and plebe basketball coach, will wind up his activities this Saturday when his lower classmen finish their cage season.

Molesworth said today he did not know definitely where he would go, adding that he was still weighing a number of propositions.

If the plebe five wins against the Staunton Military Academy — as they should, Molesworth says—it will make a total of f ty-six games won against eight lost during his eight seasons here.

The only game lost this winter was against Bullis Prep School of Silver Spring, Md., which defeated the Plebes by one point.

Molesworth's cagers have had two undefeated seasons, in 1944 and 1945.

During the same eight - year period, his baseball teams amassed 44 victories, tied two and dropped nine games.

SANTA ANITA PURSES RAISED TO AVERT HORSEMEN'S STRIKE

$200 Boost in All Purses Is Made Retroactive to January 29

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP) — Santa Anita Park today raised all purses $200 retroactive to January 29 to pave the way for settlement of a horsemen's strike which threatened to cancel the remaining seventeen days of the lush, 55-day racing meeting, including the $100,000 Derby and Handicap.

Racing Director Carleton F. Burke announced the action was taken at the request of a group of twelve leading trainers — not members of the striking California Thoroughbred Owners and Trainers Association.

The striking group was scheduled to meet later to consider the move, which automatically adds $200 to all purses over $3,200, the minimum. The $200 is expected to cover all groom and exercise boy expenses, which the striking horsemen protested paying.

Meanwhile, track officials reported thirty-two entries — almost enough for an eight-race program tomorrow — had been received by 1 p. m. (P.S.T.) the owners and trainer association, claiming to represent 75 per cent of owners on the grounds, had asked members not to enter horses.

Earlier, Dr. Charles H. Strub, executive vice president of the huge racing plant, said the track would close for the season if cards for the next three racing days were not filled. He ordered entry boxes — normally closed at 10:30 a. m. — held open until 3 p. m. today, tomorrow and Monday.

The Derby, richest race ever booked for three year olds, is slated for Saturday.

Lapchick Is Named Coach of Eastern All-Star Quintet

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Joe Lapchick of St. John's, Brooklyn, has been named coach of the Eastern all-star basketball team which will meet a picked western quintet in a charity game at Madison Square Garden March 30.

Selected by popular ballot, the 45-year-old former center of the Original Celtics immediately accepted the invitation. Work of assembling the ten players for the eastern squad will begin at once. They will report here for practice four days before the game.

Results of the voting by Madison Square Garden basketball spectators for a western coach are being tabulated.

Martin Discounts Mexican "Threat" To Major Loops

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — Well, when the DiMaggios and the Greenbergs and the Williamses start jumping to the Mexican Baseball League we might begin to get a little worried at this south of the border threat.

Up to now, though, the losses haven't been what you would call staggering, unless you are talking about Danny Gardella and his charted course to get under a fly ball. Sometimes you got the idea he imagined he was a convoy in submarine-infested waters.

Anyway, in losing Gardella, Nap Reyes, Adrian Zabala and Luis Olmo, all reported signed by the Mexican circuit, the major league clubs involved are just losing the buttons off their coat sleeves. The men really weren't necessary to the clubs. In fact, there was some doubt they would stick in the majors.

Olmo, who hit .313 with Brooklyn last year, seemed the best of the lot but even he would have his troubles bucking Pete Reiser, Dixie Walker and Augie Galan for an outfield job.

Wartime Developments

Gardella, Reyes and Zabala, all of the Giants, were wartime developments, not exactly synthetic major leaguers but nevertheless of a quality below that of normal years. If the Giants had retained any one of them it would have been as a spare tire.

Under the circumstances the players cannot be blamed for going to Mexico. As pro athletes they are after as much money as they can get, and besides, they will be big apples in a little orchard.

They're going on a one-way ticket as far as organized baseball in this country is concerned, however. There'll be no coming back, at least for five years, as a player jumping a club is automatically put in the doghouse for that long. Should the Mexican League fold, or playing conditions not be to their liking, they are out of luck.

If organized baseball in this country really was concerned about the inroads of the Mexican game, steps undoubtedly would be taken to arrange some kind of a working agreement whereby player rights would be honored.

Just a Powder Puff

As it is, the Mexican League is in a similar position to that of the All-America Football Conference which is bucking the established National Football League, and is in no way obligated to honor the rulings of organized ball in this country.

The football players jumping from the National League to the All-America are not criticized, since they were assured more money by the new loop they would be considered saps not to take it. They are doing their bucking for bucks, and have no altruistic motives.

If the All-America Conference survives and thrives, the National League would have to recognize it eventually, as the National Baseball League was forced to recognize and co-operate with the American League.

The same situation exists between the Mexican Baseball League and organized baseball in this country. Right now the threat of the Mexican loop is just a powder puff. If it becomes a hammer some agreement will have to established for mutual protection.

That prospect seems remote right now though. And it's a border line case, anyway.

TOP FIGHT CARD

Lee Oma

Gus Lesnevich

TOPPING the week's fistic doings is the 10-round non-title bout tonight between Gus Lesnevich, the light-heavy king, and Lee Oma, of Detroit, in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Lee Oma Will Test Lesnevich Tonight

Detroiter Will Outweigh Champion in New York Match

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—They're unveiling the postwar Gus Lesnevich in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in a ten-rounder with heavyweight Lee Oma, and along cauliflower concourse they tell you that the light-heavyweight boss is ready to move in among the big boys for keeps.

This is not to say that the blonde Russian from New Jersey is about to toss his crown out among the 175-pounders because Gus figures on at least one title defense, probably outdoors this summer.

Gus figures that up among the heavyweights they pay higher by the pound. So, at 30, and with four years in the coast guard behind him, he's looking ahead to some heavyweight-sized paydays.

This time he takes on an earscrambler who figures to be tough. The Detroiter brings a six-fight winning streak into the Garden with him. He's ranked up among the top five war time heavies, and he'll be packing 188 pounds, or about eight more than Gus.

LESNEVICH OFFERED $25,000 FOR MOORE MATCH AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—An offer of $25,000 with a privilege of 40 per cent of the net receipts was made by Matchmatker Gabe Menendez today to Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich for an outdoor title fight here.

Archie Moore, generally recognized as the ranking challenger, would be Lesnevich's opponent at Griffith stadium in May or June.

Menendez, disclosing the offer, said he will meet Lesnevich's manager, Joe Vella, in New York Friday afternoon in the hope of closing the match.

He will confer with Veall after Lesnevich weighs in for tomorrow night's non-championship fight with Heavyweight Lee Oma in Madison Square Garden.

Jimmy Johnston, Moore's manager, already has agreed to send his man against Lesnevich, Menendez told newsmen.

Favors Charity Games

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Jim Crowley, commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, said today his league was willing to challenge the rival National Football League to a series of eight charity games before the beginning of the 1946 season.

Crowley, in Chicago on an inspection tour of the All-America's cities, said he would visit Cleveland and Buffalo before returning to New York.

Packers Sign Rohrig

SPORTS FALLACIES

by MARGERY MILLER

The high jumper's feats have been recorded for years in terms of feet and inches as measured on the standards.

The jumper warms up while the bar over which he is to leap is put in place. It is set at a level clearly marked—say, at six feet. The crowd is silent while the athlete, his muscles loose and responsive, starts his run. Just before he reaches the bar he gathers himself for the leap. A great "Ah-h-h" is heard from the crowd as he clears the bar and thuds into the dirt on the other side of it.

Then it is announced the athlete has jumped six feet. And on first thought the announcement would appear to be correct. But actually it isn't.

If he had jumped six feet, he would have knocked the bar down. In order to clear the bar he had to jump more than that. He may even have jumped two inches higher.

Extension of Tour Asked by Hansenne

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Marcel Hansenne, French track star who has finished no better than third in three appearances in the mile run at indoor meets in this country, today asked the French Amateur Athletic Federation for permission to extend his American tour an extra week.

Still hopeful of turning in a winning performance on the boards, Hansenne wants to stay long enough to compete in the Frank A. Brennan Columbian Mile at Knights of Columbus games here March 9.

O'Neill Believes Boston Red Sox Club to Beat

By JACK HAND

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP) — Boston's returning sluggers, with pitching help from Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss and Mickey Harris, looks like the most serious threat to the Detroit Tigers, in the opinion of Manager Steve O'Neill of the 1945 world champions.

"The Yankees will have plenty of hitting but Joe McCarthy may have some trouble with his pitching," said the rugged Irishman from Monooka, Pa. "Cleveland will have the pitching with Bob Feller, Steve Gromek, Allie Reynolds and Red Embree but I think Boston is the team we have to beat.

"Why, that Hughson and Ferriss each ought to be good for twenty-five games and I like that boy Harris. He's probably learned a lot in that Panama League while pitching in the army."

O'Neill pointed out the obvious fact that the Red Sox will have power to burn with Ted Williams, Rudy York, Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr.

Don't get the idea that the skipper was picking Boston to win the pennant.

"Remember we're going to have a darn good ball club, too," he reminded.

There was a merry twinkle in O'Neill's eyes as he greeted his discharged Tigers, trouping one by one into the office of Secretary Clair Berry to report.

Dick Wakefield, Barney McCosky and either Hoot Evers or Pat Mullin probably will patrol the outfield.

Hank Greenberg, who brought his new bride to camp, will return to first base after winning the flag for the Bengals as an outfielder last fall. Over on third base Pinky Higgins, about to be released from service, and Billy Hitchcock, who got in yesterday, will stage a battle royal. Eddie Mayo and Skeeter Webb may hold over from the pennant club but Eddie Lake may take away Webb's shortstop job.

Birdie Tebbets, recently discharged army captain, will be the No. 1 catcher just as he was before the war with the valuable Paul Richards and Bob Swift to help.

Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout will have plenty of pitching help. So one thing seems certain. It won't have to be Newhouser and Trout all alone in 1946.

Middies To Lose Keith Molesworth

Grid, Cage and Baseball Coach Will Wind Up Activities Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Keith Molesworth, after eight years with the naval academy as football backfield, plebe baseball and plebe basketball coach, will wind up his activities this Saturday when his lower classmen finish their cage season.

Molesworth said today he did not know definitely where he would go, adding that he was still weighing a number of proposit ons.

If the plebe five wins against the Staunton Military Academy — as they should, Molesworth says—it will make a total of f ty-six games won against eight lost during his eight seasons here.

The only game lost this winter was against Bullis Prep School of Silver Spring, Md., which defeated the Plebes by one point.

Molesworth's cagers have had two undefeated seasons, in 1944 and 1945.

During the same eight - year period, his baseball teams amassed 44 victories, tied two and dropped nine games.

SANTA ANITA PURSES RAISED TO AVERT HORSEMEN'S STRIKE

$200 Boost in All Purses Is Made Retroactive to January 29

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP) — Santa Anita Park today raised all purses $200 retroactive to January 29 to pave the way for settlement of a horsemen's strike which threatened to cancel the remaining seventeen days of the lush, 55-day racing meeting, including the $100,000 Derby and Handicap.

Racing Director Carleton F. Burke announced the action was taken at the request of a group of twelve leading trainers — not members of the striking California Thoroughbred Owners and Trainers Association.

The striking group was scheduled to meet later to consider the move, which automatically adds $200 to all purses over $3,200, the minimum. The $200 is expected to cover all groom and exercise boy expenses, which the striking horsemen protested paying.

Meanwhile, track officials reported thirty-two entries — almost enough for an eight-race program tomorrow — had been received by 1 p. m. (P.S.T.) the owners and trainer association, claiming to represent 75 per cent of owners on the grounds, had asked members not to enter horses.

Earlier, Dr. Charles H. Strub, executive vice president of the huge racing plant, said the track would close for the season if cards for the next three racing days were not filled. He ordered entry boxes — normally closed at 10:30 a. m. — held open until 3 p. m. today, tomorrow and Monday.

The Derby, richest race ever booked for three year olds, is slated for Saturday.

Lapchick Is Named Coach of Eastern All-Star Quintet

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Joe Lapchick of St. John's, Brooklyn, has been named coach of the Eastern all-star basketball team which will meet a picked western quintet in a charity game at Madison Square Garden March 30.

Selected by popular ballot, the 45-year-old former center of the Original Celtics immediately accepted the invitation. Work of assembling the ten players for the eastern squad will begin at once. They will report here for practice four days before the game.

Results of the voting by Madison Square Garden basketball spectators for a western coach are being tabulated.

Allegany Seeks WMI and City Titles Tonight

Sentinels Face Blue and White At Campobello

Campers Are Favorites; Piedmont Is Host to LaSalle

Sharpshooters of Allegany and Fort Hill will celebrate Washington's birthday when they meet at Campobello tonight in the most important game of the W.M.I. League and city championship series.

And here's what Allegany will be shooting for when it trots out on the court:

The W.M.I. League championship, which the Campers have bagged fourteen times in the last twenty-five years' competition.

The city championship for the 1945-46 season. Coach Bowers's team has won two straight in this triangular series, defeating LaSalle, 37-28 and Fort Hill, 35-20, and can clinch the honors if victorious tonight. Allegany's final city game is with LaSalle at Campobllo, March 1.

Extension of its current winning streak to eleven games.

And last, but not least, the thirtieth consecutive W.M.I. League victory since last defeated in the county circuit in 1943 by Fort Hill.

Games Has "If" Angles

If Fort Hill's hot and cold team spills the Campers tonight it means that the league race would end in a deadlock provided Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's boys hurdle the Barton Braves in the league finale at Barton next Wednesday night. A tie would then necessitate a playoff game to determine the league championship.

Then there's another angle. If the Sentinels emerge the victors tonight it would send them to the fore in the city championship race and the outcome then would hinge on the result of the LaSalle-AHS game one week from tonight. LaSalle, winner of the city title for the past four seasons, has already been eliminated from this year's race with three straight defeats on its record. It is possible for the city race to end in a deadlock also—if the Sentinels top AHS tonight and the Campers subdue LaSalle in their series finale.

A.H.S. Is Favorite

All the pre-game dope points to an Allegany victory.

Here's how the contesting teams stack up in the two races at the present time:

W.M.I. LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Allegany	9	0	1.000
Fort Hill	7	1	.875

CITY SERIES

	W.	L.	Pct.
Allegany	2	0	1.000
Fort Hill	2	1	.667
LaSalle	0	3	.000

Tonight's game, scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, will mark the forty-second meeting of Penn-Fort Hill and Allegany in basketball. In the forty-one contests played since 1927, AHS has won thirty and the Sentinels eleven.

Clifton Van Roby and "Eck" Miers will do the officiating.

LaSalle Visits Piedmont

LaSalle's return game at Piedmont high school also holds the interest of district basketball fans tonight.

The Explorers took the opener here by the score of 33 to 19 and are expecting a much closer contest in the West Virginia town.

Other WMI League games pit Barton against Beal' in Frostburg and Central against Bruce in Westernport.

Other games on tap include:
Fort Ashby at Romney (PVC)
Petersburg at Wardensville (PVC)
Mathias at Capon Bridge (PVC)
Thomas at Moorefield
Bayard at Elk Garden

Goggin Sets Pace In Florida Golf

By CHICK HOSCH

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Willie Goggin, 40-year-old pro from White Plains, N. Y., fired a six-under-par 66 today to take a two-stroke lead in the initial round of the $7,500 Pensacola open golf tournament.

Ed Furgol of Detroit was second with a 68.

Goggin toured the first nine with a two-under 34 and the back nine with a 32. He had birdies on six holes of the sprawling 6,100-yard country club course, and par on the other 12.

Grouped at 69 were nine other competitors, including Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., one of the favorites; a stroke ahead of the defending champion, Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va. Snead was tied with eight others at 70 to round out the first 20 scores.

The surprise of the opening round was the collapse of the redoubtable Byron Nelson, the shot master from Toledo, Ohio. Nelson went out in 38, two over, and came back in 37 for a 75 and a fifty-second place tie with ten others.

Furgol's four-under score was compiled with six birdies on the last fourteen holes while he had gone one over on each of two of the first four holes. Nelson was three over on the first four holes and never recovered, his chief trouble being with his putter. He three putted the 415 yard par four eighth hole, missing a putt of less than two feet.

Fulton Myers Cagers To Play Bedford Here

Fulton Myers Post's basketball team will play the Bedford (Pa.) Trojans at the state armory on Monday, February 25 at 8 p. m. A skating party will be held at the armory after the game.

The local American Legion quint has won four out of six games played this season.

Jimmy McAllister Beats Dell Orto

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP)—Jimmy McAllister, Baltimore's contender for Willie Pep's featherweight crown, added another easy victory to his string of triumphs tonight when he gained a lopsided 10-round decision over Vince Dell Orto of New York.

The New Yorker was twice dropped to the canvas, once for the count of two in the fifth, the second time for no count in the seventh. Except in the first and sixth round he was in trouble most of the time.

One judge awarded the Baltimore clouter eight rounds, calling two even. The referee and the other judge gave McAllister eight, Dell Orto one, and marked one even.

Williams To Defend Title

DETROIT, Feb. 21 (AP)—Connie McCarthy, manager of N. B. A. Lightweight Champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., said today that he had accepted conditions offered him by telephone for a May 30 title defense by Williams at Los Angeles against Enrique Bolanos.

McCarthy said he had talked to Babe McCoy, matchmaker for Los Angeles' Olympic auditorium, today and "we'll go out there and fight May 30."

Oakland Humbles Rowlesburg High In Long Contest

Highlanders Subdue River Lions in Two Extra Periods, 42-39

OAKLAND, Md., Feb. 21—Oakland high school gained revenge for its worst defeat of the season here tonight but was forced to play two overtime periods to beat a scrappy Rowlesburg (W.Va.) high school quint by the score of 42 to 39.

The score was tied an even dozen times and was finally won by the Highlanders when Bobby Bosley pitched in a fielder and added a point at the foul line to break a 39-39 deadlock in the second extra session.

Rowlesburg's River Lions held the locals to a 9-9 score in the first period and trailed 21-14 at the half and 28-24 when the third quarter ended. Thompson's goal equalized the count at 38-38 as the regular game was concluded.

In the first overtime heat of three minutes Lewis, of Oakland, and Shaver, of the Lions, meshed foul shots to square the count at 39-39. It was then decided that the first team scoring two points in the second extra period would be the winner. Bosley then heaved the winning goal and also pitched in the extra point after being fouled.

The triumph was Oakland's seventh straight and squared accounts for a 68-17 setback suffered in Rowlesburg early in the season.

Referee Joe Gilmore called a total of fifty-two personal fouls—29 on Oakland and 23 on Rowlesburg. Three Highlanders, namely, Johnson, Friend and Teats, were banished on personals as was Felton, of the visiting team.

THOMAS CONQUERS DAVIS, 28-24, TO COP LEAD IN TUCKER SERIES

Winners Convert 12 of 16 Charity Tosses; 500 Witness Battle

THOMAS, W. Va., Feb. 21—Thomas high school's basketeers upset the Davis high school Wildcats in a close battle here tonight, 28 to 24, and thereby moved into first place in the race for the Tucker county scholastic championship.

The race will end in a deadlock between Thomas and Davis if the latter is able to defeat Parsons at Davis, March 1.

Here's how the championship race now stands:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Thomas	3	1	.750
Davis	2	1	.667
Parsons	0	3	.000

Atoning for a 32 to 26 setback suffered at Davis's hands earlier in the season, Coach Emil Suder's warriors tonight took a 10-8 lead at the quarter, increased it to seven points at the half, 17-10, and were eight points in front when the third quarter ended, 23-15. Davis closed with a rush, outpointing the home team in the final period, nine to five, but was unable to overcome the locals.

A capacity crowd of approximately 500 persons witnessed the battle between the Tucker county rivals.

Frank Sedmock, Thomas forward, was the chief point getter with 13 tallies on four fielders and four free throws.

Outscored from the field, nine goals to eight, Thomas sewed up the game by sinking 12 of 16 free throws while Davis missed ten of sixteen shots at the charity stripe.

Referee Quattro called eleven personal fouls on Thomas and twelve personals and one technical on Davis.

Heltzel, Davis forward, left the game on five personal fouls in the third quarter. The lineups:

BASEBALL BRIEFS

STEPHENS LEAVES CAMP

ANAHEIM, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP)—Shortstop Vernon Stephens, the St. Louis Browns' principal holdout, visited La Palma field prior to today's workout, took his shoes and glove and left the park presumably for his home at Long Beach without seeing Manager Luke Sewell. Stephens is objecting to a $2,000 conditional bonus clause in his contract.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—With Shortstop Marty Marion still a holdout, Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals will prep 23-year-old Al (Red) Schoendienst for that position. He said he expected Schoendienst to join the squad today or tomorrow.

BUCS ARRIVE AT CAMP

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers, catchers and returned servicemen arrived at the Buc's prewar training camp here from El Centro, Calif., today, and will be joined tomorrow by the remainder of the squad from Pittsburgh.

Manager Frankie Frisch said he would divide the combined squad of more than seventy players—largest in club history—into two sections, with group "A" to work out in the mornings and group "B" in the afternoon.

OLMO MAY CHANGE MIND

SANFORD, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Although reports from San Juan, P.R., indicate definitely that Luis Olmo, Dodger outfielder, has signed a long-term contract to play in the Mexican league which is not in organized baseball, Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn club, today expressed hope that the Puerto Rican will reconsider and rejoin the Dodgers.

"He may change his mind," said Rickey. "I do not consider contract negotiations between Olmo and the Dodgers closed."

It was announced that Pitchers Clyde King, Art Herring and Alfred Falzone had returned signed contracts bringing to twenty-five the number of contented Brooklyn players.

BERRES, MAGLIE REPORT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Catcher Ray Berres and Pitcher Sal Maglie reported to the New York Giants today after a plane trip from Havana where they had been playing winter baseball.

At about the time of their arrival, Manager Mel Ott received word that Catcher Ernie Lombardi, en route to the camp from his Oakland, Calif., home, was stranded in Chicago, the limit of his train reservation.

Old Liners Will Return To Track Competition

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—The University of Maryland will return to intercollegiate track competion Saturday for the first time since 1943 with seven Terp thinclads competing in the University of North Carolina's annual indoor games at Chapel Hill.

Two of seven trackmen, Ed Mathews and Tom Devlin, are returning servicemen who will compete in the 440-yard dash. Another ex-soldier, Jim Kurz, who played fullback in freshman football in 1942, will represent the Terps in the shotput event.

The mile relay team will include Mathews, Devlin, Dick Price and Jack Smit.

AAU Sanction Is Received for AAA Bouts at SS. Peter-Paul Gym

The South Atlantic Association of the Amateur Athletic Union yesterday issued a sanction for the Allegany Athletic Association, Robert E. Shrout, Jr., to hold its fourth amateur boxing show of the year in SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, Monday, March 11.

Harry G. Stark, registration officer of the South Atlantic Association, announced that the show had been approved after an application had been filed with the local AAU boxing commissioner by the matchmaker.

The AAU also advised Joseph Kelly, of the Maryland State Athletic Commission, that the date for the show here had been given an OK by the South Atlantic Association.

The AAA held its three previous shows in SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium on December 10-11, January 7 and January 28. The association has registered approximately forty local amateur boxers with the AAU.

Matchmaker Shrout is planning to present a program of eight or more bouts.

Concordian Is Made Even-Money Favorite

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The "rheumatic" Concordian, winner of the $25,000 McLennan handicap by five lengths last Saturday, has been established an even-money favorite for the $50,000 added Widener on March 2 at Hialeah in the first release of odds for the mile and a quarter test.

Concordian's winning streak at Hialeah was extended to four with the McLennan. He takes off seven pounds for the Widener, going in at 109. He will have a 19-pound pull in the weights over his chief rival, Calumet Farm's Armed.

Calumet's entry of Armed and Pot O'Luck are quoted at 2 to 1.

Change Schedule

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 21—Davis high school today announced several changes in its basketball schedule.

Tygarts Valley high will play here February 23, Davis will go to Kingwood, W. Va., February 26, and a game between Rowlesburg and Davis here March 2 is pending.

Professional Ring Show Is Planned Here March 18

Ricker Seeks Approval of Date; Adragnas Are Sought for Top Spots on Program

Arrangements are being made to hold the first professional boxing show in Cumberland since 1941 at the state armory on Monday, March 18, Promoter "Vic" Ricker announced last night.

Ricker stated that the date has been approved by the local armory board and added that he sent a letter yesterday to Joseph Kelly, secretary, for approval of the date by the Maryland State Athletic Commission, Baltimore.

The local promoter had figured on an earlier date for his show but the high purses demanded by out-of-town boxers prompted him to set the date back several weeks until he could make the right connections.

Ricker's last pro show here was five years ago. Frankie Wills, of Washington, D. C., and Cleo McNeal, Akron Negro, were the main go performers.

"Vic" stated that he is hopeful of landing the Adragna brothers—Sammy, the welterweight, and Mimi, the featherweight—for the two top spots on the card. He is angling for several good Baltimore scrappers to pit against the Pittsburgh boys, who have been consistent winners in Smoky City shows. Mimi Adragna won the national amateur flyweight title in 1939 and then joined the pro ranks to become one of the best featherweights in the game.

A card of five bouts is planned for the local show, topped off by a ten-round feature. An eight rounder, one six and two fours would round out the program, Ricker said.

LaSalle Will Visit Johnstown, March 2

LaSalle high school will play Johnstown Catholic high school in the Pennsylvania city on Saturday, March 2, instead of Thursday, February 28, as originally scheduled, Brother Gregory, director of athletics, announced yesterday.

The Johnstown team will play LaSalle in the first game of the series here on Sunday at 3 p. m.

Brother Gregory said LaSalle will play Altoona Catholic there Saturday, February 23. The Pennsylvanians will close LaSalle's home season here Sunday, March 10.

The left-handed forward got 12 field goals, most of them on long shots, and four free throws.

Sentinels Face Blue and White At Campobello

Campers Are Favorites; Piedmont Is Host to LaSalle

Sharpshooters of Allegany and Fort Hill will celebrate Washington's birthday when they meet at Campobello tonight in the most important game of the W.M.I. League and city championship series.

And here's what Allegany will be shooting for when it trots out on the court:

The W.M.I. League championship, which the Campers have bagged fourteen times in the last twenty-five years' competition.

The city championship for the 1945-46 season. Coach Bowers's team has won two straight in this triangular series, defeating LaSalle, 37-28 and Fort Hill, 35-20, and can clinch the honors if victorious tonight. Allegany's final city game is with LaSalle at Campobllo, March 1.

Extension of its current winning streak to eleven games.

And last, but not least, the thirtieth consecutive W.M.I. League victory since last defeated in the county circuit in 1943 by Fort Hill.

Games Has "If" Angles

If Fort Hill's hot and cold team spills the Campers tonight it means that the league race would end in a deadlock provided Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's boys hurdle the Barton Braves in the league finale at Barton next Wednesday night. A tie would then necessitate a playoff game to determine the league championship.

Then there's another angle. If the Sentinels emerge the victors tonight it would send them to the fore in the city championship race and the outcome then would hinge on the result of the LaSalle-AHS game one week from tonight. LaSalle, winner of the city title for the past four seasons, has already been eliminated from this year's race with three straight defeats on its record. It is possible for the city race to end in a deadlock also—if the Sentinels top AHS tonight and the Campers subdue LaSalle in their series finale.

A.H.S. Is Favorite

All the pre-game dope points to an Allegany victory.

W.M.I. LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Allegany	9	0	1.000
Fort Hill	7	1	.875

CITY SERIES

	W.	L.	Pct.
Allegany	2	0	1.000
Fort Hill	2	1	.667
LaSalle	0	3	.000

Tonight's game, scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, will mark the forty-second meeting of Penn-Fort Hill and Allegany in basketball. In the forty-one contests played since 1927, AHS has won thirty and the Sentinels eleven.

Clifton Van Roby and "Eck" Miers will do the officiating.

LaSalle Visits Piedmont

LaSalle's return game at Piedmont high school also holds the interest of district basketball fans tonight.

The Explorers took the opener here by the score of 33 to 19 and are expecting a much closer contest in the West Virginia town.

Other WMI League games pit Barton against Beall in Frostburg and Central against Bruce in Westernport.

Other games on tap include:
Fort Ashby at Romney (PVC)
Petersburg at Wardensville (PVC)
Mathias at Capon Bridge (PVC)
Thomas at Moorefield
Bayard at Elk Garden

Goggin Sets Pace In Florida Golf

By CHICK HOSCH

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Willie Goggin, 40-year-old pro from White Plains, N. Y., fired a six-under-par 66 today to take a two-stroke lead in the initial round of the $7,500 Pensacola open golf tournament.

Ed Furgol of Detroit was second with a 68.

Goggin toured the first nine with a two-under 34 and the back nine with a 32. He had birdies on six holes of the sprawling 6,100-yard country club course, and par on the other 12.

Grouped at 69 were nine other competitors, including Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., one of the favorites; a stroke ahead of the defending champion, Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va. Snead was tied with eight others at 70 to round out the first 20 scores.

The surprise of the opening round was the collapse of the redoubtable Byron Nelson, the shot master from Toledo, Ohio. Nelson went out in 38, two over, and came back in 37 for a 75 and a fifty-second place tie with ten others.

Furgol's four-under score was compiled with six birdies on the last fourteen holes while he had gone one over on each of two of the first four holes. Nelson was three over on the first four holes and never recovered, his chief trouble being with his putter. He three putted the 415 yard par four eighth hole, missing a putt of less than two feet.

Fulton Myers Cagers To Play Bedford Here

Fulton Myers Post's basketball team will play the Bedford (Pa.) Trojans at the state armory on Monday, February 25 at 8 p. m. A skating party will be held at the armory after the game.

The local American Legion quint has won four out of six games played this season.

Jimmy McAllister Beats Dell Orto

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP)—Jimmy McAllister, Baltimore's contender for Willie Pep's featherweight crown, added another easy victory to his string of triumphs tonight when he gained a lopsided 10-round decision over Vince Dell Orto of New York.

The New Yorker was twice dropped to the canvas, once for the count of two in the fifth, the second time for no count in the seventh. Except in the first and sixth round he was in trouble most of the time.

One judge awarded the Baltimore clouter eight rounds, calling two even. The referee and the other judge gave McAllister eight, Dell Orto one, and marked one even.

Williams To Defend Title

DETROIT, Feb. 21 (AP)—Connie McCarthy, manager of N. B. A. Lightweight Champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., said today that he had accepted conditions offered him by telephone for a May 30 title defense by Williams at Los Angeles against Enrique Bolanos.

McCarthy said he had talked to Babe McCoy, matchmaker for Los Angeles' Olympic auditorium, today and "we'll go out there and fight May 30."

Oakland Humbles Rowlesburg High In Long Contest

Highlanders Subdue River Lions in Two Extra Periods, 42-39

OAKLAND, Md., Feb. 21—Oakland high school gained revenge for its worst defeat of the season here tonight but was forced to play two overtime periods to beat a scrappy Rowlesburg (W.Va.) high school quint by the score of 42 to 39.

The score was tied an even dozen times and was finally won by the Highlanders when Bobby Bosley pitched in a fielder and added a point at the foul line to break a 39-39 deadlock in the second extra session.

Rowlesburg's River Lions held the locals to a 9-9 score in the first period and trailed 21-14 at the half and 28-24 when the third quarter ended. Thompson's goal equalized the count at 38-38 as the regular game was concluded.

In the first overtime heat of three minutes Lewis, of Oakland, and Shaver, of the Lions, meshed foul shots to square the count at 39-39. It was then decided that the first team scoring two points in the second extra period would be the winner. Bosley then heaved the winning goal and also pitched in the extra point after being fouled.

The triumph was Oakland's seventh straight and squared accounts for a 68-17 setback suffered in Rowlesburg early in the season.

Referee Joe Gilmore called a total of fifty-two personal fouls—29 on Oakland and 23 on Rowlesburg. Three Highlanders, namely, Johnson, Friend and Teats, were banished on personals as was Felton, of the visiting team.

STEPHENS LEAVES CAMP

ANAHEIM, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP)—Shortstop Vernon Stephens, the St. Louis Browns' principal holdout, visited La Palma field prior to today's workout, took his shoes and glove and left the park presumably for his home at Long Beach without seeing Manager Luke Sewell. Stephens is objecting to a $2,000 conditional bonus clause in his contract.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—With Shortstop Marty Marion still a holdout, Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals will prep 23-year-old Al (Red) Schoendienst for that position. He said he expected Schoendienst to join the squad today or tomorrow.

BUCS ARRIVE AT CAMP

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers, catchers and returned servicemen arrived at the Buc's prewar training camp here from El Centro, Calif., today, and will be joined tomorrow by the remainder of the squad from Pittsburgh.

Manager Frankie Frisch said he would divide the combined squad of more than seventy players—largest in club history—into two sections, with group "A" to work out in the mornings and group "B" in the afternoon.

OLMO MAY CHANGE MIND

SANFORD, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Although reports from San Juan, P.R., indicate definitely that Luis Olmo, Dodger outfielder, has signed a long-term contract to play in the Mexican league which is not in organized baseball, Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn club, today expressed hope that the Puerto Rican will reconsider and rejoin the Dodgers.

"He may change his mind," said Rickey. "I do not consider contract negotiations between Olmo and the Dodgers closed."

It was announced that Pitchers Clyde King, Art Herring and Alfred Falzone had returned signed contracts bringing to twenty-five the number of contented Brooklyn players.

BERRES, MAGLIE REPORT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Catcher Ray Berres and Pitcher Sal Maglie reported to the New York Giants today after a plane trip from Havana where they had been playing winter baseball.

At about the time of their arrival, Manager Mel Ott received word that Catcher Ernie Lombardi, en route to the camp from his Oakland, Calif., home, was stranded in Chicago, the limit of his train reservation.

Old Liners Will Return To Track Competition

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—The University of Maryland will return to intercollegiate track competion Saturday for the first time since 1943 with seven Terp thinclads competing in the University of North Carolina's annual indoor games at Chapel Hill.

Two of seven trackmen, Ed Mathews and Tom Devlin, are returning servicemen who will compete in the 440-yard dash. Another ex-soldier, Jim Kurz, who played fullback in freshman football in 1942, will represent the Terps in the shotput event.

The mile relay team will include Mathews, Devlin, Dick Price and Jack Smit.

AAU Sanction Is Received for AAA Bouts at SS. Peter-Paul Gym

The South Atlantic Association of the Amateur Athletic Union yesterday issued a sanction for the Allegany Athletic Association, Robert E. Shrout, Jr., to hold its fourth amateur boxing show of the year in SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, Monday, March 11.

Harry G. Stark, registration officer of the South Atlantic Association, announced that the show had been approved after an application had been filed with the local AAU boxing commissioner by the matchmaker.

The AAU also advised Joseph Kelly, of the Maryland State Athletic Commission, that the date for the show here had been given an OK by the South Atlantic Association.

The AAA held its three previous shows in SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium on December 10-11, January 7 and January 28. The association has registered approximately forty local amateur boxers with the AAU.

Matchmaker Shrout is planning to present a program of eight or more bouts.

Concordian Is Made Even-Money Favorite

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The "rheumatic" Concordian, winner of the $25,000 McLennan handicap by five lengths last Saturday, has been established an even-money favorite for the $50,000 added Widener on March 2 at Hialeah in the first release of odds for the mile and a quarter test.

Concordian's winning streak at Hialeah was extended to four with the McLennan. He takes off seven pounds for the Widener, going in at 109. He will have a 19-pound pull in the weights over his chief rival, Calumet Farm's Armed.

Calumet's entry of Armed and Pot O'Luck are quoted at 2 to 1.

Change Schedule

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 21 — Davis high school today announced several changes in its basketball schedule.

Tygarts Valley high will play here February 23. Davis will go to Kingwood, W. Va., February 26, and a game between Rowlesburg and Davis here March 2 is pending.

Professional Ring Show Is Planned Here March 18

Ricker Seeks Approval of Date; Adragnas Are Sought for Top Spots on Program

Arrangements are being made to hold the first professional boxing show in Cumberland since 1941 at the state armory on Monday, March 18, Promoter "Vic" Ricker announced last night.

Ricker stated that the date has been approved by the local armory board and added that he sent a letter yesterday to Joseph Kelly, secretary, for approval of the date by the Maryland State Athletic Commission, Baltimore.

The local promoter had figured on an earlier date for his show but the high purses demanded by out-of-town boxers prompted him to set the date back several weeks until he could make the right connections.

Ricker's last pro show here was five years ago. Frankie Wills, of Washington, D. C., and Cleo McNeal, Akron Negro, were the main go performers.

"Vic" stated that he is hopeful of landing the Adragna brothers—Sammy, the welterweight, and Mimi, the featherweight—for the two top spots on the card. He is angling for several good Baltimore scrappers to pit against the Pittsburgh boys, who have been consistent winners in Smoky City shows. Mimi Adragna won the national amateur flyweight title in 1939 and then joined the pro ranks to become one of the best featherweights in the game.

A card of five bouts is planned for the local show, topped off by a ten-round feature. An eight rounder, one six and two fours would round out the program, Ricker said.

LaSalle Will Visit Johnstown, March 2

LaSalle high school will play Johnstown Catholic high school in the Pennsylvania city on Saturday, March 2, instead of Thursday, February 28, as originally scheduled, Brother Gregory, director of athletics, announced yesterday.

The Johnstown team will play LaSalle in the first game of the series here on Sunday at 3 p. m.

Brother Gregory said LaSalle will play Altoona Catholic there Saturday, February 23. The Pennsylvanians will close LaSalle's home season here Sunday, March 10.

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—Randy Clark, captain of the Bainbridge Naval Training Center basketball team, set a new 1946 individual scoring record for the Commodores tonight when he scored twenty-eight points as Bainbridge defeated Norfolk Naval Air Station, 72-53.

The left-handed forward got 12 field goals, most of them on long shots, and four free throws.

Gardner Returns To Radio Tonight After Operation

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Ed (Archie) Gardner will be back in the Tavern Friday night after a siege in the hospital for a tonsilectomy. Reginald Gardiner is to be the guest star on the show at 8:30 on NBC.

Dick Powell, not George Burns and Gracie Allen as originally announced, will be Ginny Simms's guests at 7:30 on CBS.

Jack Pearl, who as the "Baron Munchausen made the question: "Vas you dere sharlie?" part of the language of the 1930's, will be Danny Kaye's guest at 10:30 on CBS. Georgia Gibbs is going on the same show.

John L. Lewis will reply to four journalists questioning on Mutual's "Meet the Press" show at 10:30.

At 10:45 on NBC, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the new veterans' administrator, will make a report on his administration thus far. The bulk of his talk will be aimed at veterans of World War II and to the men soon to be released from the armed services.

A special Washington's birthday broadcast, featuring talks by Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of the Thirty-seventh division; Robert J. Hayward, national president of the Rainbow division veterans, and Marshall Andrews, public relations officer of the Rainbow division of World War II, will be broadcast at 6:15 over NBC.

To All Dog and Cat Lovers

There is an anti-vivisection bill coming up for open hearing in Congress, on Thursday, February 28th, sponsored by Representative Lemke (N.D.), known as House Bill H. R. 491.

This is a bill aimed to abolish the unnecessary torture of dogs and cats for experimental purposes.

Will you kindly write your Congressman, Mr. Glenn Beall, and ask him to vote for this bill.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Rose C. Weise who departed this life ten years ago today, February 22, 1936.

You're not forgotten, Mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.

Sadly missed by her

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved Mother, Mrs. Laura Dawson. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
THE FAMILY.
2-21-1t-NT

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends, relatives and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father, Frank Muletz. We also wish to thank the Rev. Regis Larkin and Rev. Irenaus, those who sent floral tributes and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE
Of Valuable Vacant Lot Situated at No. 155 on the Easterly Side of North Mechanic Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage dated April 23, 1931 and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, in Liber 117, folio 648, and duly assigned to William M. Somerville for the purpose of foreclosure, default having occurred in the terms of said mortgage, the undersigned Assignee will sell at public auction alongside the Second National Bank Building at the corner of Baltimore and South Liberty Streets in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, on at Ten o'clock A. M., the following property conveyed by said mortgage and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Easterly side of North Mechanic Street in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, distant 235.35 feet measured in a Southerly direction along the Easterly side of North Mechanic Street from its intersection with the Southerly side of Market Street in said City, said point being also in line of the northerly face of the brick wall of the brick dwelling formerly owned by Nicholas Furlong and running thence with the Easterly side of said North Mechanic Street, North 42 degrees and 15 minutes West 24.5 feet to where the center of the partition wall of the double brick dwelling, at numbers 97 and 99 North Mechanic Street (now Street Nos. 155 and 155½) extended Westerly, intersects said Easterly side of said Street, thence with said line extended through the center of said partition wall and the same extended Easterly North 47 degrees 45 minutes East 144.5 feet to the center of the bed of the old Mill Race, thence down the center thereof South 42 degrees 15 minutes West 25.5 feet to a point in line of the Northerly face of the brick wall of the brick dwelling formerly owned by N. Furlong extended Easterly, thence with said extended line reversed South 48 degrees 5 minutes West 144.5 feet to the place of beginning.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash; one-third on the day of sale, and the balance upon ratification of sale and delivery of deed to the purchaser. Taxes and public charges to be adjusted to the date of sale.

WM. M. SOMERVILLE,
Assignee.

Della Blue, commonly known as Della Blue Wright, Vs. Howard B. Wright, No. 18971 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure the annulment of the marriage of the Complainant to the defendant.

The Bill states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County, and on March 28, 1945, was married to the defendant, Howard B. Wright, on a license obtained by him from the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland; that subsequent to said marriage the Complainant has learned that the defendant had previously married one Blanche I. Maleborn of Dauphin, Pennsylvania, upon a marriage license issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Washington County, Maryland, on August 21, 1941; that the defendant's first wife is still living, and that she has not been divorced from the said defendant; and that the said defendant, Howard B. Wright, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 6th. day of February, 1946, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th. day of March, 1946, giving notice to the said Howard B. Wright to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th. day of March, 1946, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

ROBERT JACKSON,
Clerk.

Della Blue, commonly known as Della Blue Wright, Vs. Howard B. Wright.
No. 18971 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure the annulment of the marriage of the Complainant to the defendant.

The Bill states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County, and on March 28, 1945, was married to the defendant, Howard B. Wright, on a license obtained by him from the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland; that subsequent to said marriage the Complainant has learned that the defendant had previously married one Blanche T. Malehorn of Dauphin, Pennsylvania, upon a marriage license issued by the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Washington County, Maryland, on August 21, 1941; that the defendant's first wife is still living, and that she has not been divorced from the said defendant; and that the said defendant, Howard B. Wright, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 6th day of February, 1946, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th. day of March, 1946, giving notice to the said Howard B. Wright to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 27th. day of March, 1946, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Accident Facts Survey Is Being Made by Students

Members of Junior Safety Council Are Studying Local Newspapers

Representatives of eleven schools in the Junior Safety Council and the Safety Legion yesterday started work on a survey of accident facts at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The researchers are exploring the Times-News files for the years 1939, 1940, 1944 and 1945 and making chronological charts of the causes of accidents to school children as they were reported in the newspapers for the four years.

The survey is being made under the direction of Miss Margaret K. Blake, Fort Hill high school teacher who is the sponsor of the Safety Legion and the director of the Junior Safety Council. The research has been made possible due to the courtesy of Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Using Large Charts

The research staff comprised of students from eleven schools appeared at the library yesterday with large accident charts which are being filled in with accident information from the Cumberland newspapers over a period of 1,460 days, or four years.

When the survey was planned by the students it was decided to select two war years and two peacetime years to determine what contrasts exist, if any.

The two war year charts are being filled out by junior high school students from Allegany and Fort Hill high schools with the high school research staff comprised of Leon Middleton, Lewis Hampton, Robert May, and Ronald Tingler, all of Fort Hill high school, and Jerry Twigg, Allegany high school.

Many Hurt in Falls

The two peacetime years of 1939 and 1940 were being researched yesterday at another and larger table well filled with representatives from nine elementary schools, all members of the Junior Safety Council which has ninety-five members.

Members of the elementary research staff included Betty Smith, West Side School, Ward Murray, Corrigansville, David Burkett, Ellerslie, Everett Wade, LaVale, Earl McKenzie, Mt. Royal, Joseph Fair and William Grabenstein, both of St. Peter and Paul's School, and Patsy Minke, West Side.

The elementary group seemed to be a bit further along with their survey than the junior high boys, possibly since they had more researchers on the job. At any event, they pointed to their chart and said that their work to date pretty definitely indicated that the largest number of boys and girls injured in accidents are in the 15-17 year old group—or "high school people" as they markedly pointed out. The next age group with a large number of accidents seemed to be the one to five year-old group. The chart seemed to indicate that there are few elementary school pupils who ever get hurt.

The chart made by the elementary pupils in the Junior Safety Council also seemed to indicate that many accidents to young people are caused by falls.

ACCIDENT FACTS SURVEY—Student members of the Junior Safety Council and the Safety Legion under the direction of Miss Margaret K. Blake yesterday started work on a survey at the Cumberland Free Public Library to determine the various causes of accidents to school pupils over a four year period, including two war years and two peacetime years. The researchers are studying 1,440 issues of the Times-News papers tracing the causes of the accidents as reported in the News columns. Shown above are the junior high school staff members of the Safety Legion at work on the war years of 1944-45. They are, (working on the chart), Robert May, and (left to right), Lewis Hampton, Leon Middleton and Ronald Tingler, all of Fort Hill high school, and Jerry Twigg, of Allegany high school.

Post and Davis Formally Enter Mayoralty Race

Present Mayor Says He Will Continue To Work for City Improvements

Mayor Thomas S. Post and Frank J. Davis yesterday filed their petitions in the office of Samuel E. Griminger, city clerk, and officially entered the mayoralty race.

Commissioner William E. McDonald filed his papers several weeks ago. Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich is the only announced candidate for mayor who has not yet field. The deadline for filing is midnight tonight.

In his statement of candidacy, Mayor Post said:

"Two years ago when I was elected mayor of Cumberland, it was my policy to be guided by what I believed to be sound principles, sincerely designed to improve our city government and the welfare of its citizens. This will be my policy again.

"When I became mayor I knew that if a majority of the city councilmen should continue to oppose me I could accomplish very little, but yet it was my hope that if my principles were sound and worthy they might receive support even by those who opposed me personally.

"Unfortunately, these hopes were not fully realized, and on a number of occasions my plans for city improvement were defeated by an unreasoning opposition by some of the councilmen.

Six Persons Are Treated in Hospitals After Accidents

C. E. Ringler, 33, 420 Lafayette avenue, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 7:30 p. m., for a sprained right ankle. The B. and O. flagman said he slipped yesterday at 9:25 a. m., as he was getting on a train.

Robert Hoopengardner, 28, 32 North Centre street, another B. and O. employe, was treated in the same hospital yesterday at 1:30 p. m., for a nose injury.

Ronald Stevens, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Bernice Stevens, Ridgeley, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday at 6:30 p. m., for a deep circular shaped laceration on the right knee. Attaches were told the lad fell while going to school.

William C. Schramm, 72, Barton, was in a "good" condition yesterday in Memorial hospital where he was admitted Wednesday for treatment of a deep cut on the left arm.

Mrs. James Hanion, 303 Paca street, suffered a right ankle injury Wednesday night in a fall, and Glenna K. Cross, 2, of 230 Beall street, cut her forehead Wednesday afternoon when she fell against a radiator at her home. Both were treated in Allegany hospital.

Five Births Are Reported Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Nasselrod, 131 Paca street, announce the birth of a son yesterday morning in Alleganey hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Clair Miller, Church street, Ellerslie, yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gentis Streets, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

Petty Officer and Mrs. Paul E. Owens, 71 South Martin lane, Norwood, Pa., former residents of this city, announce the birth of twin sons Tuesday in a Philadelphia hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Brode, 879 Patterson avenue, in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riggleman, Petersburg, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital last evening.

Dairy Workers Accept Company Wage Proposals

Increases in Pay and Vacations End Months of Negotiations

Members of Dairy Workers and Drivers Local No. 924, AFL, Wednesday night voted to accept increased wage proposals by six local dairy firms and thus end negotiations for a new contract that began the first part of November, John R. Kelley, president and business agent of the local, said yesterday.

Last Friday night Thomas O'Brien, Washington, international representative of the union, met with the union and management and helped work out a satisfactory solution to the contract. That solution, one that gives workers an increase over first proposals made by the companies, was accepted by the union Wednesday night.

Skilled inside workers receive an increase of $5.70 for a forty-eight-hour week, Kelley said, while semi-skilled inside men get a $6.50 increase for forty-eight hours, and regular inside laborers receive an eventual increase of $6.50 for forty-eight hours.

Weekly Guarantee Increased

Drivers received an increase of $10 in their minimum weekly guarantee, with the understanding that if they do not receive an increase through business by July 1, they may then start negotiations for a basic weekly wage, Kelley said.

This agreement with the drivers already has been signed and will be made a separate part of the contract, according to Kelley, who added that the general contract between the union and the company probably will be signed between now and the first of the month.

That contract also provides employes of the dairies with increased vacation benefits. In the past all employes received five days' vacation yearly plus the regular weekly day off or a total of six days. Under the new agreement, employes with less than five years of service will receive one week's vacation annually and employes with more than five years' service will get two weeks' vacation, Kelley reported.

Will Receive $40.80

Discussing the new contract in greater detail, Kelley said skilled workers were receiving $35.10 for forty-eight hours and that they

Two More Offices To Be Closed Today

Two more offices have been added to those that will be closed today in observance of Washington's birthday. The navy recruiting office in the post office building will not be open and neither will the office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, Union street.

Francis Kenney, manager of the local office of the state board, said employes of the Cumberland office will go to Hagerstown Saturday to receive instructions on handling servicemen's readjustment allowances.

Moose Purchase New Iron Lung For Community

Police, Firemen, Nurses To Be Asked To Attend Demonstration Today

A portable iron lung was purchased at an undisclosed price yesterday by Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will be presented to the community by the lodge in the near future, Frank J. Davis, governor, announced last night.

Davis said arrangements will be made to hold a demonstration of the iron lung today for state police, members of the city police and fire departments, nurses of Allegany and Memorial hospitals, and other interested persons. The place and time of the demonstration have not been set.

The demonstration will be made by F. C. Brethour, representing the W. J. Mullikin Company, Washington, D. C., which sold the iron lung to the Moose lodge. Brethour gave a demonstration of the equipment at a lodge meeting yesterday evening.

Davis said that the iron lung will be available for use free of charge to anyone in the community.

At the business session yesterday, a nominating committee for the annual election of officers, to be held the first Thursday in April, was chosen, but names of the members were withheld. The committee will meet March 7 at 7 p. m. in the local home.

A class of thirty candidates was initiated at the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Three Accidents Happen at Same Place at Same Time

One woman was injured when four automobiles and a truck piled up in accidents on slippery Route 40 at the Western Maryland overhead bridge in the Narrows about 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

State police said there were three separate accidents although they all happened at the same time at the same place.

They listed the injured woman, hurt in the last of the three accidents, as Miss Louise G. Shaffer, Frostburg. Miss Shaffer, head of the history department at State Teachers college, Frostburg, was admitted to Allegany hospital and will be X-rayed to determine the extent of injuries to her ribs and right collarbone. She also suffered brush burns and contusions. Her condition was reported to be good.

State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said two automobiles collided at the overhead bridge on Route 40 because of the icy road. He said he did not learn the names of the drivers, but added that they were stopped when the automobile operated toward Cumberland by Earl T. Charlesworth, Clairton, Pa., rounded a curve at the scene and stopped. He was unable to pass the damaged cars on the highway because of oncoming traffic, Rotruck explained.

While Charlesworth was waiting, Miss Shaffer rounded the curve, was unable to stop because of ice on the road and crashed against the rear of Charlesworth's car, the officer said. No one was injured.

Miss Shaffer and Charlesworth were standing beside the former's car discussing settlement of damages, when a Queen City Candy Company truck, operated by Lawrence J. Harrigan, 434 Chestnut street, rounded the curve, Rotruck reported.

Rotruck said he would file no charges against the drivers of any of the cars.

Pollock Says Labor Must Begin All Over Again if OPA Is Dropped

William Pollock, general TWUA-CIO secretary-treasurer, last evening, called for the continuation of the Office of Price Administration and asserted that if OPA controls are abandoned, labor will "have to start all over again."

The TWUA official, who officiated at the installation of officers of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, cited last year's wage increase at the Celanese plant and added that the union may "go back in a few weeks for another increase" but warned that unless price controls are kept such increases have no value.

Will Set Pattern

The outcome of strikes in progress now are of importance to all of us, the labor official said, since they will "set the pattern for the coming year."

The steel strike settlement, he asserted, is only a partial victory for the CIO since the government is to allow price increases of steel products. Those increases, he declared be passed on to the consumers.

Pollock flayed the press and radio which, he declared, are constantly pointing the finger of scorn at labor, and especially the CIO, for its efforts to maintain the take home pay of American workers.

Declaring industry's wartime profits enormous, the TWUA official called for "a share in industry's profits so we can have the kind of living standard we all want."

Pollock came here instead of Emil Rieve, general TWUA president who, he said, was asked to attend a conference called to attempt the settlement of a strike in a southern cotton mill.

Coleman Takes Office

Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the union's rayon division, and James A. Dundon, this city, regional TWUA director, also represented the national office at the ceremonies last evening in the Queen City hotel.

William Boyd Coleman, the new Celanese local president, in a brief address declared, "This is the happiest moment of my life" and promised "I will do the best I can to do my job in the proper fashion."

John L. Estes, chairman of the union's special activities committee, was master of ceremonies for the installation which was followed by a dance for members and their friends.

Chamber Directors Act To Help Ease Housing Shortage Indirectly

Will Ask FHA To Send Representatives Here; Paper Drive Slated

Directors of the chamber of commerce took action last night which would indirectly help to relieve the housing shortage here.

The board requested Harold W. Smith, chamber secretary to discuss with the Federal Housing Administration the possibility of having an FHA representative assigned to Cumberland at least one day weekly to handle processing of priorities for building.

Members of the board expressed the opinion that such action on the part of the FHA would help considerably in local construction because it would eliminate time lost in handling applications by mail.

If an FHA representative should be assigned to Cumberland on a basis as proposed by the chamber, he would assist local residents in filling out applications, thus assuring that they have been properly completed and eliminating another handicap involved in handling applications by mail.

Worked Satisfactorily

Such a system was requested by the chamber of the Office of Defense Transportation and the War Production Board, and for many months during the war representatives of those two federal agencies came to Cumberland weekly to assist local residents with their related problems.

The setup worked satisfactorily then and chamber directors felt last night that such a method would be of considerable help in speeding up priorities for construction work.

At the meeting, the salvage committee reported that its program of collecting wastepaper is continuing with a good volume still being picked up in daily commercial collections. The committee announced that the next city-wide collection will begin Monday, February 25, and follow the usual schedule.

A report of the agriculture committee disclosed that a scheduled series of radio programs on conservation has gotten underway, with the first one held February 17 when Smith and Robert Laramy, soil conservationists, outlined community interest between the chamber and canservation.

The second broadcast in the series is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday over station WTBO. At that time Laramy will discuss soil conservation.

Coal Exploration Continues

A report on an industrial survey being conducted here by Dr. Eugene T. Halaas, of the University of Maryland, the sponsoring organization, was submitted by the industrial committee. Dr. Halaas is in Cumberland at the present time for several days of field work in connection with the project.

The committee also reported on the exploration of coal seams in Western Maryland by the United States Bureau of Mines and said that this work is continuing. Nineteen holes already have been completed and two more are in the process of being drilled.

The membership activities committee reported that a dinner meeting is being planned for April 2 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club with Ralph Bradford, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as principal speaker.

Smith was authorized to attend the meeting of the board of managers of Southeastern institute at Jackson, Miss., on March 17 and the meeting of the Institute of Commercial Organization Secretaries at the University of North Carolina between June 23 and 29.

The publicity reported that the chamber's Blue Book for the year will be in the mail by the first of the month and said that revised statistical data for the year was placed in the mails yesterday.

Regional Meeting Planned

It was announced at the meeting that a regional meeting under the direction of the U. S. chamber will be held at Hagerstown at 6:30 p. m. March 5 and that at least ten members of the Cumberland chamber will attend. The meeting has

Actions of Mayor And Council Are Flayed by Davis

Criticizes What He Terms "Fruitless Wrangles and Petty Quarreling"

In an official statement of his candidacy for mayor, Frank J. Davis, deputy grand governor of the Legion of the Moose and governor of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, yesterday criticized the mayor and city council for their "fruitless wrangles and petty quarreling."

The statement, made after Davis filed his petition papers yesterday afternoon to become an official candidate for mayor, is as follows:

"For two years now, I have watched our city government drift round and round in aimless circles like a ship without a rudder and in this instance without a captain, a pilot or a mate. The crew has been bewildered.

"Our mayor and his councilmen have been engaged in fruitless wrangles, frequent meetings, petty quarreling, loudmouthed howling, and in between times a general baying at the moon. Functionless jobs have been created; numerous committees have been formed but few of these have been able to accomplish anything because once they were called together, regardless of how sincere or intelligent the individual members might be, they found themselves, when organized, aboard that drifting ship of which I have spoken.

"This situation had become so plain to every citizen that last August I began to think that someone surely ought to try at the next election to correct it, and if no more capable man presented himself, I would try to do so."

Davis went on to state that if elected, he will work closely with the municipal planning and zoning commission, which he commended as a group of "public-spirited citizens who lay out long range improvements to be made."

Referring to the flood protection as the foremost problem confronting the city, Davis said, "After years of research work and field engineering, the plans for this work have been completed. Needless to say, I favor the project as proposed by the army engineers, 100 per cent."

Davis concluded his statement by saying that he favors a plan for playground development and recreational facilities for young people "that will make these things actual accomplishments."

Barrelville Man Is Fatally Hurt In Mine Accident

Durbin Hockenberry, 58, Is Crushed beneath Fall of Rock

Durbin Hockenberry, 58, Barrelville coal miner, died yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock in Memorial hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a rock fall at the Melvin Reed mine in Barrelville.

The Barrelville man was admitted to the hospital at 3:45 p. m. suffering from crushing internal injuries and was unconscious and suffering from severe shock.

Melvin Reed, foreman and owner of the Parker High Grade Coal Company mine, accompanied the injured man to the hospital and told attaches the accident occurred at 2:20 p. m.

Mr. Hockenberry was a member of Barrelville Methodist church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Orpha Hockenberry, he is survived by four sons, Vernon, this city; Ernest, Bangor, Maine; and Carl and Kenneth both at home; five daughters, Miss Ruth Hockenberry, this city; Mrs. Hazel Cowgill and Mrs. Mildred Cowgill, both of Neel's Run, W. Va.; Mrs. John Clinedinst, Corriganville, and Miss Edith Hockenberry, at home; ten grandchildren; one brother, Frank Hockenberry, Carlisle, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Stitzer, Lewisburg, Pa.

The body is at the Hafer funeral home pending completion of arrangements.

Two Cumberland Banks Make Big Gains in 1945

Liberty Trust and Second National Show Increase in Deposits

Two Cumberland banks made large gains in the standing among the banks of America in 1945, according to the annual listing of America's 14,500 banks according to size of deposits as published yesterday in The American Banker, only daily banking newspaper.

The Second National Bank gained sixty-five places and the Liberty Trust Company fifty places in 1945 from the places they occupied at the end of 1944. The Liberty Trust Company, however, holds a position two places above the Second National.

According to The American Banker, the Liberty Trust Company now ranks as the one thousand, one hundred and seventy-third largest bank while the Second National ranks as the one thousand, one hundred and seventy-fifth largest in the country.

At the end of 1944, the Liberty Trust Company ranked one thousand, two hundred and twenty-third, and the Second National ranked one thousand, two hundred and fortieth.

Second National bank deposits increased $3,425,000 and Liberty Trust Company deposits increased $3,310,018 during the year.

New Water Tank To Be Erected At Queen City

B. and O. Begins Excavation for 50,000 Gallon Structure

Preliminary excavation for the construction of a 50,000 gallon water tank to be located on a lot adjacent to the corner of Park and Harrison streets at the rear of the Queen City station has been started, H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, announced last night.

Wyatt stated that construction will start within a week or ten days, provided that building materials can be secured. The work is estimated to cost approximately $5,000.

The announcement was made after E. J. Clopton, division engineer, called the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday to make inquiries regarding a building permit for construction of the tank.

Will Eliminate Danger

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards pointed out that the proposed tank will eliminate the danger that a thirty-inch trunk water main on Harrison street might burst and flood the downtown section of Cumberland.

He stated that a quick-operating valve connecting a conduit at the station with the water main caused great surges of water in the main when the valve closed quickly after locomotives were filled from the conduit.

When the tank is built, however, water will run directly from the main into the tank, where it will be stored until needed, Wyatt said. When a locomotive is filled, the water will flow by gravity to the conduit, and the quick-operating valve will not be needed.

Potential danger of surges in the Harrison street water main was emphasized in a survey completed last summer by the Pitometer Company of New York.

Test Holes Started

Following the company's report, Edwards requested railroad officials to study the problem and to correct it as soon as possible. A formal report was sent to the Baltimore general office of the railroad last fall by Howard A. Eads, an expert who was called here from Cincinnati, O., to inspect the conduit.

Wyatt stated that evacuation has been started on test holes to determine the necessary depth for the concrete foundation of the tank, which will rest on metal supports set in the concrete. The tank itself will be constructed of wood.

He explained that the tank will be filled continuously from the thirty-inch main as water is taken out to fill locomotives, stating that a float valve will open to allow water to come into the tank, and will close when the tank is full, to prevent overflow.

Telephone Federations Affected by Strike Are Represented Here

Cumberland telephone workers said last night that the Maryland Federation of Telephone Clerical Workers and the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers are represented in this city.

Those two federations are among the seventeen affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers affected in the nationwide strike set for 6 a. m. Thursday, March 7.

The federation of telephone clerical workers is made up locally of employes in the business office of the company here, while the federation of telephone workers is composed of telephone operators, one operator said last night.

Local officials of the two federations were not available for comment last night.

Union Generals Captured Here By Confederates 81 Years Ago

Pedestrians without too many pressing matters on their minds who happened to glance at the bronze plaque on the Windsor hotel yesterday probably noted that last night was the eighty-first anniversary of one of the most ably executed exploits of the Civil war or any other war for that matter.

According to the plaque on Baltimore street commemorating the event, it was on the night and early morning of February 21-22, 1865, that a small body of Confederates entered Cumberland and took two major generals from their beds while not less than 6,000 or 8,000 troops were encamped in the city.

According to the account of Will H. Lowdermilk starting on page 420 of his history of Cumberland, "this daring invasion was made by McNeill's Rangers, and was participated in by a number of Cumberlanders, who were perfectly familiar with every foot of ground about the place. One of the leading spirits of the enterprise was John B. Fay, who performed the duty of a scout. He, with C. Ritchie Hallar, a young Missourian, crossed the Potomac near Brady's Mills, and from some acquaintances obtained thorough information as to the number of troops in Cumberland, the location of the various headquarters, pickets etc.

Consultation Is Held

"With this fund of knowledge they returned and reported the facts to Lt. McNeill. Some sixty-five men, a number of them belonging to various companies of General Rosser's command, under McNeill and Fay, at once started for Cumberland. They again crossed the river near Brady's Mill, and almost within hearing of a cavalry picket.

A portion of the command went to the house of S. D. Brady, among them Lieutenant McNeill and Fay, Vandiver, Joseph Kuykendall, John Cunningham, James Daily, Charles Nicholls and Isaac Parsons, where a consultation was held. McNeill proposed to capture the picket and return, as he was afraid it was too late to do more before daylight. Fay and a majority of others opposed this, and without delay the command was ordered forward.

"When the Cavalry pickets were reached, the raiders were challenged, but by a quick dash they

Members of Junior Safety Council Are Studying Local Newspapers

Representatives of eleven schools in the Junior Safety Council and the Safety Legion yesterday started work on a survey of accident facts at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The researchers are exploring the Times-News files for the years 1939, 1940, 1944 and 1945 and making chronological charts of the causes of accidents to school children as they were reported in the newspapers for the four years.

The survey is being made under the direction of Miss Margaret K. Blake, Fort Hill high school teacher who is the sponsor of the Safety Legion and the director of the Junior Safety Council. The research has been made possible due to the courtesy of Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Using Large Charts

The research staff comprised of students from eleven schools appeared at the library yesterday with large accident charts which are being filled in with accident information from the Cumberland newspapers over a period of 1,460 days, or four years.

When the survey was planned by the students it was decided to select two war years and two peacetime years to determine what contrasts exist, if any.

The two war year charts are being filled out by junior high school students from Allegany and Fort Hill high schools with the high school research staff comprised of Leon Middleton, Lewis Hampton, Robert May, and Ronald Tingler, all of Fort Hill high school, and Jerry Twigg, Allegany high school.

Many Hurt in Falls

The two peacetime years of 1939 and 1940 were being researched yesterday at another and larger table well filled with representatives from nine elementary schools, all members of the Junior Safety Council which has ninety-five members.

Members of the elementary research staff included Betty Smith, West Side School, Ward Murray, Corrigansville, David Burkett, Ellerslie, Everett Wade, LaVale, Earl McKenzie, Mt. Royal, Joseph Fair and William Grabenstein, both of St. Peter and Paul's School, and Patsy Minke, West Side.

The elementary group seemed to be a bit further along with their survey than the junior high boys, possibly since they had more researchers on the job. At any event, they pointed to their chart and said that their work to date pretty definitely indicated that the largest number of boys and girls injured in accidents are in the 15-17 year old group—or "high school people" as they markedly pointed out. The next age group with a large number of accidents seemed to be the one to five year-old group. The chart seemed to indicate that there are few elementary school pupils who ever get hurt.

The chart made by the elementary pupils in the Junior Safety Council also seemed to indicate that many accidents to young people are caused by falls.

ACCIDENT FACTS SURVEY—Student members of the Junior Safety Council and the Safety Legion under the direction of Miss Margaret K. Blake yesterday started work on a survey at the Cumberland Free Public Library to determine the various causes of accidents to school pupils over a four year period, including two war years and two peacetime years. The researchers are studying 1,440 issues of the Times-News papers tracing the causes of the accidents as reported in the News columns. Shown above are the junior high school staff members of the Safety Legion at work on the war years of 1944-45. They are, (working on the chart), Robert May, and (left to right), Lewis Hampton, Leon Middleton and Ronald Tingler, all of Fort Hill high school, and Jerry Twigg, of Allegany high school.

Post and Davis Formally Enter Mayoralty Race

Present Mayor Says He Will Continue To Work for City Improvements

Mayor Thomas S. Post and Frank J. Davis yesterday filed their petitions in the office of Samuel E. Griminger, city clerk, and officially entered the mayoralty race.

Commissioner William E. McDonald filed his papers several weeks ago. Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich is the only announced candidate for mayor who has not yet field. The deadline for filing is midnight tonight.

In his statement of candidacy, Mayor Post said:

"Two years ago when I was elected mayor of Cumberland, it was my policy to be guided by what I believed to be sound principles, sincerely designed to improve our city government and the welfare of its citizens. This will be my policy again.

"When I became mayor I knew that if a majority of the city councilmen should continue to oppose me I could accomplish very little, but yet it was my hope that if my principles were sound and worthy they might receive support even by those who opposed me personally.

"Unfortunately, these hopes were not fully realized, and on a number of occasions my plans for city improvement were defeated by an unreasoning opposition by some of the councilmen.

Six Persons Are Treated in Hospitals After Accidents

C. E. Ringler, 33, 420 Lafayette avenue, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 7:30 p. m., for a sprained right ankle. The B. and O. flagman said he slipped yesterday at 9:25 a. m., as he was getting on a train.

Robert Hoopengardner, 28, 32 North Centre street, another B. and O. employe, was treated in the same hospital yesterday at 1:30 p. m., for a nose injury.

Ronald Stevens, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Bernice Stevens, Ridgeley, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday at 6:30 p. m., for a deep circular shaped laceration on the right knee. Attaches were told the lad fell while going to school.

William C. Schramm, 72, Barton, was in a "good" condition yesterday in Memorial hospital where he was admitted Wednesday for treatment of a deep cut on the left arm.

Mrs. James Hanion, 303 Paca street, suffered a right ankle injury Wednesday night in a fall, and Glenna K. Cross, 2, of 230 Beall street, cut her forehead Wednesday afternoon when she fell against a radiator at her home. Both were treated in Allegany hospital.

Attendants said Elmer Eshbaugh, 40, 327 North Mechanic street, a B. and O. worker, was treated yesterday for a left knee injury sustained in a fall from a freight car while at work.

Five Births Are Reported Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Nasselrod, 131 Paca street, announce the birth of a son yesterday morning in Alleganey hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Clair Miller, Church street, Ellerslie, yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gentis Streets, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Allegany hospital.

Petty Officer and Mrs. Paul E. Owens, 71 South Martin lane, Norwood, Pa., former residents of this city, announce the birth of twin sons Tuesday in a Philadelphia hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Brode, 879 Patterson avenue, in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riggleman, Petersburg, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital last evening.

Increases in Pay and Vacations End Months of Negotiations

Members of Dairy Workers and Drivers Local No. 924, AFL, Wednesday night voted to accept increased wage proposals by six local dairy firms and thus end negotiations for a new contract that began the first part of November, John R. Kelley, president and business agent of the local, said yesterday.

Last Friday night Thomas O'Brien, Washington, international representative of the union, met with the union and management and helped work out a satisfactory solution to the contract. That solution, one that gives workers an increase over first proposals made by the companies, was accepted by the union Wednesday night.

Skilled inside workers receive an increase of $5.70 for a forty-eight-hour week, Kelley said, while semi-skilled inside men get a $6.50 increase for forty-eight hours, and regular inside laborers receive an eventual increase of $6.50 for forty-eight hours.

Weekly Guarantee Increased

Drivers received an increase of $10 in their minimum weekly guarantee, with the understanding that if they do not receive an increase through business by July 1, they may then start negotiations for a basic weekly wage, Kelley said.

This agreement with the drivers already has been signed and will be made a separate part of the contract, according to Kelley, who added that the general contract between the union and the company probably will be signed between now and the first of the month.

That contract also provides employes of the dairies with increased vacation benefits. In the past all employes received five days' vacation yearly plus the regular weekly day off or a total of six days. Under the new agreement, employes with less than five years of service will receive one week's vacation annually and employes with more than five years' service will get two weeks' vacation, Kelley reported.

Will Receive $40.80

Discussing the new contract in greater detail, Kelley said skilled workers were receiving $35.10 for forty-eight hours and that they

Two More Offices To Be Closed Today

Two more offices have been added to those that will be closed today in observance of Washington's birthday. The navy recruiting office in the post office building will not be open and neither will the office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, Union street.

Francis Kenney, manager of the local office of the state board, said employes of the Cumberland office will go to Hagerstown Saturday to receive instructions on handling servicemen's readjustment allowances.

Moose Purchase New Iron Lung For Community

Police, Firemen, Nurses To Be Asked To Attend Demonstration Today

A portable iron lung was purchased at an undisclosed price yesterday by Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will be presented to the community by the lodge in the near future, Frank J. Davis, governor, announced last night.

Davis said arrangements will be made to hold a demonstration of the iron lung today for state police, members of the city police and fire departments, nurses of Allegany and Memorial hospitals, and other interested persons. The place and time of the demonstration have not been set.

The demonstration will be made by F. C. Brethour, representing the W. J. Mullikin Company, Washington, D. C., which sold the iron lung to the Moose lodge. Brethour gave a demonstration of the equipment at a lodge meeting yesterday evening.

Davis said that the iron lung will be available for use free of charge to anyone in the community.

At the business session yesterday, a nominating committee for the annual election of officers, to be held the first Thursday in April, was chosen, but names of the members were withheld. The committee will meet March 7 at 7 p. m. in the local home.

A class of thirty candidates was initiated at the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Three Accidents Happen at Same Place at Same Time

One woman was injured when four automobiles and a truck piled up in accidents on slippery Route 40 at the Western Maryland overhead bridge in the Narrows about 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

State police said there were three separate accidents although they all happened at the same time at the same place.

They listed the injured woman, hurt in the last of the three accidents, as Miss Louise G. Shaffer, Frostburg. Miss Shaffer, head of the history department at State Teachers college, Frostburg, was admitted to Allegany hospital and will be X-rayed to determine the extent of injuries to her ribs and right collarbone. She also suffered brush burns and contusions. Her condition was reported to be good.

State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said two automobiles collided at the overhead bridge on Route 40 because of the icy road. He said he did not learn the names of the drivers, but added that they were stopped when the automobile operated toward Cumberland by Earl T. Charlesworth, Clairton, Pa., rounded a curve at the scene and stopped. He was unable to pass the damaged cars on the highway because of oncoming traffic, Rotruck explained.

While Charlesworth was waiting, Miss Shaffer rounded the curve, was unable to stop because of ice on the road and crashed against the rear of Charlesworth's car, the officer said. No one was injured.

Miss Shaffer and Charlesworth were standing beside the former's car discussing settlement of damages, when a Queen City Candy Company truck, operated by Lawrence J. Harrigan, 434 Chestnut street, rounded the curve, Rotruck reported.

Ice prevented Harrigan from stopping, according to the officer, and the truck hit Miss Shaffer and her automobile.

Rotruck said he would file no charges against the drivers of any of the cars.

Chamber Directors Act To Help Ease Housing Shortage Indirectly

Will Ask FHA To Send Representatives Here; Paper Drive Slated

Directors of the chamber of commerce took action last night which would indirectly help to relieve the housing shortage here.

The board requested Harold W. Smith, chamber secretary to discuss with the Federal Housing Administration the possibility of having an FHA representative assigned to Cumberland at least one day weekly to handle processing of priorities for building.

Members of the board expressed the opinion that such action on the part of the FHA would help considerably in local construction because it would eliminate time lost in handling applications by mail.

If an FHA representative should be assigned to Cumberland on a basis as proposed by the chamber, he would assist local residents in filling out applications, thus assuring that they have been properly completed and eliminating another handicap involved in handling applications by mail.

Worked Satisfactorily

Such a system was requested by the chamber of the Office of Defense Transportation and the War Production Board, and for many months during the war representatives of those two federal agencies came to Cumberland weekly to assist local residents with their related problems.

The setup worked satisfactorily then and chamber directors felt last night that such a method would be of considerable help in speeding up priorities for construction work.

At the meeting, the salvage committee reported that its program of collecting wastepaper is continuing with a good volume still being picked up in daily commercial collections. The committee announced that the next city-wide collection will begin Monday, February 25, and follow the usual schedule.

A report of the agriculture committee disclosed that a scheduled series of radio programs on conservation has gotten underway, with the first one held February 17 when Smith and Robert Laramy, soil conservationists, outlined community interest between the chamber and canservation.

The second broadcast in the series is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday over station WTBO. At that time Laramy will discuss soil conservation.

Coal Exploration Continues

A report on an industrial survey being conducted here by Dr. Eugene T. Halaas, of the University of Maryland, the sponsoring organization, was submitted by the industrial committee. Dr. Halaas is in Cumberland at the present time for several days of field work in connection with the project.

The committee also reported on the exploration of coal seams in Western Maryland by the United States Bureau of Mines and said that this work is continuing. Nineteen holes already have been completed and two more are in the process of being drilled.

The membership activities committee reported that a dinner meeting is being planned for April 2 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club with Ralph Bradford, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as principal speaker.

Smith was authorized to attend the meeting of the board of managers of Southeastern institute at Jackson, Miss., on March 17 and the meeting of the Institute of Commercial Organization Secretaries at the University of North Carolina between June 23 and 29.

The publicity reported that the chamber's Blue Book for the year will be in the mail by the first of the month and said that revised statistical data for the year was placed in the mails yesterday.

Regional Meeting Planned

It was announced at the meeting that a regional meeting under the direction of the U. S. chamber will be held at Hagerstown at 6:30 p. m. March 5 and that at least ten members of the Cumberland chamber will attend. The meeting has

Two Cumberland Banks Make Big Gains in 1945

Liberty Trust and Second National Show Increase in Deposits

Two Cumberland banks made large gains in the standing among the banks of America in 1945, according to the annual listing of America's 14,500 banks according to size of deposits as published yesterday in The American Banker, only daily banking newspaper.

The Second National Bank gained sixty-five places and the Liberty Trust Company fifty places in 1945 from the places they occupied at the end of 1944. The Liberty Trust Company, however, holds a position two places above the Second National.

According to The American Banker, the Liberty Trust Company now ranks as the one thousand, one hundred and seventy-third largest bank while the Second National ranks as the one thousand, one hundred and seventy-fifth largest in the country.

At the end of 1944, the Liberty Trust Company ranked one thousand, two hundred and twenty-third, and the Second National ranked one thousand, two hundred and fortieth.

During 1945, deposits of the Liberty Trust Company rose from $10,648,712 at the close of 1944 to $13,958,730. Second National bank deposits rose from $10,505,000 at the end of 1944 to $13,929,000 at the end of 1945.

Second National bank deposits increased $3,425,000 and Liberty Trust Company deposits increased $3,310,018 during the year.

The ranking of banks on the basis of deposits is compiled by The American Banker once a year.

Criticizes What He Terms "Fruitless Wrangles and Petty Quarreling"

In an official statement of his candidacy for mayor, Frank J. Davis, deputy grand governor of the Legion of the Moose and governor of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, yesterday criticized the mayor and city council for their "fruitless wrangles and petty quarreling."

The statement, made after Davis filed his petition papers yesterday afternoon to become an official candidate for mayor, is as follows:

"For two years now, I have watched our city government drift round and round in aimless circles like a ship without a rudder and in this instance without a captain, a pilot or a mate. The crew has been bewildered.

"Our mayor and his councilmen have been engaged in fruitless wrangles, frequent meetings, petty quarreling, loudmouthed howling, and in between times a general baying at the moon. Functionless jobs have been created; numerous committees have been formed but few of these have been able to accomplish anything because once they were called together, regardless of how sincere or intelligent the individual members might be, they found themselves, when organized, aboard that drifting ship of which I have spoken.

"This situation had become so plain to every citizen that last August I began to think that someone surely ought to try at the next election to correct it, and if no more capable man presented himself, I would try to do so."

Davis went on to state that if elected, he will work closely with the municipal planning and zoning commission, which he commended as a group of "public-spirited citizens who lay out long range improvements to be made."

Referring to the flood protection as the foremost problem confronting the city, Davis said, "After years of research work and field engineering, the plans for this work have been completed. Needless to say, I favor the project as proposed by the army engineers 100 per cent."

Davis concluded his statement by saying that he favors a plan for playground development and recreational facilities for young people "that will make these things actual accomplishments."

Barrelville Man Is Fatally Hurt In Mine Accident

Durbin Hockenberry, 58, Is Crushed beneath Fall of Rock

Durbin Hockenberry, 58, Barrelville coal miner, died yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock in Memorial hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a rock fall at the Melvin Reed mine in Barrelville.

The Barrelville man was admitted to the hospital at 3:45 p. m. suffering from crushing internal injuries and was unconscious and suffering from severe shock.

Melvin Reed, foreman and owner of the Parker High Grade Coal Company mine, accompanied the injured man to the hospital and told attaches the accident occurred at 2:20 p. m.

Mr. Hockenberry was a member of Barrelville Methodist church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Orpha Hockenberry, he is survived by four sons, Vernon, this city; Ernest, Bangor, Maine; and Carl and Kenneth both at home; five daughters, Miss Ruth Hockenberry, this city; Mrs. Hazel Cowgill and Mrs. Mildred Cowgill, both of Neel's Run, W. Va.; Mrs. John Clinedinst, Corriganville, and Miss Edith Hockenberry, at home; ten grandchildren; one brother, Frank Hockenberry, Carlisle, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Stitzer, Lewisburg, Pa.

The body is at the Hafer funeral home pending completion of arrangements.

B. and O. Begins Excavation for 50,000 Gallon Structure

Preliminary excavation for the construction of a 50,000 gallon water tank to be located on a lot adjacent to the corner of Park and Harrison streets at the rear of the Queen City station has been started, H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, announced last night.

Wyatt stated that construction will start within a week or ten days, provided that building materials can be secured. The work is estimated to cost approximately $5,000.

The announcement was made after E. J. Clopton, division engineer, called the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday to make inquiries regarding a building permit for construction of the tank.

Will Eliminate Danger

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards pointed out that the proposed tank will eliminate the danger that a thirty-inch trunk water main on Harrison street might burst and flood the downtown section of Cumberland.

He stated that a quick-operating valve connecting a conduit at the station with the water main caused great surges of water in the main when the valve closed quickly after locomotives were filled from the conduit.

When the tank is built, however, water will run directly from the main into the tank, where it will be stored until needed, Wyatt said. When a locomotive is filled, the water will flow by gravity to the conduit, and the quick-operating valve will not be needed.

Potential danger of surges in the Harrison street water main was emphasized in a survey completed last summer by the Pitometer Company of New York.

Test Holes Started

Following the company's report, Edwards requested railroad officials to study the problem and to correct it as soon as possible. A formal report was sent to the Baltimore general office of the railroad last fall by Howard A. Eads, an expert who was called here from Cincinnati, O., to inspect the conduit.

Wyatt stated that evacuation has been started on test holes to determine the necessary depth for the concrete foundation of the tank, which will rest on metal supports set in the concrete. The tank itself will be constructed of wood.

He explained that the tank will be filled continuously from the thirty-inch main as water is taken out to fill locomotives, stating that a float valve will open to allow water to come into the tank, and will close when the tank is full, to prevent overflow.

Telephone Federations Affected by Strike Are Represented Here

Cumberland telephone workers said last night that the Maryland Federation of Telephone Clerical Workers and the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers are represented in this city.

Those two federations are among the seventeen affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers affected in the nationwide strike set for 6 a. m. Thursday, March 7.

The federation of telephone clerical workers is made up locally of employes in the business office of the company here, while the federation of telephone workers is composed of telephone operators, one operator said last night.

Local officials of the two federations were not available for comment last night.

Union Generals Captured Here By Confederates 81 Years Ago

Pedestrians without too many pressing matters on their minds who happened to glance at the bronze plaque on the Windsor hotel yesterday probably noted that last night was the eighty-first anniversary of one of the most ably executed exploits of the Civil war or any other war for that matter.

According to the plaque on Baltimore street commemorating the event, it was on the night and early morning of February 21-22, 1865, that a small body of Confederates entered Cumberland and took two major generals from their beds while not less than 6,000 or 8,000 troops were encamped in the city.

According to the account of Will H. Lowdermilk starting on page 420 of his history of Cumberland, "this daring invasion was made by McNeill's Rangers, and was participated in by a number of Cumberlanders, who were perfectly familiar with every foot of ground about the place. One of the leading spirits of the enterprise was John B. Fay, who performed the duty of a scout. He, with C. Ritchie Hallar, a young Missourian, crossed the Potomac near Brady's Mills, and from some acquaintances obtained thorough information as to the number of troops in Cumberland, the location of the various headquarters, pickets etc.

Consultation Is Held

"With this fund of knowledge they returned and reported the facts to Lt. McNeill. Some sixty-five men, a number of them belonging to various companies of General Rosser's command, under McNeill and Fay, at once started for Cumberland. They again crossed the river near Brady's Mill, and almost within hearing of a cavalry picket.

A portion of the command went to the house of S. D. Brady, among them Lieutenant McNeill and Fay, Vandiver, Joseph Kuykendall, John Cunningham, James Daily, Charles Nicholls and Isaac Parsons, where a consultation was held. McNeill proposed to capture the picket and return, as he was afraid it was too late to do more before daylight. Fay and a majority of others opposed this, and without delay the command was ordered forward.

"When the Cavalry pickets were reached, the raiders were challenged, but by a quick dash they
